Where We Store Products in Chicago

By LENDOL D. SNOW, Traffic Manager

PERHAPS some of us think we keep on hand at our Cambridge factory all the necessary surplus soap for customers' needs. This we might say is hardly possible, for if all customers' orders were shipped individually from the factory a building 100 feet by 100 feet at least and six or more stories high would be necessary to hold the stock and to take care of the shipping.

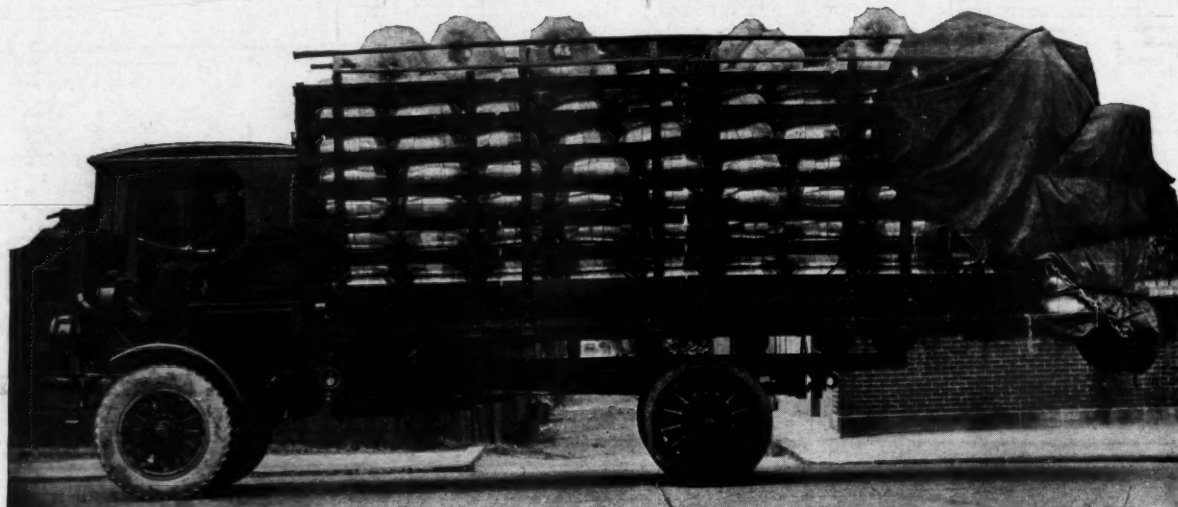

Therefore all this stock is not kept at the factory but is placed under our direction in the hands of public warehouses, located at strategic points throughout the United States, and customers' orders from the particular territories served by the warehouses are shipped or delivered by the warehouse men acting under our orders.

At first thought it might seem that the maintenance of such large warehouse stocks would be very expensive, but on the whole it is a decided economy; first on saving in freight by car-load shipments to the warehouses, and second in the immense advantage of making prompt deliveries to our customers.

For the first of this series we show our Chicago warehouse, operated by Griswold & Walker, Inc. Chicago is the greatest distributing point in this country and there we keep large stocks of our products ready for sale not only to Chicago customers but others located at various points throughout our entire Chicago division, extending far enough West to include the State of Iowa, and the best part of North and South Dakota.

To know the men of Griswold & Walker, Inc., is to realize that although not exclusively employed by us, they are, nevertheless, enthusiastic members of the great fraternity of Lever workers.

THE BIG SAVING TO MANUFACTURERS OF Merchandise Distribution Service in New York City

TODAY, when business conditions have focused the attention of manufacturers upon the importance of securing all possible economy in forwarding their products, their thoughts naturally turn to carload shipments, and some method by which, even when forwarding goods to numerous concerns, they can secure the economy of carload rates.

Right there is a live problem confronting manufacturers today, and one which many progressive concerns, among others those listed to the right, have had solved for them by

TRANS-CONTINENTAL FREIGHT COMPANY

Merchandise Distribution Service

To be specific—the Chicago manufacturer whose first class L. C. L. rate to New York is $1.57½, by means of our service avails himself of the fifth class C. L. rate of 62½ cents, while the Chicago manufacturer of Kitchen Cabinets with a L. C. L. rate of $2.15 secures the C. L. rate of $1.05 for his products by the same means. A saving of 95 cents per cwt. for the former and $1.10 for the latter, less our slight service charge—a charge which is insignificant as compared to the saving secured.

Think of such saving on your freight bills and put your New York distribution problem up to us; we will demonstrate how the cost of our service will measure down to a figure that will surprise you, while our service itself measures up to the highest standards essential to satisfactory merchandise distribution—adequate warehouse facilities, and an organization at all times equipped to handle goods promptly.

Kinnear Doors Really Give Service!

NO matter where you install a Kinnear Door you are sure of satisfactory service. Read this letter:

"Eighteen years ago I bought a door from you for my garage, the first garage that was built in this city. I have used this door ever since and at different times have backed the car into it coming out and the door is bent up considerably. But still the working of the door has been in first class condition. Last week we finished a warehouse for a large furniture concern here and when it was completed they decided they wanted a rolling door on the outside in the rear of the building, and they wanted it quick. I told them that I had a door which was bent up somewhat, but it was in splendid condition. We took this door off the garage and they paid me more for it than I paid eighteen years ago. Of course, the price was much lower at that time. They are much pleased with the door and it is working first class."

THE 1922 WAREHOUSE DIRECTORY

THIS issue of Distribution & Warehousing is the annual Warehouse Directory Number.

It contains the fifth edition of the Warehouse Directory in its revised, extended and improved form. In all its aspects and characteristics, this issue stands as a symbol of the growth and development of the industry which Distribution & Warehousing serves. It reflects the progressiveness of the men who are making the warehouse industry one of the country's greatest, measured in importance to the nation's industry and commerce.

The compilation of the material for this issue has entailed laborious and careful effort extending over several months. It has required the helpful co-operation of those in the industry who must be depended upon in such work for furnishing data regarding themselves, their facilities and their activities.

The response to our requests for this information, which were made in the form of printed questionnaires sent out to the industry, was most gratifying. It apparently is generally recognized among the leaders of the industry that the making of this Directory Number is important to all those connected with the business of warehousing. The publishers believe that all persons who will make use of this Directory during the coming year will agree that the effort has been worth while.

THE 1922 Directory surpasses in volume any previous edition. Its physical appearance has been improved and the editorial staff has reason to feel certain that its pages are virtually free from errors. If a few mistakes have crept in, indulgence is begged. Everything humanly possible has been done to avoid them.

Shippers and warehousemen familiar with previous editions will recognize that the starring of names of the majority of the storage companies listed is a feature new to the 1922 Warehouse Directory. A bold face star means that the company returned to Distribution & Warehousing the information sheet sent to it in advance asking for revised information regarding names of officers, amounts of investment, areas of storage space, distribution facilities, etc. Where the name of a company appears without the identifying star, the reader will know that the information given is based on the best available data, not directly confirmed, in the hands of the publishers at time of going to press. Every effort was made to have all companies return questionnaires. A second information sheet went forward when the first was not sent back within a reasonable time, and companies which did not reply either to the first or the second were given a third opportunity to have their revised and correct listings appear in the 1922 edition.

A GREAT deal has been said in recent months about the value, to shipper and warehouseman, of this annual Warehouse Directory. The traffic manager keeps it at hand the year round and consults listings and advertising when he would buy warehouse space and service in cities through which he distributes or desires to distribute. The warehouseman keeps it at hand the year round for reference when he would send shipments forward to fellow storage executives. As a medium for readily obtaining names and addresses and other information, it is invaluable in the writing of correspondence.

Moreover, every industry which is making progress knows that a Directory of and for itself is essential to the speeding up of that progress. Distribution & Warehousing herewith offers to the warehouse industry its Directory for 1922.

Mr. Traffic Manager:

WHY THAT ARTICLE

Was Prepared Is Explained on This Page. Read First the Text Below—
It Will Give You an Understanding of Why the Public Storage Industry Is Interested in the Freight Rates on Your Commodity. . . . Have You Any Suggestion to Make as to What Commodity Should Be Analyzed
Next in Relation to C. L. and L. C. L. Tariffs?

WHEN freight is moved by rail the shipper pays the bill, and the carrier reaps the profit—if any, in these days of transportation perplexity.

To shipper and carrier both, the warehouse industry offers a thought in the article by William J. Buchanan which begins on the opposite page. The thought is this—to quote directly from what Mr. Buchanan says:

"The best interests of the carriers, as well as the shippers, can be served by establishing carload rates that will encourage carload movement and enable distributors to restrict l. c. l. movement to distributive territory."

Mr. Buchanan has endeavored to support that thought by means of tariff figures and comparison on candy, a commodity which is warehoused in large volume. He has sought to show that the carriers' net revenue will be increased, and also that distribution economy will be effected for the shipper, if the railroads will reduce the carload rate on candy.

Mr. Buchanan is not speaking for Mr. Buchanan. He is not speaking for the Minneapolis Terminal Warehouse Co., of which he is manager. He is speaking for the country's public merchandise storage industry as a member of the rate committee of the American Warehousemen's Association. Members of that industry, and traffic managers, too, will be interested to know that this analysis of candy rates was turned over by Mr. Buchanan to the chairman of his committee, Roy C. Griswold, president of Griswold & Walker, Inc., Chicago warehousemen. Mr. Griswold sent the analysis forward to the A. W. A.'s public relations committee, of which the chairman is L. T. Crutcher, president of the L. T. Crutcher Warehouse Co., Kansas City. Mr. Crutcher in turn has filed the analysis with the Department of Domestic Distribution of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, Mr. Crutcher being warehousing's representative in the Domestic Distribution Group.

This analysis on candy rates is the second of a series being prepared, dealing with various commodities, by Mr. Buchanan for use by the national Chamber of Commerce. The first analysis, relating to soap, was published in the June issue of Distribution & Warehousing, and is on file with the national Chamber.

In contrast with the protests which were voiced by some of the soap manufacturers, who contended that it was not the warehouse industry's prerogative to project discussion of freight rates, it may be stated that this second analysis deals with candy at the direct request of a shipper of that commodity. The traffic manager of a leading candy manufacturing company in the East suggested to Distribution & Warehousing, after he had read the article on soap rates, that the candy makers of the country would be interested in having similar statements prepared regarding their commodity in its relation to carload and less than carload movement. The A. W. A.'s rate committee welcomed the suggestion and the article on the following three pages is the outcome.

An interesting comment regarding the warehouse industry's conviction that it is privileged to arouse discussion of freight rates along lines of development which would promote the interests of warehousing—that is, movement of freight by carload in larger volume—is contained in the following statement on behalf of the A. W. A.'s public relations committee:

"Although the lack of balance between carload and less than carload rates on the same commodity is pronounced; although every effort should be made to correct the inconsistencies wherever they are discovered, and it can be accomplished, it is doubtful whether any great improvement will be effected until demand arises from a better knowledge of the facts by those who are most interested—the shippers themselves.

"We hear, usually, the cry for lower rates with little more understanding of the real trouble than a baby displays when a hidden pin pricks it. Until railway charges are based upon a close approximation to the cost of transportation, we shall remain in the state of confusion which always has befogged the question of rate-making. Some sense could be attached to the ancient expression 'all the traffic will bear,' but our present practice is to the ideal as a wheelbarrow is to an airplane.

"When traffic managers take the stand that rate-making belongs to them, if this were not rather amusing it would be tragic. The warehouse is as much the servant of the manufacturer as it is of the distributor and the consumer. Fortunately in this country each of us may have 'our day in court.'

"From the way the Interstate Commerce Commission is handling this reduction in rates one gets the impression that the Commission is jumping from one stepping stone to another instead of building a permanent structure upon a safe and sure foundation. Until this is done very little of real permanent value can be accomplished, because whatever we do must be of a national character and for all distributors, exactly as the public warehouses are prepared to receive all classes of commodities. The rates have a national and universal application."

Warehousing Contends that CARLOAD RATES ON CANDY ARE TOO HIGH

By WILLIAM J. BUCHANAN

Manager, Minneapolis Terminal Warehouse Co., Minneapolis

THE statements presented herewith—Tables 1-A, 1-B, 1-C, 1-D, 2-A, 2-B and 2-C—deal with rates on candy from various eastern cities to Minneapolis, and from Boston to various northwestern points beyond Minneapolis.

The purpose of these statements is to show in a logical way that:

1. The rates on candy in carloads are too high to encourage the movement of this commodity in carload channels.

2. If these rates are reduced to such an extent as to encourage the movement in carload channels, the net revenue of the carriers will be increased and distribution economy will be served.

Table 1-A shows the mileage and rates, both carload and less than carload, from various points to Minneapolis.

Table 1-B shows the earnings per car and earnings per car mile for both carload and less than carload movements.

Table 1-A

Statement showing distance and freight rates on candy, both carloads and less, to Minneapolis, Minn.

From	Miles	Rates in Cents Per 100 Lb.		Spread
		L. C. L.	Carload
Boston	1,432	188½	143½	45
New York	1,329	188½	143½	45
Buffalo	934	154½	119½	35
Cincinnati	705	147½	112½	35
Chicago	421	84½	67½	17

Table 1-B

Statement of carload earnings per car, based on the uniform classification minimum of 30,000 pounds; the l. c. l. earnings per car, based on an average loading of 12,000 pounds per car; the average earnings per car mile. Two dollars per ton has been deducted from l. c. l. earnings to cover cost to the carrier of handling at point of origin and destination

From	L. C. L. Earnings Per Car		Carload Earnings	Earnings in Cents Per Car Mile
	Earnings	Handling		L. C. L.	C. L.
Boston	$226.20	$12.00	$214.20	$430.50	30.063
New York	226.20	12.00	214.20	430.50	32.393
Buffalo	185.40	12.00	173.40	358.50	38.383
Cincinnati	177.00	12.00	165.00	337.50	47.872
Chicago	101.40	12.00	89.40	202.50	48.100

In a previous analysis of soap rates I used 20,000 pounds as an average load of l. c. l. freight. Since that time, investigation shows that the average load per car of l. c. l. freight is something less than six tons. I have therefore used 12,000 pounds in this analysis.

L. c. l. freight is loaded at point of origin, unloaded at destination, and in many cases is transferred one or more times en route by the carrier at a cost of not less than $1 per ton for each handling. Carload freight is loaded by the shipper and unloaded by the consignee. I have therefore deducted $2 from the l. c. l. earnings per car to cover the cost of handling.

An average car of 12,000 pounds from Boston to Minneapolis at $1.88½ would earn $226.20, from which we must deduct $12 to cover cost of handling at terminals, leaving net earnings per car of $214.20.

A minimum car of 30,000 pounds at $1.43½ would earn $430.50, or more than twice as much as would be earned on a car of l. c. l. freight.

The l. c. l. earnings per car mile would be 14.958 cents, while the carload earnings per car mile would be 30.063 cents.

If the carload rate should be reduced to the fourth class rate of $1 per 100 pounds, the earnings on a minimum car would be $300 and the average per car mile would be 20.950 cents, or 14 per cent more than the l. c. l. earnings per car.

The l. c. l. earnings per car from Chicago to Minneapolis are 21.235 cents, as compared with 48.100 cents for carloads. A recent docket of the Uniform Classification Committee proposed to establish in western class territory a rating on candy in carloads of fifth class, subject to a minimum of 34,000 pounds instead of present rating of third class, minimum 30,000 pounds. If the lower basis is adopted, a carload of candy from Chicago to Minneapolis will earn $115.60, an average per car mile of 27.458 cents, or approximately 13 per cent more than the l. c. l. earnings per car mile.

TABLE 1-C shows the gross ton-miles, earnings per car and earnings per gross ton-mile for both l. c. l. and carload movement.

Table 1-C

Statement showing gross ton-miles per car, carload earnings per car, l. c. l. earnings per car, and the average earnings per gross ton-miles on candy to Minneapolis, Minn.

From	Gross Ton-Miles		Earnings Per Car		Earnings in Cents Per Gross Ton-Mile
	L. C. L.	Carload	L. C. L.	Carload	L. C. L.	Carload
Boston	37,232	50,120	$214.20	$430.50	.575	.859
New York	34,554	46,514	214.20	430.50	.620	.926
Buffalo	24,284	32,690	173.40	358.50	.714	1.097
Cincinnati	18,330	24,675	165.00	337.50	.900	1.368
Chicago	10,946	14,735	89.40	202.50	.817	1.377

It is customary for the carriers to measure earnings on the basis of the revenue or net ton-mile. Expenses, however, are more closely related to the gross ton-mile and it is therefore more accurate to use the earnings per gross ton-mile unit for comparative purposes.

The average box car weighs 20 tons. For each consignment of 12,000 pounds hauled from Boston to Minneapolis, the carrier must haul 20 tons of car, a gross weight of 26 tons, or 37,232 gross ton-miles. For each minimum carload of 30,000 pounds, the carrier hauls the same 20-ton car, a gross weight of 45 tons per car, or 50,120 gross ton-miles. The l. c. l. earnings per gross ton-mile vary from .575 cents Boston to .900 cents Cincinnati, while the carload earnings per gross ton-mile vary from .859 cents Boston to 1.377 cents Chicago.

Table 1-D is a statement of ratios based on preceding tables.

Table 1-D

From	Gross Ton-Miles		Earnings Per Car		Earnings Per Gross Ton-Mile
	L. C. L.	Carload	L. C. L.	Carload	L. C. L.	Carload
Boston	100	135	100	201	100	149
New York	100	135	100	201	100	150
Buffalo	100	135	100	207	100	154
Cincinnati	100	135	100	205	100	152
Chicago	100	135	100	227	100	169

It will be noted the carload movement involves 35 per cent more gross ton miles than is involved in the l. c. l. movement.

It will be noted also that from Boston to Minneapolis the carrier receives 101 per cent more earnings per car for the 35 per cent excess weight and 49 per cent more carload earnings per gross ton-mile than for l. c. l. movement.

Each and every figure in the foregoing statements proves conclusively that distribution economy can best be served by reductions in the carload rates and that such reductions will be reflected in increased net earnings for the carriers.

TABLE 2-A is a comparison of the cost per 100 pounds of distributing candy in l. c. l. quantities direct from Boston to various points in the Northwest, with the cost of carload movement, Boston to Minneapolis, and l. c. l. beyond.

Table 2-B shows the gross ton-miles, earnings per 100 pounds and earnings per gross ton-mile. Here it is shown that for each 100-pound consignment of candy hauled from Boston to St. Cloud direct, the carrier must haul 324 gross ton-miles. If the candy is shipped to Minneapolis in carloads and reshipped from that point in l. c. l. quantities, the carrier hauls but 181 gross ton-miles for each 100-pound consignment.

Taking the average of the five points shown, the carriers haul 370 gross ton-miles for each 100 pounds of candy in direct l. c. l. movement, as compared with 227 gross ton-miles via Minneapolis. They receive $2.776 per 100 pounds for direct movement, compared with $2.427 per 100 pounds via Minneapolis. They earn .750 cents per gross ton-mile in direct movement, compared with 1.069 cents via Minneapolis.

but 13 per cent less revenue per 100 pounds and that they earn 43 per cent more revenue per gross ton-mile.

The ratios shown in table 2-C have been prepared in the form of a chart or graph, which is shown herewith. This chart is conclusive proof that railroad operating economy can best be served by encouraging carload movement and restricting l. c. l. movement as much as possible to distributive territory.

THE recent analysis on soap rates—and, up to this point, the present analysis of candy rates—deals with rates to and from rate-breaking points. Railroad rates in their relation to the warehousing industry are therefore shown from the most favorable angle; and distribution economy, to whatever extent it may be possible under present rate-making practice, is largely confined to this class of rates.

We will now deal with the subject of candy rates as they exist under the percentage group system of rate-making. Under this system, the territory is divided into groups and the rates to all points in each group bear a definite percentage relation to a base rate. For example, the rates from eastern points to points in the Central Freight Association are based on the New York-Chicago rate.

The l. c. l. rate on candy from New York or Boston to Chicago is $1.38½. The rate to Toledo, Columbus or Detroit is 78 per cent of the Chicago rate, or $1.08; Cleveland is 71 per cent; Cincinnati is 87 per cent, etc. Under this rate structure, every town served by one or more lines of railway is a potential distributing center but without a distributive territory.

Table 3-A shows the distance and rates, both carload and less, on candy from Boston to various points in Central Freight

Table 3-B shows the gross ton-miles, earnings per car and earnings in cents per car mile, both carload and less. For every car containing 12,000 pounds of l. c. l. freight from Boston to Pittsburgh, the carriers must haul 17,394 ton-miles, while for each carload of 30,000 pounds they haul but 23,415 ton-miles, or 35 per cent more. On the car of l. c. l. freight the carriers will earn $94.80, while on the carload they will earn $201.

On the l. c. l. movement, the earnings per gross ton-mile will be .545 cents, while the carload earnings per gross ton-mile will be .858 cents, notwithstanding the fact that the carload movement lends itself to greater economy in operating cost.

It is therefore fair to say that the carriers' cost increases about 35 per cent while the revenue increases more than 100 per cent.

Referring to Table 4-B, we find that for every 100 pounds of candy hauled direct from Boston to Urbana, Ohio, l. c. l., the carrier must move 180 gross ton-miles. For every 100 pounds hauled in carload channels to Columbus and l. c. l. Columbus to Urbana, the carrier hauls but 104 gross ton-miles. It is here shown that the carrier receives 113½ cents for 180 gross ton-miles and 125½ cents for 104 gross ton-miles. mileage in direct movement is 100 per cent; in combined movement, 59 per cent. The earnings in the direct movement are 100 per cent; in the combined movement 112 per cent. The earnings per gross ton-mile in direct movement are 100 per cent; in combined movement, 191 per cent.

In other words, the carriers receive 12 per cent more revenue for moving 41 per cent less ton-miles.

NOW let us see what would happen to the carriers' revenue if the carload rate on candy were reduced to the basis of fifth class or 49 cents per 100 pounds. The average earnings to the five points shown would then be 93.4 cents, instead of 126½ cents, and the average earnings per gross ton-mile would be .881 cents instead of 1.193 cents. Under such a rate, the differences shown in last column of Table 4-A would be eliminated and the combined movement via a Columbus warehouse, as compared with the direct movement, would show 41 per cent less tonnage, only 17 per cent less earnings and 41 per cent more earnings per gross ton-mile.

All of which goes to show that the best interests of the carriers, as well as the shippers, can be served by establishing carload rates that will encourage carload movement and enable distributors to restrict l. c. l. movement to distributive territory.

This test applied to other rate structures, such as the Eastern Trunk Line rates, Texas Common Point rates, etc., will show the same results.

Consider These

Pertinent Problems for Shipper and Storage Executive

1. Taxation of Stocks in Transit.
2. A Warehousing Court of Appeals.
3. Standardization of Damage Reports.

By KENT B. STILES

CHICAGO, NOV. 9.

DEVELOPMENTS of interest to traffic manager and warehouseman alike have proven that the Shippers' Warehousing and Distributing Association, organized seventeen months ago by representatives of industrial companies which route their products through commercial storage plants, has a logical place in American business. Discussions which have been held here yesterday and to-day leave no question but that the existence of the shippers' organization is justified.

A program of constructive effort was laid down at a conference attended by representatives of the shippers' association and the American Warehousemen's Association.

The features of this program are:

1. Congress or the Interstate Commerce Commission will be requested by manufacturers to define clearly that stocks moving from factory in one State to retailers in other States constitute interstate commerce, which is not taxable by State or municipal authorities when assessments have already been levied in the home State.

2. The American Warehousemen's Association will be asked to establish a warehousing Court of Appeals to which the Shippers' Warehousing and Distributing Association may carry complaints and suggestions which relate to the business relationship between traffic manager and storage executive.

3. The Freight Claim Agents' Association, representing all railroads, will be requested to recognize and utilize a standardized damage report which will be prepared by the American Warehousemen's Association and approved by the Shippers' Warehousing and Distributing Association.

THE foregoing three subjects were considered by those attending the conference here to be of paramount importance in promoting improvement of business conditions as they relate to distribution of goods through public warehouses. The following men were present at the meeting:

Representing the shippers' association:
John Simon, president, who is manager of the transfer department of the Keystone Steel & Wire Co., Peoria, Ill.

P. T. MacKie, treasurer, who is district freight agent, Chicago, of the American Sugar Refining Co.

F. D. Campau, general counsel, who is general counsel also for the Furniture Manufacturers Association of Grand Rapids, Mich.

Eugene Wallace, legislative committee, who is traffic manager of the Kellogg Toasted Corn Flake Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Frank E. Jones, representing the traffic department of the Furniture Manufacturers Association of Grand Rapids.

Representing the American Warehousemen's Association as members of the shipping and distribution committee appointed to co-operate with the shippers:

Sidney A. Smith, chairman, who is vice-president and manager of the Currier-Lee Warehouse Co., Chicago.

A. H. Millward, manager, Wakem & McLaughlin, Inc., Chicago.

MR. WAREHOUSEMAN:

IS it important to you that a shipper has cut down from 150 to 50 the number of warehouses he is using for distributing, and that the elimination of 100 warehouse accounts was due solely to the fact that stocks in storage plants are, in the shipper's opinion, unjust and unconstitutional?

To avoid those taxes, the shipper in 1921 is giving $105,000 worth of storage business to jobbers—business which in 1920 was handled by warehousemen.

Read the figures and facts set forth in this article. It will give you an insight into a serious situation which confronts your industry to-day.

A. Peterson, superintendent, Railway Terminal & Warehouse Co., Chicago.

S. H. Verrall, Manager, Sibley Warehouse & Storage Co., Chicago.

OF the three major topics discussed, perhaps the taxation situation was regarded as the most important. The warehouseman who is inclined to question whether it is desirable for men in the storage industry to be concerned over this assessment burden on shippers will be startled by the following illustration of how seriously the situation affects his industry:

In 1920 the Kellogg Toasted Corn Flake Co. distributed through 150 warehouses. It paid out, in storage charges, including cartage, $165,000.

In 1921 the Kellogg company is routing through only 50 warehouses. The storage charges it is paying amount to only $60,000.

Why has the Kellogg company eliminated 100 warehouses? Why is it paying $105,000 less in storage charges this year than it did in 1920?

THE ANSWER IS TAXATION.

HIGH TAXES IMPOSED BY STATE OR MUNICIPAL AUTHORITIES ON STOCKS MAINTAINED IN WAREHOUSES ARE DRIVING AWAY PROFITABLE BUSINESS FOR THE WAREHOUSE INDUSTRY.

Who is getting the Kellogg business which 100 warehouses handled in 1920?

Answer: The jobbers.

In 1920 the Kellogg company paid out, in State or municipal taxes, $16,000—equivalent to 10 per cent. of the total storage and cartage charges. By distributing through jobbers, with the goods sold in advance before they leave the factory, the Kellogg company escapes paying these taxes. The Kellogg problem becomes one of distribution only, goods going in pool cars to jobbers. The phase of warehousing in which high taxes are involved is eliminated.

The Kellogg company's gain is the warehouse industry's loss.

In warehouses in cities where burdensome taxes are not required, the Kellogg company continues to maintain stocks. It prefers the warehouse system of distribution but it cannot use that system in cities where assessments overbalance the saving which could be effected were its stocks tax-free.

To the warehousemen who took part in the conference here the Kellogg situation was disclosed by Mr. Wallace, the Kellogg company's traffic manager. Mr. Wallace cited an instance where a given amount of its products was taxed first in the home State, Michigan; these products were placed in a warehouse in a Wisconsin city, where they were again taxed; part of the stocks then went on into a warehouse in a Minnesota city, and there they were for the third time taxed. Three separate taxes on the same goods!

WHAT the shippers want is legislation by Congress or a ruling by the Interstate Commerce Commission that goods which have once been inventoried in the home State for taxation and then move into other States shall be regarded as interstate commerce which is in transit and shall be free from assessment by State or municipal authorities.

It was pointed out that when I. C. I. shipments are kept in a railroad freight station for forty-eight hours, or if they are put into railroad storage for a longer time, they are not taxed by local authorities. Why should they be taxed if they enter a public warehouse?

It was suggested that warehousemen might remedy the situation for their shipper-customers to some extent by finding out which goods have been inventoried in the home State for taxation there, and then declining to disclose to local tax officials the identity of the owners of such goods. It was recognized that this practice, however, could not prevail in States where warehousemen are specifically required by law to reveal the names of owners of goods in storage.

It was remarked that in many instances the goods in warehouses are not owned by the companies which manufactured them and placed them in storage; they have meanwhile been transferred to other ownership by means of negotiable warehouse receipts. In some cases the goods are owned by banks which have taken over the receipts.

Facts regarding the taxation situation are to be placed by the shippers' association in the hands of Mr. Smith as chairman of the A. W. A. committee on shipping and distribution. Mr. Smith plans to incorporate these facts in his report to be made to the A. W. A. at its December convention at St. Louis. Mr. Campau urged that the influence of the warehouse industry be brought into co-operation with the movement by the manufacturers to go before Congress or the Interstate Commerce Commission.

THE data which the shippers plan to turn over to Mr. Smith will be compiled by C. G. Yates, chairman of the legislative committee of the traffic managers' association. Mr. Yates, who is traffic manager of the Vick Chemical Co., Greensboro, N. C., is sending to the association's members a questionnaire designed to obtain the required information.

The members are asked to tell, confidentially, the amount of taxes they are paying; where the assessments are levied; the amount of business they do through warehouses, and to give other information pertaining to the subject. As the questionnaire explains in part:

"Our plan now is to take the reports as given by each member of the association, show how many are carrying stock in a certain place, what the total amounts to, the value of the goods stored, total amount paid in taxes. When these reports are in, the totals arrived at, we believe we will have an exhibit that will be of untold value to our attorney."

Based upon the questionnaire returns, figures in the aggregate will be prepared, for submitting at the A. W. A. convention, either through the report of Mr. Smith or through the report of Albert M. Reid, Security Storage Co., Washington, D. C., who is chairman of the A. W. A. committee on laws and legislation.

The suggestion was advanced at the conference here that the Shippers' Warehousing and Distributing Association be represented on the floor of the St. Louis convention by one of its members, who would address the meeting regarding the taxation situation. This met with favorable response by the warehousemen present and Mr. Yates is expected to address the convention.

THE idea that the A. W. A. establish a Court of Appeals came out of a discussion in which shippers told how certain railroads were refusing to accept damage reports as presented by certain warehouse companies which are A. W. A. members. Instances in two Central West cities were mentioned.

By setting up a Court of Appeals, shippers suggested, the A. W. A. could render service both to its own members and to traffic managers. It was pointed out that under conditions as they are to-day, when a shipper becomes dissatisfied because a warehouseman's damage report is not acceptable to certain carriers, the shipper is likely to transfer his stocks to another storage plant, which means loss of business for the first warehouseman.

Under conditions where a Court of Appeal would operate, a member of the shippers' association would carry his complaint to a shippers' committee; if the committee believed the complaint held merit the condition complained of would be carried to the A. W. A. Court of Appeals for arbitration and settlement. Not only complaints regarding unacceptable damage reports, but complaints of all kinds, together with constructive suggestions, could have the attention of the proposed warehousing tribunal.

It was pointed out that the rule would work both ways: if an A. W. A. member had a complaint or a suggestion, he could send it to the Court of Appeals, which in turn would bring it to the attention of the shippers' association.

Thus would be established a system of co-operation designed to improve the business relationship between the manufacturer who distributes through warehouses and the storage executive who handles the goods.

The suggestion met with instant appeal by both sides, and the idea will be incorporated into Mr. Smith's report at the St. Louis convention.

IT was out of this discussion of the proposed Court of Appeals that the disclosure came that a standardized damage report is to be presented to the St. Louis meeting for consideration. Mr. Smith said he had been at work on such a report, and it was the sense of the meeting that the A. W. A. should ask the Freight Claim Agents' Association to accept and use the standardized document. It was felt that this would tend to minimize the situation complained of by shippers in connection with certain railroads refusing to accept damage reports from certain warehousemen. Where carriers then still refused to accept such reports, the shippers involved could go to the Court of Appeals, which would have authority to communicate with the carriers.

It was brought out by warehousemen present that some of the confusion in connection with the damage report situation could be attributed, rather than to the fault of the warehouseman, to ignorance on the part of railroad clerks regarding warehousing details.

The overage and shortage situation, as considered at the July convention of the Shippers' Warehousing and Distributing Association at Pittsburgh, was discussed. It was conceded that there was need of some standardized method of handling this moot problem between shipper and warehousemen, and Mr. Smith promised to bring the subject up in his St. Louis report.

Exchange of Trade Information Held by Federal Court to Be Legal

Decision by United States Judge Carpenter in Chicago Is Important to Both Shipper and Warehouseman—Practice Is Modern Method of Making Business a Science

CHICAGO, Nov. 4.

THE warehouse industry, with which are identified several score of national, sectional, State and local organizations, will be interested—as will all shippers who are members of associations—in a decision handed down by Judge Carpenter of the United States District Court affecting exchange of trade information.

The legal right to exchange such information is sustained by Judge Carpenter, who in his decision sets forth that such exchange among competitors is the modern method of making business a science rather than a pure gamble.

The opinion will serve to clear up much of the uncertainty which has existed among business interests in their efforts to interpret the Sherman anti-trust law.

The case under consideration is that of the United States vs. the American Linseed Co., the Armstrong Bureau of Related Industries and a number of linseed oil crushers charged with violation of the Sherman act by the exchange of trade information.

The Court denied, for want of equity, the petition by the Government for an injunction and thereby removed a cloud of suspicion from more than 3000 associations of business men who began exchanging important trade information under the direction of the War Industries Board and continued the practice because they believed it was beneficial both to the trades and the public.

The Armstrong Bureau of Related Industries was the agency through which the linseed oil industry exchanged trade information. The Government made no criminal charge, but it attempted to prove conspiracy to restrain interstate commerce and to enhance and fix prices. It was charged that this was done and that uniform prices were affected by the exchange of trade information and by the creation of certain freight zones.

Judge Carpenter's decision follows:

IN this case the United States, pursuant to the powers and duties imposed upon it by the Sherman anti-trust act, challenged as a combination or conspiracy a contract between the defendants, linseed oil crushers, and the Armstrong Bureau.

The defendant, Julian Armstrong, in October, 1918, organized the Linseed Oil Council and operated it as a member of the Armstrong Bureau. The purpose of the council and bureau was to collect and furnish to the various members current quotations on linseed oil, the record of sales of oil, including prices, statistics as to stock on hand, crop conditions at home and abroad, and other information of interest or value to the manufacturers of linseed oil. The Armstrong Bureau entered into contracts with certain of the defendants and agreed to furnish them the foregoing information for a consideration.

Pursuant to these contracts the various subscribers daily reported their price lists to the Bureau, and promptly sent word of any change. Other information was also furnished from time to time. The statements received and collected by the Bureau were immediately sent out to all the members of the association.

The record discloses that the information collected and distributed by the Bureau to its several members was of the kind which a sagacious business man secures, or endeavors to secure, in the operation of his enterprise. The information was true. The price lists furnished were made in the regular course of business, and offered in good faith to customers or prospective customers. There was no proof that the members of the association ever, at the Bureau meetings or at any other place, discussed prices or made agreements with respect to prices, and there was no evidence that the prices asked by any of the subscribers were not in accordance with the market price of flaxseed, upon which the price of linseed oil was based.

No Price Obligation

Production was not limited during the period the bureau was in operation. There was no proof of division of territory. There was no proof that the prices asked by the individual defendants were not fixed by them upon their own judgment, considering all factors affecting supply and demand. There was no proof showing that any member was under the slightest obligation or constraint to ask higher prices or maintain prices.

The main argument for the United States is that the operation of the bureau tended towards a stabilization or uniformity of price on any given day, which was not due to competition, in accordance with economic law.

Many tables of statistics were offered in evidence and read to the Court, from which there appeared at times a striking similarity in price, and that changes in prices were made by substantially all the members coincidentally.

It appears further that the price of linseed oil is controlled by the price of flaxseed, and that the flaxseed market is an open one, in which there are wide fluctuations as well as inactive periods.

The Government has not shown that there was artificial regulation of price, either by definite oral or written agreement, or by tacit understanding.

Each individual crusher entering into a contract with the Armstrong Bureau specifically and expressly agreed that all information reported to the bureau or distributed by it should at all times be purely statistical and pertain only to operations, and that the bureau should not be used to enable the constituent members to fix prices for the sale of linseed oil, cake or meal; to limit the sale, production or manufacture thereof, or to divide the territory in which it was to be sold.

It is incumbent upon the Government to show by the clear preponderance of the evidence that the defendants conspired to restrain interstate commerce. In the absence of direct proof of actual entering into of such a combination, and in the face of the denial under oath of the defendants that any such conspiracy or combination was entered into or made, the Government must show that what the defendants did necessarily had the result of restraining trade, or, if it relies upon the circumstantial evidence to show that a conspiracy was actually entered into, it must show to the satisfaction of the Court that the circumstances upon which reliance is placed are entirely inconsistent with supposition of innocence.

The question involved is whether an association, such as an Armstrong Agency (sometimes called the Open Price Plan) is obnoxious to the anti-trust laws, whether or not there is anything inherently wrong in an agreement between producers in a certain line to furnish each other their prices and not to make any sale deviating from the price-list without immediately notifying all the others.

Associations of merchants and manufacturers, boards of trade and exchanges are of great antiquity. Evidently such associations were not aimed at by the Sherman Act, because they are not mentioned in the act. A distinction is sought to be drawn between the operations of an exchange and what was done by the defendants through the Armstrong Bureau. An exchange sends out reports of actual sales. The Armstrong Bureau gave out price-lists. It is difficult to understand any ground for declaring one legal and the other illegal.

Every producer or merchant desires to obtain for his goods the highest price he can get. The price which he charges is always the highest which he believes the traffic will bear. He cannot charge, ordinarily, more than his competitors. His competitors' price fixes the point above which he cannot go. When the merchant fixes the price at the level of his competitors he is fixing it in competition with his rival just as much as though he had named a lower price. The competition of his rival has prevented him from charging a higher price.

Fixing Market Value

If, on the other hand, he finds that he cannot move his goods at the price fixed by his competitors he will naturally lower the price, and this will establish a new level. This is the essence of what constitutes competition.

Quotations established by the sales on an exchange establish the market value at the time of the sale, but not the market value the day after. The prices at which goods are offered for sale at any moment establish the market value at that moment.

In those lines of merchandising where there are no exchanges the prices which producers and dealers put upon their goods constitute the market price. Cliquot's Champagne, 3 Wall. 114. In the trial of that case the judge charged the jury as follows:

"The market value of goods is the price at which the owner of the goods, or the producer, holds them for sale; the price at which they are freely offered in the market to all the world; such prices as dealers in the goods are willing to receive, and purchasers are made to pay, when the goods are bought and sold in the ordinary course of trade."

This charge was approved by the Supreme Court.

The above language was cited and approved by the Supreme Court in Muser vs. Magone, 155 U. S. 240, at page 249.

If it is lawful for dealers to get together in an exchange and provide for a dissemination of the prices obtained on actual sales, why should it be unlawful for those producers and dealers in lines where no public exchange has been established, to make some provision for disseminating information of market value or prices? To put it in another way, why should they be limited to the dissemination of the market prices of yesterday, but not those of to-day?

In order to obtain efficiency in business, as well as in any other human activity, it is necessary to have reliable, immediate and adequate records. With the progress that has been made in the last century it is not to be expected that business alone stood still.

In the old days when at noon the business men of the community met in the village blacksmith shop, or in the evening met at the corner grocery, a man was supposed to carry in his head all the facts in regard to his business and never to disclose them to a competitor. Adequate systems of accounting had not been devised. Overhead as a cost element in operation was unheard of. Business was run by the rule of thumb. Such days have gone by. The commercial enterprise to-day which is not so managed that its head can at any time know how large is his stock, the volume of his sales, the cost of operation, and the amount of his profit and loss, sooner or later will be distanced by his competitors.

EXCHANGE OF TRADE INFORMATION

UNITED STATES Judge Carpenter of Chicago sets forth, in his decision printed herewith, that exchange of trade information, including prices, is not in violation of the Sherman anti-trust act.

Warehousemen who have attended conventions and have heard the problem of tariffs discussed will recognize the significance of this legal opinion. Its importance to the men of the storage industry was emphasized by Roy C. Griswold, president of the Illinois Association of Warehousemen, at that organization's November meeting in Chicago. Judge Carpenter's decision was read in full at the meeting by the secretary, Elmer Erickson.

It is because business is so much more complex, the volume so much greater, the margin of profit on single transactions so much less, that the merchants of to-day must have at instant command reliable and adequate information, immediately to be secured and more or less permanent in form. Business is no longer a game of chance, but a matter of scientific calculation.

A merchant cannot compete with another merchant unless he knows what he must compete against. A knowledge of what his competitor is charging is the first step in competition. It does not follow because one man knows the price which his competitor is asking, and he then fixes the same price, that his action is by agreement. If his competitor charges a high price he naturally will ask the same price if he thinks he can get it. It is absurd to imagine that every merchant does not endeavor to keep posted on the prices asked by his competitor. If he fails to keep posted he will find himself losing money. If his prices are too high his customers leave him. If too low he fails to reap the profit to which he is entitled. The Government cannot seriously contend that it is the duty of every merchant to guard against his competitor, finding out what he is charging. It would be an impossibility. Nor is it wrong for a merchant to endeavor to find out what his rivals are charging. If he cannot get it directly and easily, he will necessarily get it indirectly and at a great expense and slowly. He must know in order to conduct his business properly; nor does the public profit by the mistakes of a merchant charging too much on the one hand or too little on the other, for want of such information. The mistakes would in all probability fall equally on either side.

Quick and accurate information of what his competitors are charging naturally leads to uniformity in prices. But because one merchant charges the same price that the other merchant charges because he finds that he can get it does not necessarily indicate that there is any agreement between them to charge the same price. As the Supreme Court said in the Steel case, a uniformity in price does not prove a conspiracy.

What applies to sales for present delivery applies equally to sales for future delivery.

When Prices Fall

Much has been made by counsel for the Government of the fact that prices of oil went up along with the price of flaxseed; that afterwards when flaxseed declined sharply the price of oil did not come down at the same rate, but declined at a much slower pace. The Court will take judicial knowledge that for the past several months a decline in prices has been going on. The Government has failed to show that the phenomenon of the price of oil declining at a slower rate than the price of flaxseed was not common in other lines, where the price of the raw materials has fallen. That the price of the finished product on a declining market will fall at a slower rate than the price of the raw material is natural, and therefore expected. The price of the finished material, under conceded economic rules in the market where there is competition, will depend upon the supply and demand of the finished material. The drop in the price of the raw material does not affect the supply of the finished material. Time must elapse before the supply of finished material is increased by the low prices of raw material, and until the supply of finished material is increased, assuming that the demand remains constant, no decline in price may be expected. When the price of raw material starts to go up, less of the finished material will be produced, and stoppage or slowing up of the manufacture of the finished material will be at once reflected in an increased price.

The Court should not construe the acts of the defendants to be illegal when it can, with equal facility, ascribe them to an innocent intention.

But it is charged by the Government that the defendants themselves claim that the effect of the bureau was to stabilize prices. That is to say, as a result of accurate and instant knowledge on the part of producers, the price of linseed oil instead of varying sharply from day to day, as shown by the sales made, assumed an average price without the deviations. If these deviations before had been the result of real competition, based on accurate knowledge by the producers of the real market conditions, then the Government is far from sustaining its contentions. The defendants, however, have shown, and their evidence is uncontradicted, that the deviations before existing were caused by the individual producers endeavoring to meet prices of their competitors which had never been made; and it is common in the trade for buyers to make false representations as to the prices made by other producers. Surely, such a condition is not the one that the Sherman Act aims to foster.

The Government was greatly disturbed by a statement in the defendant Ferry's books that the Armstrong Bureau had brought about a stabilized market. This expression seems to have been a great bugaboo. Counsel for plaintiff would have the Court believe that the term "stabilized market" means nothing other than uniform prices. Whatever the proper definition of the phrase, the record does not show that there was a stabilization or uniformity in prices.

The defendants contend, and I agree, that the term "stabilized market" means the obtaining and distributing of any accurate information that would enable crushers and buyers of linseed oil the better to understand the conditions of the flaxseed and oil market, to the end that the speculative hazards which formerly had worked injury to both seller and buyer would be minimized and eventually eliminated, and the economic law of supply and demand be more intelligently put into operation.

Zone System Upheld

Complaint is made against what is called the "zone system" and differentials applying thereto. It is true the prices quoted had reference to certain well defined territory, and the prices were accompanied by differentials to equalize the cost of railroad transportation. The record shows that these differentials were adopted after a thorough and intelligent investigation of freight rates from the base point to point of delivery, and the addition to the base price in the different zones was arrived at after a fair averaging of those freight rates into the designated territory.

Zoning for the purpose of fixing rates is not new. The Interstate Commerce Commission permits it in regulating the charges to be made by railroads. It is not a perfect system, and there is always a certain amount of discrimination to those who live on or near the dividing line between zones, and I have no doubt a few buyers of oil may have been to some extent penalized, but every buyer had the option of purchasing f.o.b. point of manufacture, or f.o.b. point of delivery, and I must assume that the buyer would choose that f.o.b. point which seemed the most to his advantage.

No Insomnia

The charge of the Government that the zone differentials were adopted in order that the price charged for oil would be artificially enhanced and the defendant crushers consequently enriched, is not borne out by the evidence. There was no zone in which all the crushers did business, and the bulk of the finished product sold by the defendants was for delivery in zones carrying minimum freight differentials.

Counsel for the Government seeks to draw an inference of guilt from the admission of defendants that the bureau allowed them to sleep nights. The only restraint which the rules of the bureau on their face impose is that the members agree not to deviate from their price lists without informing the other members at once by telegraph. At the close of each business day every member knew until the next day what the market was. It seems to me that the situation thus created is not dissimilar from that sustained by the United States Supreme Court in Chicago Board of Trade vs. United States, 246 U. S. 231. It is very evident that the Supreme Court does not believe that the Sherman Act should prevent men from sleeping nights.

The Armstrong Bureau was originated solely for the purpose of furnishing information not only to the linseed oil crushers, but to those interested in every other industry. It was a bureau of intelligence and one which makes for real rather than artificial competition in trade. There was no restriction placed upon any member. He was free to buy from and sell to whomever he chose.

The bureau operated solely as to past transactions and wherever there is freedom of contract on the part of the constituent members there cannot be a violation of the Sherman Act.

The prosecution, down deep, evidently believes that an association of producers or merchants must necessarily be obnoxious to the Sherman Act because it affords an opportunity for the members to conspire to restrain trade.

Where there is such an association it is perfectly natural for members to express themselves as to conditions and prices; in fact, that is what the association is formed for, and these expressions have been seized upon by counsel as evidence to show that a corrupt agreement was actually made.

To my mind some of these expressions are evidence that no such agreement was in fact made, if they are evidence of anything. It would be perfectly natural, among a meeting of oil men, for some one to say that he thought prices ought to be higher. The meaning conveyed by such an expression would be that the man was at a loss to understand why prices were not higher, taking into consideration the demand and supply and conditions of the trade. I might well say to-day that the weather ought to be cooler without laying myself open to the imputation that the temperature had been fixed by an agreement of mine.

The Ancient Fallacy

Logic which assumes that because there is an opportunity to fix prices, therefore prices are fixed, is contrary to the genius and theory of our law. Every man is presumed to be innocent until he is proved to be guilty. If the Armstrong Bureau is to be dissolved merely because it afforded an opportunity for the members to fix prices, then this Court, with equal propriety, could be asked to dissolve any lunch club where business men meet.

This theory hardly warrants discussion, and I would not mention it had I not been gravely urged in this case, that such was the underlying thought of the prosecution. It is the ancient fallacy—post hoc propter hoc.

The bill will be dismissed for want of equity.

Advertising Direct to the Prospective Customer of the Household Goods Warehouse

DISTRIBUTION of neat and dignified folders among householders is a business-getting plan being followed by American Storage & Moving Co., St. Louis, and the Langan & Taylor Storage & Moving Co., a St. Louis concern identified with the American.

Each folder has four pages, each 3¼ inches wide by 5½ long. The only text on each front page is designed to attract attention, such as "Moving to another city?" "Safe and convenient," "The care we take—" and "What are you going to do with the winter top of your car?"

Across the two inside pages the story of service is told, as shown in the accompanying illustration. Another service text tells about the care of "Personal belongings you don't want to take chances on." Another describes the care taken with rugs. The fourth outlines the American company's facilities for storing winter tops of cars. Each fourth page is left blank.

The information is given right to the point—no waste of words; and the printing attractively arranged. Each inside text is within a thin red box, with type in bold face black and the name of the company standing out prominently.

Moving to another city?

You cannot beat the freight rates—
but you can get around them

THE "pool" car turns the trick. Your household goods will not perhaps fill a whole car. In many instances we can take your shipment and arrange the consolidation of it with others, making enough to fill a whole car. The result is a big saving in shipping charges. Our representative will gladly call and explain in detail the benefits of the "pool" car plan.

Japanese Warehouse Industry Tells "Big Business"

The Facts About Volume and Value of Goods in Storage—Recapitulation of Commodities Is Distributed to the Government, Banks, Newspapers and Merchants

THE warehouse industry in Japan obtains constructive publicity in a national way by issuing monthly a recapitulation of all goods in storage. The table prepared is distributed to the Government and to business interests, including merchants, banks and newspapers. The Department of Commerce at Washington thinks enough of the statistics to publish the totals in its periodical pamphlet.

How the Japanese Warehousemen's Association, comprising eighty-one companies, prepares its monthly statement is explained herewith, based on information sent to Distribution & Warehousing by F. L. Bateman, Chicago, president of the Trans-Continental Freight Co. With T. Y. Leonard, president of the Leonard Warehouses, Inc., Detroit, and P. J. Mills, president of the White Line Transfer & Storage Co., Des Moines, Iowa, Mr. Bateman is making a business and pleasure tour of Japan, China, Korea, the Philippines and Hawaii, and his letter this month is the second of a series dealing with storage conditions in those lands.

With the aid of Mitsubishi Soko Kaisha, Ltd. (the Mitsubishi Warehouse Co., Ltd.) of Tokio, Mr. Bateman has had prepared an explanation of Forms A, B and C, portions of which are shown on these pages—enough to give a working idea of them. Where the wording is in English, it is in Japanese on the original forms, Mr. Bateman having furnished translations. His statement of how the forms operate follows:

A—Each member of the Japanese Warehousemen's Association is requested to produce a monthly report showing package and value of each class of goods in its storage at the end of each month, all reports going to the Mitsubishi Warehouse Co., which is the standing committee, by the 10th of the following month. Form A is used for these reports.

B—The standing committee sums up the packages and values of each class of goods in storage by members in one district. These totals are noted in the B form, which shows numbers of the packages and the amounts of values of each class of goods in storage in one district.

C—The B forms for all districts are sent to the Mitsubishi Warehouse Co.'s printing office, and the recapitulation for all districts is shown on C form—"Goods in Storage by Warehousemen in Japan."

Mr. Bateman, in a letter written at Miyanoshita on Oct. 6, says:

"The readers of Distribution & Warehousing may be interested in the system employed to show a recapitulation of all commodities stored in the warehouses of Japan.

"The association is comprised of 81 members (The Japan Warehousemen's Association).

"Through the courtesy of Messrs. Saki and Kikuchi of the Mitsubishi Soko Kaisha, Ltd., (Mitsubishi Warehousing Co., Ltd.) the inclosed statements were given me.

"The officials of both the Mitsubishi Warehouse Co. and the Sumitomo Goshikaisha Warehouses are gentlemen of the highest order. It is evident that the warehouse business of Japan is in the hands of men who are giving it much careful thought.

State Taxation of Interstate Commerce Is Harmful to Both Shipper and Warehouseman

WHEN a carload of cereal in packages leaves the factory in Michigan and is moved on to a public warehouse in a Wisconsin city, going thence by rail it crosses the Michigan-Indiana, Indiana-Illinois and Illinois-Wisconsin State lines. Obviously the shipment is in its fullest sense interstate commerce. When part of that carload is moved on into a city in Minnesota to be placed in a Minnesota warehouse, that i. e. shipment again crosses an interstate boundary; unquestionably it still constitutes interstate commerce.

The railroads which transport the cereal would define the commerce as interstate. The Interstate Commerce Commission certainly would hold that it was interstate.

If the railroads are right and the Interstate Commerce Commission is right, and such shipments do constitute interstate commerce, then—to phrase the question in the commoner language of the day—where do State or municipal authorities “get off” to levy assessments on such commerce?

That is a situation which is operating adversely to the warehouse industry in many cities—local authorities, empowered by State laws, are taxing interstate commerce.

The illustration of cereal leaving Michigan and passing into Wisconsin and on into Minnesota is a timely one, in discussing this State-empowered means of authorizing the raising of municipal revenue, for the reason that it is, unfortunately for warehousing, representative of a condition which exists at this time.

The traffic representative of the Kellogg Toasted Corn Flake Co., whose home office is in Michigan, told a group of shippers and warehousemen in Chicago last month that the warehouse industry in 1921 loses $105,000 in storage and cartage charges as compared to the amount which the Kellogg company paid to public warehouses for space and service in 1920; moreover, this year only fifty warehouses are handling the Kellogg cereals, whereas three times that number did so in 1920.

Why? Because the Kellogg company has decided to do the larger part of its distributing—in cities where stocks in warehouses are taxed by local authorities—through jobbers, and thereby escape burdensome taxes. The taxes which the Kellogg company paid in 1920 to local authorities where stocks were kept in the 100 warehouses which are no longer handling Kellogg cereals, amounted to approximately $16,000.

The shipper who has used both the warehouse and the jobber, is aware that distributing through public storage plants is more economically advantageous than allowing the jobber to handle; the service afforded, and control by the shipper over his own stocks, are among the major benefits to the manufacturer. The Kellogg company recognizes them as assets, and, other things being equal, it prefers the warehouse to the jobber.

But other things are not equal when shippers have to pay, in some cities, taxes amounting to 10 per cent of the storage and cartage charges. That is stated to be the reason for the Kellogg company's action in withdrawing accounts from 100 warehouses. Following through the illustration of goods moving from Michigan to Wisconsin to Minnesota being interstate commerce, the Kellogg company found that its cereal, after being inventoried in Michigan for taxation, was being taxed again while in warehouse in Wisconsin; and part of the stock which went on from a Wisconsin warehouse to a Minnesota warehouse was taxed for the third time after it had been placed in storage in Minnesota. (It should be stated here that the Kellogg company continues to distribute through warehouses in cities where its stocks in storage are not seized upon by local authorities as an excuse to raise funds to finance local projects.)

It is clear that the situation as herein set forth presents something serious for warehousing as an industry to consider. Such taxation must be opposed vigorously and eliminated by Federal ruling, for it is not conceivable that State and local assessment officials will take the initiative and abolish lucrative revenue-getting methods. Unless opposition is brought to bear in an organized way, the practice will be likely to spread to States and cities where such taxation is not now imposed, and once the practice becomes a common one in all States it will be virtually impossible to combat it successfully.

Also, once it becomes common to all States, the warehouse industry will be harmed immeasurably if the Kellogg situation to-day may be regarded as a fair example of what has resulted during the past year.

If the premise is correct that Kellogg cereal moving across Indiana and Illinois into Wisconsin is a shipment in interstate commerce, then what the local authorities in Wisconsin are doing is to tax interstate commerce.

Several pertinent questions come to mind. Has the Wisconsin Legislature the constitutional right to authorize taxation on interstate commerce? Will the Interstate Commerce Commission step in and say that interstate commerce shall not be taxed by State or local authorities?

It is the present purpose of the Shippers' Warehousing and Distributing Association, comprising manufacturers of some of the nationally-known products commonly warehoused, to bring this taxation situation to the attention of officials at Washington—either Congress or the Interstate Commerce Commission, as the plan may develop—so that a Federal ruling may be obtained to the effect that goods which have been taxed in home States shall not thereafter again be taxed when they have moved in interstate commerce to other States simply because they happen to rest temporarily in public warehouses in those other States.

The situation is on the program for discussion at the joint convention of the American Warehousemen's Association and Central Warehousemen's Club at St. Louis in December, representatives of the shippers' organization having been invited to attend that meeting.

Distribution & Warehousing believes action of a positive character should be taken by associations within the warehouse industry in support of the movement begun by the traffic managers.

Support, by warehousing, of the shippers' effort, certainly is warranted by the circumstances of the Kellogg case.

Warehouse Information as a Trade Stabilizer

MEN of warehousing who would promote national comprehension of their industry will be peculiarly interested in the story on pages 17, 18 and 19 telling how the Japanese Warehousemen's Association issues each month a statement showing the volume and value of goods in the plants of its members.

Alvin E. Dodd, manager of the Department of Domestic Distribution of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, said to the American storage industry in his paper read at the July convention of the Central Warehousemen's Club:

"Statistics are important in periods of depression to indicate when operations in any particular line may be enlarged safely; and in times of prosperity they furnish a light by which the prudent may be guided. Briefly, accurate statistics, such as you could prepare, would act as a trade stabilizer."

In a previous sentence Mr. Dodd said:

"It would be most useful if the producer or manufacturer might learn, through reliable statistics, how fast his goods are entering into consumption."

The recapitulation which Japan's national storage organization prepares is what the Department of Domestic Distribution has in mind. In Japan the monthly statement is one of the recognized "trade stabilizers" mentioned by Mr. Dodd. Newspapers publish it, bankers and merchants make business use of it, and it is quoted in Government publications; United States Department of Commerce representatives in Japan consider it of sufficient importance to cable it to Washington, where Secretary Hoover distributes it to American business interests by incorporating it in his department's reports.

How much more valuable to American business would such a statement be which covered storage conditions in the United States! A monthly recapitulation of the volume and value of commodities which pass through American warehouses would be of inestimable value to the Government and to the business interests of the country.

It would indeed act, as Mr. Dodd points out, as a trade stabilizer.

Moreover, it would be a sure way, and a constructive one, of bringing the warehouse industry continually to the attention of the public. Government reports, newspapers, business periodicals devoted to the many fields of industry, the house organs of the big financial institutions, would publish the recapitulation in full or in part and comment on it and treat with the significance of it from many viewpoints. Obviously the reaction would be favorable to the warehouse industry.

It is true that the Japanese association has fewer than 100 members, whereas the American Warehousemen's Association eventually may embrace several thousand. This would make the task of recapitulating a more complicated one. But with a national publicity headquarters, equipped with competent clerical machinery, there seems no reason why it could not be accomplished.

What Japanese warehousing is doing furnishes another compelling reason why the many storage organizations of America should organize a national federation. Through co-operative effort by all associations warehousing as an industry can carve a lasting niche for itself in the business temple of the nation.

Railroad Rates in Relation to Warehousing

Explained at Department of Domestic Distribution Meeting Attended by Shippers and Storage Men

By BEN S. BROWN

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 9.

THE Department of Domestic Distribution, of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States to-day held in Kansas City a meeting which may have far-reaching influence.

The service which merchandise warehouses perform was given prominent consideration; but the ultimate value of this service in the reduction of distribution costs is a far more important factor in the remedies proposed for present conditions than appeared on the surface of the suggestions made.

The Distribution group assembled here upon invitation of the Kansas City Chamber of Commerce in order that the opinions of Western business men regarding the service possible for the Distribution department of the national Chamber might be made available. The Kansas City Chamber invited to this conference representatives of national and sectional trade organizations and commercial associations, and entertained the visitors at breakfast, luncheon and dinner. The very representative character of the attendance contributed vitally to the value of the conference. The Kansas City gathering was the second held by the group, the first having been held in New York in April, when the views of eastern interests were obtained.

THAT the Distribution Department has been developing its program along lines which meet a general need, was indicated by the fact that the western business men seemed most concerned that educational work be promoted for retailers of smaller towns. This appeal has already been met by the department to some extent through the preparation and distribution of its study of turnover. The western business men urged the department to go much further in this direction by stimulating trade organizations to study of merchandising and preparation of educational programs, these programs to be put before retailers partly through the organizations associated with the National Chamber and to be made the basis for further study and development of the subject of vocational training for boys and girls and for men and women already in business.

While there was an undercurrent of complaint against present freight rates, both because of their high levels and because of inequities, there was a disposition to seek weaknesses deeper than those curable by horizontal or even by specific reductions. Some of the suggestions made were radical; but they reflected an effort to reach a solution of transportation and handling costs.

W. J. Buchanan, manager of the Minneapolis Terminal Warehouse Co., Minneapolis, crystallized much of the thought of the conference regarding transportation and handling costs, and gave many of the western wholesalers a new conception of the opportunities for more economical distribution, at the evening session. Mr. Buchanan was the chief speaker at the banquet, giving indeed the only set address of the conference. The subject of freight rates had been avoided during the morning and afternoon sessions in order that it might be handled uninterruptedly in the evening.

Mr. Buchanan presented the subject to the conference, not only outlining the specific opportunity of the Chamber of WAREHOUSING'S contentions as to how freight rates should be lowered were placed before distributors, wholesalers and trade association secretaries of the Central West by William J. Buchanan, manager of the Minneapolis Terminal Warehouse Co., at a meeting held at Kansas City on Nov. 9 under the auspices of the Department of Domestic Distribution of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. Mr. Buchanan addressed the banquet arranged by the Kansas City Chamber.

The story of the meeting is here told by Mr. Brown.

Commerce, but making definite suggestions to meet many of the problems presented by the business men present. He pointed to the four means whereby railroad rates might be reduced, or freight costs lessened for the shipper or receiver. Three of these means were, he said, apparently not within the province of the Distribution Department to consider—reduction of railroad wages, reduction of cost of materials, and economies in operation. The fourth means, concerning which the department might, he thought, have influence, was the stimulation of railroad traffic into channels more profitable for the railroads, whereby losses on freight carriage would be reduced, profits increased, and ability attained for reduction of all rates. Through this same means, economies would be produced for the distributor, retailer and consumer, and wastes avoided, he contended.

The channels in which railroad traffic would be more profitable, said Mr. Buchanan, were carload handling of merchandise now carried l.c.l. He quoted statistic to demonstrate the unprofitable character to the railroads of l.c.l. freight, factors being the low average of car loading, and the large proportionate station expense. The average l.c.l. loading is six tons, against thirty tons for commodities having carload rates, transportation cost to the railroad being practically the same for both cars. The total volume of l.c.l. freight carried by railroads, he pointed out, is about 4.6 per cent of all freight; yet the total cost of handling this 4.6 per cent of volume is about 20 per cent of the total railroad freight handling expense.

The elimination of this heavy l.c.l. expense on the railroads, the distributors and the public, could, Mr. Buchanan pointed out, be accomplished through several methods. One of these was by the establishment of carload rates on commodities now lacking such rates; another was by the more extensive use of merchandise warehouse facilities, and of other processes whereby l.c.l. shipments were carried under carload rates to distribution terminals. He gave many instances of important savings in distribution costs, and elimination of wastes in handling, through the use of such facilities, applied to a variety of commodities.

Among the most interested auditors of Mr. Buchanan were dry goods wholesalers, who were particularly interested in his suggestions regarding extension of carload rate schedules to commodities not now having them.

Mr. Buchanan's description of merchandise warehouse service as providing a factor for meeting the need expressed by many speakers for more frequent turnover by retail merchants, served as a response to one of the more radical suggestions made in the conference. This was the proposal of Vernon Campbell, representing co-operative canning organizations of California, that wholesalers should establish branches in every town of 2500, there to sell at retail as well as wholesale, eliminating present over-expanded retail distribution machinery and simplifying the distribution of all merchandise, especially foodstuffs. Mr. Campbell insisted that such selling should continue competitive as against present retailers, with the better system, or perhaps both systems, to survive.

In view of the fact that the Distribution group does not have special province regarding freight rates, the conference was inclined to stress the use of means for improving distribution for the purpose of reducing distribution costs, rather than the reduction of rates.

Theodore F. Whitmarsh, chairman of the department, summarized much of the discussion as leading to this end; and stated that it seemed recognized that increasing of sales, and reduction of operating and handling costs, were means toward lowering of proportionate distribution costs which the department could well promote.

The conference emphasized, as suggestions, first the improvement of merchandising methods to keep goods flowing more freely, and with surer profit to the retailer; second, improvement of methods of handling goods in transit to the shelves of the retailer; third, steps to inform the public, the retailer and wholesaler, of the facts regarding present costs of distribution, particularly in their phase of the "spread between production and retail cost." Inquiry was urged as to whether these costs are fair; and publicity of the result of such inquiry was suggested, to help restore public confidence in values.

This third phase of the suggestions touched the points made by Mr. Buchanan.

The conferences were presided over by

Mr. Whitmarsh. Alvin E. Dodd, manager of the department, arranged the program and was called upon frequently for data on the Chamber's work. There were present of the committee: A. Lincoln Filene of Boston; R. E. Kennington of Jackson, Miss.; Thomas E. Wilson of Chicago; A. W. Shaw of Chicago; and L. T. Crutcher of Kansas City. Mr. Crutcher was largely responsible for the steps through which the meeting was held in Kansas City and for the scope of its attendance. About fifty representatives of trade and commercial organizations were present from Chicago, St. Louis, and Minneapolis; and from cities in Kansas, Nebraska, Iowa, Oklahoma, Missouri and Texas. More than 100 Kansas City business men attended sessions, these including several executive officials of national organizations.

Business Must Be Good in Washington—The Security Company Is Putting Up a Handsome Addition to Its Plant in the Residential Section

THE Security Storage Co. of Washington, D. C., has let a contract for the erection of an addition on ground recently acquired immediately north of its present warehouse at 1140 Fifteenth Street, N. W. Two dwellings and an apartment house are being demolished to make way for the addition, which will cover an area 30 by 94 feet and rise seven stories above grade. A basement will extend under the entire building.

The front wall will be of brown stone up to the second story window sills and of brick above, all carrying out the design of the front of the existing structure. All other walls, interior and exterior, will be of brick construction. Floors will be of reinforced concrete carried on steel beams.

Door openings will be protected by automatic fire doors and the windows

THE new fireproof warehouse being erected at 2325-33 No. Clark Street, Chicago, by W. C. Reebie & Bro., is 100 feet square and seven stories and basement in height. It is of the skeleton type of reinforced concrete with brick inclosing walls.

The building is designed in Egyptian style, which has many precedents for this class of structure. Among the earliest of those were the grain warehouses built of fireproof materials by Joseph of Biblical times.

The plan of the Reebie warehouse adapts itself readily to an Egyptian façade of light gray brick with polychrome terra cotta. It follows the very best of Egyptian design, the lower stories being very ornate and the upper stories severe.

The design has been carefully studied to obtain the proper disposal of masses and voids and also color effects in relation to texture and scale. The winged disc and scarab is flanked by two colossi similar in design to those which guarded the treasures of Thebes.

The entrance door and frame is verde antique bronze, enhancing the effect of the general design.

The interior is designed with a view of simplicity and effect. The walls of the general office are of pinkish brown cement stone. The four columns supporting the clerestory are of cement stone, the color of basalt with polychrome and gold caps. The counter top and base are of black marble and the floor is of tessellated marble. All the furniture for this room is especially designed of cement stone and will be relieved by bright splashes of color in the upholstery. All the windows are protected by verde antique bronze grilles.

The lighting effect will be unique, as the entire room will be flood-lighted by lamps concealed in the cornice. The frieze above the cornice will show in bas-relief the methods of moving by boat and otherwise which were prevalent in ancient times. These, together with the inscription, are authentic and faithful reproductions from plates secured by the architect during the preparation of the design. The windows between the piano room and lobby are of leaded antique glass especially designed for this work.

The desk arrangement for the office is similar to that used in modern banks for officers' desks; that is, desks placed at right angles to and joining a customer's counter.

Everything possible to make this a complete warehouse is being furnished, such as burglar-proof vault, rug room, trunk room, a large freight elevator, a push-button passenger elevator and private storage rooms on three entire floors. The building was designed and is being erected under the supervision of Geo. S. Kingsley, a specialist in warehouse construction.

Monarch Transfer & Storage Co.
Kansas City

AN attractive warehouse for household goods storage has been opened by the Monarch Transfer & Storage Co., Kansas City. Standing at 3829-33 Main Street, this structure is of reinforced concrete and brick, fireproof, 50 by 100 feet, six stories and basement, of artistic design, erected on a lot 62 by 135 feet, allowing twelve feet for a driveway.

The exterior is trimmed with two kinds of expensive face brick. The bulk of the exterior wall is a clear red matt face brick laid up in white mortar. It is liberally trimmed with Pennsylvania buff brick and with ornamental concrete trim, which is becoming popular among builders of business and residential structures in Kansas City. The finest of casement sashes are used for the windows, in each of which is a one-piece glass.

Over the front entrance is an ornamental canopy ten by twenty feet, of structural steel and sheet iron, with thirty-six outlets for electric lights which brilliantly illuminate the front at night.

The main entrance is of attractive light statuary bronze doors and frame leading to the vestibule steps which open into the main office lobby.

The entire offices are trimmed in solid mahogany and marble. All the office floors, together with the vestibule steps, are of two-colored terrazzo. Black Belgium, York and pink Tennessee marbles are used in the lobby and vestibule.

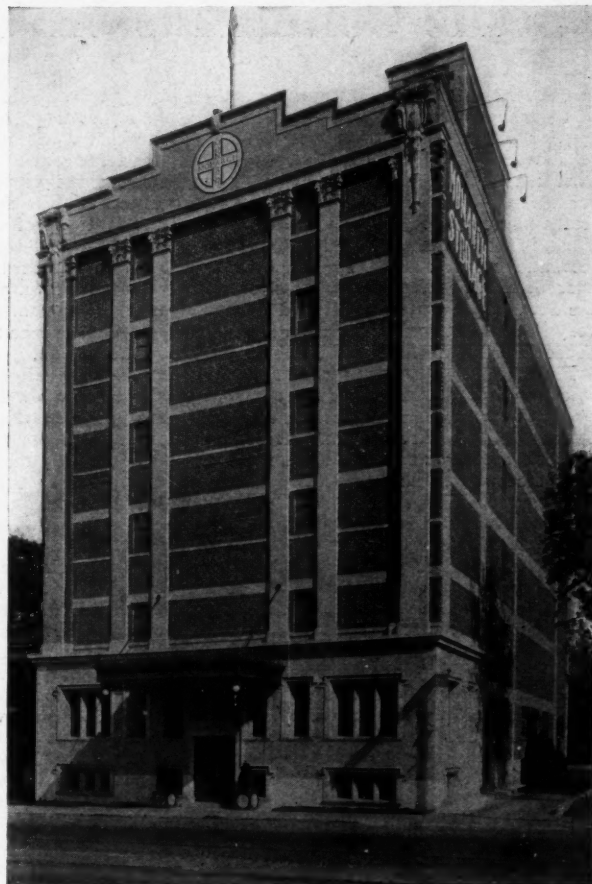

In the offices and the lobby the decorations are attractive, a great deal of handwork having been done, in addition to an ornamental design of stencil used.

Immediately opposite the front entrance to the lobby is the large vault, ten by twenty-two feet, with reinforced concrete walls twelve inches thick. The entrance to the vault is protected by a burglar-proof, polished steel door of latest design.

Warehouse offices include private office, general office, lobby and ladies' rest room. The piano room, neatly decorated, lies immediately to the rear of the offices and provides space for approximately 100 pianos. Behind the piano room is the dock, 25 by 35 feet; and facing this is the entrance to the freight elevator, ten by twenty feet, three-ton capacity, which travels eighty feet a minute.

Provision has also been made for a passenger elevator, with an entrance from the general office. A hot-air heating plant furnishes heat for the offices and the piano room and is considered entirely practical by the management.

The warehouse is of the flat-slab mushroom type and is constructed with round columns throughout. The structure has been kalsomined throughout with two colors—a wainscot height of green with gold above, and with the dividing line trimmed with red.

Some Comments on Overages and Shortages

EEDITOR, Distribution & Warehousing: The discussion on paper read at Pittsburgh convention of Shippers' Warehousing and Distributing Association on Overcharges and Shortages [see September issue] by John J. Sinnott, traffic manager F. F. Dalley Co. of New York, is the best I have read on this subject and the discussion by traffic managers and warehousemen who attended the Pittsburgh convention should appear very honest and reasonable from a warehouseman's point of view.

From my experience, the monthly stock reports showing balance on hand at beginning of month, receipts and deliveries and balance on hand according to book records and actual count, is a very nice way to make reports. Among many shippers for whom we carry stocks that supply a first class stock report are the Quaker Oats Co. and O. & W. Thum Co. We have handled the Quaker Oats Co.'s account ever since they have been in business and to my knowledge only had one small discrepancy in stock which we adjusted with them. We have handled the O. & W. Thum Co.'s account for upwards of fifteen years and we have yet to have our first discrepancy. This clean record, I believe, is due to the system of monthly stock reports these shippers insist on receiving from warehousemen.

I believe it would be in the interest of a warehouseman to supply his own monthly stock reports where a small shipper or broker does not supply them, because I cannot see where it is an advantage for a warehouseman to have an overage.

If a warehouseman has an overage, why is it? Does he know? If he does not know, then all the more reason he should remedy matters. He might be one case of corned beef over or one bale of raw silk short and not be able to trace the discrepancy if he does not follow a uniform practice of stock reports.

Giving credit of overages reported and charging shortage should be very acceptable by warehousemen.

I keep personal account of stock book records and my partner keeps close watch on the actual stock, being constantly on the job in the warehouse—which I believe also accounts for very few discrepancies in our actual stock from month to month.

I remember an instance where a grocery broker stored molasses for the account of his principals. He sold the balance of the stock of one size to a wholesale grocer. This was an odd size and there just happened to be a balance of four cases. Somehow these four cases disappeared and, appreciating the fact that the broker was entitled to a commission for the sale, we arranged that he was to invoice the molasses to the wholesaler and the wholesaler invoice it to us. We believe that this is the proper course the warehouseman should take, otherwise the shipper, broker and wholesaler would all be short a sale due to the warehouseman.

A warehouseman who is on the job should not allow food products that are constantly moving to depreciate with carriage and long term of storage, even if there does happen to be an overage of twenty cases. The first goods in should always be the first goods out and in this way, if the warehouseman leaves the twenty cases in the pile as he should, they will be turned over and replenished with fresh stock; consequently, when the matter of the overage is adjusted the twenty cases will leave warehouse in proper turn and be fresh stock.

A shipper stores in our warehouse twenty cars first patent flour of one brand when new wheat is starting to be milled. These twenty cars are stored, mind you, in one lot; supposing the twenty cars, composed of 16,000 sacks, are sold to various bakers and transferred on our books for their account and risk and the bakers take delivery as required. We of course did not separate it into different lots and on completion of lot we find we are over 100 sacks. What are we duty bound to do with the overage? Bear in mind, the bakers do not keep a proper receiving record and not one of them discovers a discrepancy, but we advised them of the overage. They inevitably would depend on our own delivery slips to check their receipts, and our deliveries are generally in 100 sacks to a load and if they lost a delivery slip naturally they would feel justly entitled to the overage, unless we could prove delivery. How many do you think would claim the 100 sacks? In our opinion we believe that this has nothing to do with the shipper as there would be four checks on count, one count of car and one count of flour by shipper and two by us on receipt of flour. We would hold delivery slips with signatures for the receipt of the 16,000 sacks of flour by the bakers, but owing to the loose way in which they conduct their business in regard to receiving goods we would feel satisfied that one baker was short 100 sacks or several short, say 10 sacks each.

Taking for granted that we were anxious that someone would get these 100 sacks and appreciating the fact that it was not our property, we would be between the devil and the deep sea. This has not actually happened—but it could, and what would you do?

Some one answer?—A. I. Land, the Glasgow Storage & Cartage Co., Hamilton, Canada.

STEAMSHIP RULES AID COAST WAREHOUSEMEN

EEDITOR, Distribution & Warehousing: I was discussing some steamship rules and there was one thing which I thought you might like to know about as being of interest to shippers.

There is in effect in the rules of the steamship lines operating from the Atlantic to Pacific Coast what is known as a "Three Ship Rule." It says that the carload rate on goods is applicable to shipments moving to one consignee on the Pacific Coast so long as there is sufficient amount on any three consecutive ships to make up the minimum carload weight.

For example: The minimum carload weight on soap is 36,000 lb. If we have that much soap we get the carload rate of 75 cents per c.w.t. The less than carload rate is $2 or more. Under this rule, supposing the steamship companies were sailing boats on the first and fifteenth of each month, we could ship 10,000 lb. of soap on the steamer leaving here Dec. 1, the Fels Co. could ship another 10,000 lb. on the steamer leaving Philadelphia the 15th of December, and the Kirkman Co. could ship a 16,000 lb. lot on the steamer leaving Jan. 1. So long as those shipments were all for one consignee and were on three consecutive steamships of the same line, the carload rate only would be assessed on the whole business.

This ruling was made effective because of a request made by wholesalers on the Pacific Coast. I understand it is now being fought very hard and may possibly be withdrawn, the wholesalers themselves being in favor of withdrawing it under the present circumstances. Meanwhile, does it not strike you that this is a mighty nice piece of information for warehouses located in Los Angeles, San Francisco, Portland or Seattle, in case they do not already know it?—A Shipper.

A SCANDAL

Two Bits is averse to printing details about petty quarrels in the industry but we must admit that we have learned that trouble has arisen between Charley Morris, prexy of the National Assoc'n, & W. H. Colrunne of the Roanoke (Va.) Storage Warehouse. Charley is a well-known Gotham storager & like as not he may be a candidate next June for prexy of the National again & we don't want to publish anything that might hurt his chances, but what are we going to do? We owe a duty to our readers & when we learn about a quarrel . . . well, we got to print it, that's all, regardless whom may be involved.

It seems the Virginia storager sent Charley and Ye Ed. each a puzzle to work on. Ye Ed. took it good naturedly & threw it in the wastebasket, we being busy trying to get Two Bits subscribers to renew subscription to Two Bits. But business was slack at Charley's warehouse & he sat down & tried to solve the puzzle. He couldn't do it & had to call in his office force. Finally, it seems, Charley got mad about it & wrote to W. H. C. in part as follows:

"Do not send any more puzzles during our busy season. Our office force, consisting of five clerks, lost five hours trying to solve the problem of making a perfect T. The writer feels it might be cheaper to buy a T, and confidentially the entire force has not yet solved the problem. For the love of Mike and also of our office organization send us no more puzzles.

"P. S. At the end of the sixth hour—puzzle is solved."

We bet that if Charley runs for National prexy next yr. he won't get W. H. C.'s vote. All W. H. C. was trying to do, so far as we can see, was to provide amusement, tho maybe he was trying to advertise his company's name, too, because the company's name was plastered all over the puzzle, but that was no reason why Charley should get mad about it.

WHAT THE MONKEY SAID

N. P. Stoughton of the Hassett Storage Co., Detroit, has sent Two Bits a communication which we don't know whether to get hot over it or not. N. P. sent in a subscription but in error our circulation dept. sent him back a letter telling him how good the magazine is, whereupon N. P. wrote us:

"I say, you know! We sent you two bally bones for a yr.'s subscription and we got back a letter telling us to read every article two or three times over, because each one would be worth the price of admission, in every issue we received, & that by so doing, in a very short time we would learn how to be warehousemen, & all that sort of thing, & then, by Jove, after raising our expectations to such heights, you don't send us any magazine. Besides, we gave you an ad., which the boss and the writer sat up nights to construct, & we have been anxious to take it home & show our wives, respective wives that is, as evidence of our genius. Of course, we got a proof, but what's a proof? As the monkey said when he picked up the cat—"

CARRIER HAS RIGHT TO RECOVER EXTRA CHARGES

LEGAL EDITOR, Distribution & Warehousing: On March 26, 1918, we made shipment of household goods, on order-notify bill of lading, marking shipment to our order, notify consignee, whom we shall here designate as A. We prepaid the freight on these goods as determined and inserted on the bill of lading by our local agent, in turn collecting the amount from A. Several months later, after A had removed from point of shipment and we were unable to locate him, the railroad agent sent us an additional prepaid freight bill of $25.34 to cover balance due on account of their error in figuring rate. Will we be forced to pay this? Central Storage Company, Clarksburg, W. Va.

Answer: Yes, a carrier may recover extra charges where it has charged too low a tariff. In fact it is obliged to do so by law. The case of L. & N. R. R. Co. vs. McMullen 5 Alabama, Appellate Ct. Reports, page 100, is a good case on this point and holds that under the Interstate Commerce Act the carrier must charge an equal rate to all or recover the balance due when a mistake is made or discrimination is shown.

ARRANGING FOR BOND

EDITOR, Distribution & Warehousing: We have been giving considerable thought to bonded warehouses lately, but as yet have not arranged for a bond. To be honest with you we are more or less ignorant of just how we ought to handle this matter. If we are not asking too much will you please give us some information as to what kind of a bond we should get, and through whom it could be secured, at the lowest possible cost. We felt you were in touch with matters of this kind, and could give us information that would meet our needs. M. S. & S. Co., Huntington, West Virginia.

Answer: You present quite a problem to us, as you do not state the character of your business. There are bonded warehouses for the storage of imports and there are bonded warehouses for the storage of spirits. The former are bonded under the U. S. Customs regulations, and the latter under the U. S. Internal Revenue regulations. As it is unlikely that you are doing either of these classes of business it seems unnecessary to describe the requirements of these regulations here.

Although some states, such as Illinois and Minnesota, require State bonding, so far as we have been able to ascertain your State does not require this. If you will give us a little better idea of what character of bond you have in mind, we will try to give you any information you may desire.

He is prepared to answer such inquiries for readers of Distribution & Warehousing and other publications of The Class Journal Co. The service costs you nothing.

Warehousing Receipts Act are as to the form of warehousing receipts? J. L. N., Syracuse, N. Y.

Answer: The Uniform Warehousing Receipts Act, Section three, provides:

It is declared: "Warehouse receipts need not be in any particular form but every such receipt must embody within its written or printed terms: (a) The location of the warehouse in which the goods are stored; (b) The date of the issue of the receipt; (c) The consecutive number of the receipts; (d) A statement whether the goods received will be delivered to the bearer, to a specified person, or to a specified person or his order; (e) The rate or storage charges; (f) A description of the goods or of the packages containing them; (g) The signature of the warehouseman, which may be made by his authorized agent; (h) If the receipt is issued for goods of which the warehouseman is owner, either solely or jointly or in common with others, the fact of such ownership; and (i) A statement of the amount of advances made and liabilities incurred for which the warehouseman claims a lien. If the precise amount of such advances made or of such liabilities incurred is, at the time of the issue of the receipt, unknown to the warehouseman or to his agent who issues it, a statement of the fact that advances have been made or liabilities incurred and the purpose thereof is sufficient. A warehouseman shall be liable to any person injured thereby for all damage caused by the omission from a negotiable receipt of any of the terms therein required.

WAR TAX PAYMENT

LEGAL EDITOR, Distribution & Warehousing: Can you kindly tell me whether we are under the obligations of paying a war tax on a shipment that we might make from San Francisco to New York, or on any other coastwise shipment, if the shipment were made by water? L. H. D. Boston, Mass.

Answer: Yes, you would have to pay the tax. (40 U. S. Stat. at L.) Act. of February 24, 1919. Section 500 provides that a tax equal to 3 per cent. of sums paid for the transportation, after April 1, 1919, by rail or water, or by any other form of mechanical motive power, when in competition with carriers by rail or water, must be levied, assessed and collected.

This section covers shipment of property or freight from one point within the United States to another point within the United States, and also property or freight shipped from a point without the United States to a point within the United States.

I am advised that such a tax is collectible.

CONTRACT VOID

THE Supreme Court of Washington, in the recent case of Brewster District Unit vs. Monroe, decided that a contract with a corporation which provided facilities for warehousing and loading fruit grown by defendant, but which mentioned no particular quantity of fruit, is void, for lack of mutuality, although it was partly performed. 200 Pacific Rep. page 841.

Discussion of

Fundamentals of Cost Finding in the Warehouse Industry*

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 1.

THE members of the Minnesota Warehousemen's Association at their October meeting had the benefit of counsel from a widely known cost accountant formerly engaged in warehousing—Ethan Allen Whitney, of Tuttle & Whitney, chartered accountants and engineers of Minneapolis.

Mr. Whitney was once identified with the firm of Dennis & Lovejoy, the junior partner of which was George S. Lovejoy, vice-president of the American Warehousemen's Association and manager of the general storage department of the Quincy Market Cold Storage & Warehouse Co., Boston. Dennis & Lovejoy was subsequently taken over by the Quincy company. Mr. Whitney said in part:

"AS I look back to my period of service in the warehouse business, I can recall that the warehouseman seemed to expect or hoped to receive from his storage income, enough to cover the multitude of other functions that were forced upon him, or that he was obliged to accept because of competition. I can recall many dialogues between Messrs. Dennis and Lovejoy with regard to rates, particularly when they knew that some large shipment of wool was to arrive in Boston and they of course desired to secure the business; and would get down to brass tacks and figure out how close they could shave their rate in order to get it. As I remember it, they had very little to guide them in the way of costs, because the matter of overhead in those days was given very little attention—in fact, I don't know that they were even aware there was such an animal as overhead. It was there, and they probably sensed it, but they didn't drag it out into the sunlight and take a good look at it. They would try to make storage costs cover part of the income they should have received for handling, and cut the handling charge as low as possible, particularly if they had even a tacit agreement that the merchandise might remain in storage a long time.

"Now it appears to me that the warehouseman should receive his storage rate free from any deduction for any other service, and that when he performs a service of any other nature than storage, that he should be paid for that service; that he should not penalize the storage income because of his desire to shave some other function he finds he has to perform. I think the trouble in those days in rate making was due to the fact that they didn't know—they weren't sure—there was always that element of doubt as to whether they could afford to take this shipment or that shipment at a certain price. They exercised their best judgment, got what they could out of experience had on previous shipments, and trusted to the Almighty to bring them out all right.

"Before I take up the question of overhead, which I understand is the main problem before this association, I would like to say something about your true or prime costs.

"Of course I am quite unaware, not having come in contact with your business before, just how you are handling your prime costs and how you are handling your overhead—whether you are handling it or whether it is handling you, I don't know; but the storage end of the business and the handling end are two separate and distinct functions. The handling end also is further divided sometimes into what they call back east 'inside handling'—from the sill in and out, and car service. In the case of household goods warehousemen, they have the additional truck service. I believe it is generally accepted that storage costs by themselves comprise such charges as accrue to the space used for storage whether or no the commodities are in motion. Anything that has to do with the moving or the handling in any way of commodities stored is recognized as a handling charge. The storage charges, then, it would seem, would be such as would continue whether or not you received or delivered any commodity, of course assuming that you have at some time received some commodity and it is in the warehouse. There would then be what we accountants term fixed charges on certain portions of your investment. They would consist, if you own your storage property, of interest on your buildings and the land on which they stand, interest on the money invested—and while I mention that, I might also say that there are many who do not agree with that theory, that interest on the investment should be included in costs. There has been much controversy on that subject among accountants themselves—it is rather evenly divided. Personally, I think it is right that before you arrive at your net profit, you should have included in your costs, interest on the money invested in your plant and equipment. You are entitled to it. It is invested there. If you had it invested anywhere else, you would certainly get it, and you are entitled to a return on that investment over and above the profit which is subject to the hazards of business. Then there is depreciation of your buildings, your repairs to your buildings, certain services which you pay to have performed which is performed whether or not you do any handling, such as watchman's service; taxes on your buildings, and fire insurance on your buildings. You are entitled also, in my opinion—another mooted question—to interest on the amount of working capital you may have tied up in your storage business. These, I believe, cover most of the items that enter into your storage costs.

"Then you have your handling costs, the largest item of which is your productive labor. You have your liability insurance on your workmen; you have, if you wish to accept the theory of interest on the investment, interest on the money invested in handling equipment which should not be included in land and buildings; repairs to those; depreciation of them; also the matter of taxes on such personal property, and the matter of interest on working capital necessary to carry the handling account; repairs to handling equipment; power, light and heat. The matter of heat doesn't always enter in—in the household goods part of the business it does; power and light are necessary for handling though not for storage. Those are generally considered as handling costs. Of those, your productive labor is your prime cost. The others are overhead items. If you want to separate those into inside handling and outside handling costs, that can be done.

"There is one interesting thing in connection with the warehouse business, from an accountant's standpoint, never found to apply in any other line of endeavor, and that is the acceptance of certain items as direct storage costs which we ordinarily consider as overhead. If you did not consider those as your storage costs, you would have no storage costs at all—you can call them what you wish, storage overhead if you want to, but they comprise your storage costs."

Mr. Whitney then went into detail as to the accountant's method or scientific way to handle the "unused space" as regards storage costs; but he admitted the practical application of it would be very difficult.

He said further, "The question of overhead is one that you cannot escape. It is with you yesterday, to-day and to-morrow; and like death and taxes, is unavoidable. Many business men dodge it, refuse to recognize it, or call it by some other name, and still more of them are willing to stake their reputations that they can guess within 1 or 2 per cent of what their overhead is without ever having developed it. I will say they cannot."

In illustration of this statement, Mr. Whitney told of a cost report his company had made recently to a Minneapolis manufacturing concern in which the executives received surprising information as to overhead costs, including the cost to them per day if they should close down the plant and not turn a wheel, which convinced them that was the most expensive thing they could do. From the figures presented them for their guidance, they can tell almost to a unit what volume of business they must produce in order to earn their burden. Continuing, Mr. Whitney said:

"When an executive has figures like that, he knows what he is doing. If he wants to cut prices, he knows how far he can cut them. If competition forces him into a price cutting war, he knows how far he can go and sit in, and knows when to drop out; he is fore-armed and fore-warned. To do business without such a guide is just as dangerous as trying to navigate a ship without a compass or quadrant.

"Such things are not brought about by any mysterious or occult thing at all—simply the application of certain fundamental principles with an admixture of common sense; and the accountant and the engineer are able to do this because that is their life work—they are trained in it, just as you are trained in the warehousing business; they live it, eat it, dream it, understand it. So I say that every warehouseman has the right to that information every month—not once a year but every month, and he can have it if he will. It isn't as serious a proposition or as expensive a proposition as some of you might think.

"The word 'system' is a much abused term. I use it as little as possible for that reason, because it has been abused; and along with it is another word—'efficiency'—it certainly has been booted around. The average business man who has not had experience with scientific development and application of his burden, the proper segregation of his costs, is inclined to think that anyone who attempts to foist upon him such a system is always accompanied with a 5-ton truck of multicolored forms, ruled this way and that way. Unfortunately, this has been the case in many instances. When he hears the word 'system' mentioned, the first thing he visions is a card of this size and a sheet of that size, and a million of those things. The next things he sees is his office force trying gone on the rocks after a very thorough installation simply because of the short sightedness of the executives who will not put competent men or women in charge to operate it. These systems will not run themselves—I have never yet seen one that would. If you can save the salary of the person who keeps the records every month, you are well paid, because you have in addition all the information you ought to have.

"Some businesses require a more complex system because their functions, activities and requirements are more complex than others. It is simply a matter of making it to order, to fit the requirements of the business. So, in the case of warehousing, there will be all kinds of conditions to meet. There will probably be some cases where all of the complexities will be found—a few such instances; others in which few of them will be found; but the same principles apply to all.

"Now, if you as members of this association have agreed among yourselves as to what constitutes your prime costs—I do not know whether you have or not, but assuming that you are all following the same standard, recognizing the same factors as prime costs in storage and handling, then you have only to come to an agreement with regard to the burden factors—the overhead, what constitutes burden and how these would be applied. I dare say that no two warehouses in the State are handling the same items in the same way; they may agree in a few of them but not all of them; and so, until you do, comparison of statistics among yourselves will be of little benefit; because one man will be talking about one thing which comprises certain factors, and another man will say his factors make a better showing and he may have eliminated certain factors from his result which the first man included. So, until you all get on common ground, the results will not be comparable; and it is in the efforts of uniformity that all this discussion has been had, both here and in the East among the warehousemen.

"Our idea of the proper method of arriving at the desired end is an industrial survey. That is something that can be best accomplished, in my opinion, by one outside of the organization, one entirely neutral, for obvious reasons; aside from any knowledge that such a person might possess with regard to the proper way of handling such items from an accounting standpoint. Such a survey would bring together in statistical form for your consideration, the manner in which these items of overhead are being considered and handled by every member; would compare those that are comparable and show the variances where no comparisons are possible. It would not be necessary even to use figures at all in such a compilation for the purpose of a survey report. It would be necessary only to report, first, our recommendations as to what items should be included in overhead, how these should be handled and then information as to how they are being handled by each member without any names being given, but a key letter or number. Each member would have a

COST ACCOUNTING

A CLEAR exposition, for the storage executive, of cost finding is given in this talk by E. A. Whitney, a Minneapolis accountant with warehousing experience, before the Minnesota Warehousemen's Association. Regarding overhead, Mr. Whitney comments:

"The question of overhead is one that you cannot escape. It is with you yesterday, today and to-morrow; and like death and taxes, is unavoidable. Many business men dodge it, refuse to recognize it, or call it by some other name, and still more of them are willing to stake their reputations that they can guess within one or two per cent of what their overhead is without ever having developed it. I will say they cannot."

to puzzle the whole thing out, and finally ditching it all.

"Any system to be workable, to be practicable, to be worth spending a moment's time or a penny on, must be based on fundamental principles, sound principles; must be applicable to the business to which it is designed. There is no such thing as taking a system designed for a drygoods store and putting it into a foundry. It has been done, but you cannot make it fit. It is required, in order to give you service, that it fit your particular needs and nothing else; not somebody else's needs or the needs of some other kind of business; but that it gives you the information that you should have in order to intelligently operate your business, and that with a minimum of clerical effort.

"In that connection, however, a business man will often err on the other side, by desiring all such information as he should have without making any effort to secure it. It can't be done. If the information that you want is worth having, it is worth paying for; and I am not referring to the installation of it but to the operation of it. Many a good cost accounting, and general accounting system too, for that matter, has knowledge of his own key number and none other. That would enable us to find out where the greatest variances exist, and to bring about a correction of that.

"There would come a time when some of you would have to give in on some of your points—if there is a wide variation of opinion on one point, you couldn't all be right—and get together on those questions on which there are greatest variances; those on which there was little variation could be easily brought into line. Such a survey could be made in a comparatively brief period of time, depending upon the number of offices to be served. That survey report would be in the nature of a diagnosis, a report on a diagnosis, because a survey is nothing more or less than that, telling what the ailments are and offering a remedy for each one. There is absolutely no use in criticizing unless the one who criticizes can offer constructive criticism. That report would then be up for the consideration of the association. Many differences probably could be eliminated before the report was issued; and having come to an agreement as to how you were to handle certain items, they would all then be so handled, provided you kept your word.

"It is a temptation in all offices to be a little bit lax about accounting. It is a pest anyhow—but you will all recognize that it is for your individual advantage to attain a uniform method of developing and applying overhead, and then adhere to it; and once you have done so, you will have the advantage of being able to compare your costs then with those of the other members. In that connection, it seems to me that a comparison of costs among the members of the Minnesota Warehousemen's Association would be of greater value to them than a comparison of their costs with those of eastern warehousemen. Here you are all in the same locality, where labor conditions cannot vary very much as between your different warehouses. Other factors being equal, you have then the advantage of knowing whether or not your particular warehouse is being operated as efficiently as some other warehouse in the same locality under similar conditions."

The Ford Proposal for a Southwest Association

THE paper which follows, suggesting the organizing of a Southwest Warehousemen's Association by storage companies in Oklahoma, Arkansas, Louisiana and Texas, was read by W. I. Ford, of Dallas, president of the Texas Warehouse and Transfer Men's Association, at the Texas association's third annual convention at Fort Worth in September. The subject will be brought up again at the semi-annual meeting in January, with action to depend probably on what is done at the St. Louis conventions of the American Warehousemen's Association and Central Warehousemen's Club, in December, in the way of laying plans for a national warehousing federation.

Mr. Ford said:

THE warehousemen of Oklahoma, Arkansas, Louisiana and Texas, outside of the ports of Louisiana and Texas, are confronted with, practically, the same conditions; that is, as to customers, operation, practice, price, etc. The cost of operation in this territory to all the warehousemen is practically the same, and the rules and practices ought to be similar; in other words, uniformity in our business will lessen the cost to our customer, and increase the profit to ourselves. This end certainly is highly desirable.

"Another matter which moves me to make this suggestion is that so many different warehouse associations have sprung up in the country, notably, now, the American Warehouse Association, the Central Warehousemen's Club, the National Furniture Warehousemen's Association, and our own Texas Warehouse and Transfer Men's Association. These four, every man in this room is vitally interested in what they do. For myself, I have been a consistent 'joiner.' I have joined all these Associations, and, with one exception, have attended all their sessions, wherever held, within the past four years. I have missed one meeting of the Central at Chicago, and, by the way, it was one of the most interesting, illustrating the value of attending the meetings, and the loss when one fails to do so. There being so many different associations in which we are all vitally interested and the time and expense required to attend all of these meetings have become so heavy that it has occurred to me, along with others, that if some federated plan of warehouse organizations could be developed, it would certainly prove of value to the entire warehouse industry.

"It is not my purpose in this paper to outline a plan for such federated organization, but merely to suggest the thought to you members of the Texas association so that our heads may be put together at a later date, with a view of offering something practical or joining in some practical plan of federation of warehouse organizations when the same may be offered to us.

"As a stepping stone in that direction, coupling my first proposition with the second one, it had occurred to me that it would be proper, at this meeting, to advance the thought of a Southwest Warehouse Association, which when organized would be federated with a central body, which would be national in its scope, and with which central body other associations, such as the Pacific Coast, the Central Club, a Southeast association and an Eastern association might be federated and affiliated. As the matter now stands, the A. W. A. meets once a year in December, the C. W. C. meets twice a year, in the Winter and in the Spring, without fixed date, subject to call of the executive committees. The National Furniture Warehousemen's Association meets twice a year, in the future, in June and in January, according to its by-laws; and our own Texas association meets twice a year, in August and in January. It will, therefore, be seen that there are seven association meetings that each of us Texas Warehousemen are interested in; and any of which, to miss is at a distinct loss to each of us.

"Outside of Texas meetings, it can safely be stated that a week's time is required away from one's business to attend the other association's meetings. There being five of these outside of our own Texas meetings, it will be observed that to attend each of the sessions would take five weeks from one's business. The two meetings at home can be charged with another week. Thus, it will be seen that six weeks' time out of each year is required to attend these meetings. Railroad fares are so high and sleeper rates are so excessive, as well as hotel charges, that it has become an expensive item to attend all of these meetings; and, yet, one can ill afford to miss any of them. I have stated before, and can truthfully state now, that I have not attended any meeting where I did not feel fully repaid.

"I have no definite plan, as stated, for the federated warehouse organization, yet I believe that a Southwest association would be a step in the right direction; and, hence, my advocacy of it."

Cartage Base Rate Table

And How It Operates

By MELVIN BEKINS

Manager, Bekins Omaha Van and Storage, Omaha, Neb.

TO those of you who have studied and understand the merchandise storage base rate table* published by the Central Warehousemen's Club this cartage base rate table will be merely a corollary, for the basic principles of both are identical; that is, there is an equilibrium established between cubic content and weight. It is built to conform also to the same package rates as is the merchandise table, since the warehousemen in the Central West have found this system best adapted to their storage problems.

The equilibrium of this table was taken from a study of the sizes of the cubic foot loads and weight capacities of several motor trucks—the averages of different makes of motor vehicles being used. The schedule of this follows (next column)

On this basis the equilibrium would be 161.6 cu. ft. to 1 ton. Taking into the considerations the feature of overloading, we have allowed for about 12 1/2 per cent loss; this would reduce the cubic feet to 140, to balance with 1 ton.

Following this study of equilibrium through to a logical conclusion, we find these facts:

(1)	14 2/7	lbs. balances with	1 cu. ft. or 1,728 cu. in.
or (2)	100	lbs. balances with	7 cu. ft. or 12,096 cu. in.
or (3)	1	ton balances with	140 cu. ft.
	2	ton balances with	280 cu. ft.
	3 1/2	ton balances with	490 cu. ft.
	5	ton balances with	700 cu. ft.

Now that you see how the principles of the table were established, let us construct the table. Begin with the 4c. column in Table No. 1. This column is figured with the basic principles of the table in mind. To determine what weight and cubic space one can give for the pennies set opposite these figures, with 4c. a hundred lbs., or 12,096 cu. in., as a starting point, follow down the 4c. column till you find the "x." Then see the rate column.

For 4c. as a package rate you can haul 100 lbs. or 12,096 cu. in. One-half a cent is 1/2 of 4c., so divide 12,096 cu. in. by 8, which is 1,512 cu. in.; then divide 100 lbs. by 8 and you get 12 1/2 lbs. (we use 13 to keep whole numbers). Then for 1/2c. as a package rate you can haul 13 lbs., or 1,512 cu. in.

Each intermediate step is proportional to the starting point of this column; that is, 4c. for 100 lbs. or 12,096 cu. in.

This is the manner in which the columns are constructed, built to conform to the package rate with different starting points, namely 5c., 6c., 7c., 8c., 9c., 10c., etc., for 12,096 cu. in. or 100 lbs.

There has been added to this Table No. 1 another table, No. 2, based on the same equilibrium of 140 cu. ft. to the ton, which is constructed to apply to distribution work of carlots, not using the size and weights of the individual packages.

To illustrate the use of the two tables, take the two following articles as examples:

Wash Machines

Size		Wt.	Cartage
26" x 28" x 40"	29,120 cu. in.	105	18¢
27" x 28" x 39"	29,484 cu. in.	125	18¢
25" x 25" x 29"	18,125 cu. in.	86	12¢

Operating under 7c. base, please refer to Table No. 1 and run down the cu. in. column until we reach the figure next above the cu. in. of the commodity and we find the cartage rate for 29,120 cu. in. to be 18c.; 18,125 cu. in., 12c.

Electric Light Bulbs

Size	Cartons:	Wt.	Cartage
14 1/2" x 18" x 19"	4,959 cu. in.	12	3¢
Boxes: (Porcelain Light Sockets)
16" x 19" x 28 1/2"	8,664 cu. in.	116	9¢

In the bulbs the cubic governs, whereas in the sockets the weight governs.

For carlots on pool car distribution and not using the dimensions or weights of packages, the cu. ft. Table No. 2 may be of assistance to the distributor. (The average 34 ft. box car contains approximately 2000 cu. ft.; 40-ft. box car 3000; and 50-ft. furniture or auto car, 4000.)

Example: 40-ft. car wash machines, weight 12,500 lbs., using Table No. 2 in the same manner as on packages, follow down the cu. ft. column to 3080, since the cubic is greater than the weight; and, applying the 7c. rate, we find we should have $30.80

MR. SHIPPER

THE cartage base rate table described on these pages was prepared as a service to traffic managers as well as a guide to warehousemen. The warehouseman believes you have the right to know how much it is going to cost you to deliver your commodity from factory to retailer. You know what your freight rate is from factory to warehouse, and the warehouseman tells you what the storage charge is to be. This cartage base rate table makes it possible for the warehouseman to tell you what the cost of delivery is by motor truck from warehouse to retailer, or from depot to retailer.

By giving you this knowledge in advance, the warehouseman facilitates your estimating in placing a selling price on your commodity.

Porcelain Light Sockets, 34 ft. car, weight 40,000 lbs. On this commodity, we find the weight greater than the bulk, in which case the rate would be $28.

After you have determined the rate under which you should operate in order to pay all the expenses of truck operation and overhead, do not neglect to take into consideration mileage zones and minimum charges.

Quotations on Electric Light Bulbs might be as follows:

SUPPLYING threads to mend holes in the fabric of industrial depression is good business. They must be threads of optimism, good cheer, sunshine and hard work.

One of the optimism threads is supplied by John Moriarty, president of the Waterbury Storage Co., Waterbury, Conn. Read the text of the accompanying illustration, which shows a card which Mr. Moriarty is distributing widely.

If you're in the business dumps—or think you are—imbue yourself with the faith of Abraham Lincoln.

Depression can't continue long in America. A nation which produced Abraham Lincoln—and his faith and persistence—is too big for that!

Cartage:

3¢ per carton 1 mi. zone minimum 35¢ per shipment or delivery
4¢ per carton 2 mi. zone minimum 50¢ per shipment or delivery
5¢ per carton 3 mi. zone minimum 75¢ per shipment or delivery
6¢ per carton 4 mi. zone minimum $1.00 per shipment or delivery

This is arrived at by increasing 2c. (2 columns on the table) per hundred lbs. for each additional mile zone.

Now sharpen your pencils and practise a little on this table by applying it to your own cartage department and then let's have your comments.

Reasons Why we Should All be Optimists

CHEER UP—When Abraham Lincoln was a young man he ran for the Legislature in Illinois, and was badly swamped.

He next entered business, failed, and spent seventeen years of his life paying up the debts of a worthless partner.

He was in love with a beautiful young woman, to whom he became engaged—then she died.

Later he married a woman who was a constant burden to him.

Entering politics again, he ran for Congress and was badly beaten.

He then tried to get an appointment to the U. S. Land Office, but failed.

In 1856 he became a candidate for the Vice-Presidency and was again defeated.

In 1858 he was defeated by Douglas.

One failure after another—bad failures, great setbacks. In the face of all this he eventually became one of the country's greatest men, if not the greatest.

When you think of a series of setbacks like this, doesn't it make you feel small to become discouraged just because you think you are having a hard time in life?

ST. LOUIS CONVENTION TO BE WORLD'S LARGEST

American, Central and Chain Members to Assemble; Missourians Will Form State Association

"THE largest warehouse convention in the history of the world is to be held in St. Louis during the week of Dec. 5."

Brave words! A study of the program of what is to take place in the Missouri city from Dec. 5 to 10 indicates they are true words. They are quoted from a notice sent out by L. L. Leonard, president pro tem of the Missouri Warehousemen's Association, announcing to storage companies of his State that a permanent organization is to be effected on the nights of Dec. 6 and 7.

Four bodies of the industry will assemble during convention week—the American Warehousemen's Association, the Central Warehousemen's Club, the Missouri Warehousemen's Association and the American Chain of Warehouses. In addition, the Shippers' Warehousing and Distributing Association, comprising traffic executives of manufacturing companies which distribute through warehouses, will be represented by officers and legislative committee members at conference sessions attended by shippers and warehousemen.

To men familiar with the history of warehousing conventions, Mr. Leonard's forecast does not convey exaggeration.

The week will be more than big. It will be important, perhaps the most important in the history of the industry. It will be the first time the two major merchandise organizations, the A. W. A. and C. W. C., have met jointly. If the plans of some of the leaders go through, the preparatory work will be done looking toward the organizing of a warehousing federation which would be national in every sense of the word. It is perhaps well not to be too optimistic regarding the federation, however. In time it will materialize. If the St. Louis conventions can lay the basis for it in some definite way, a great step forward will have been taken toward promoting progress for the storage industry. If the A. W. A. and C. W. C. succeed in going beyond that point while at St. Louis, supporters of the movement will be agreeably surprised. In other words, it is not expected that the proposed federation will be formally organized during the week of Dec. 5. But plans will be discussed which may reach fruition in another year or two.

The importance of the subjects to be discussed may be judged by studying the program. Briefly, they include the following:

Warehouse receipts, insurance, shipping and distribution, organization of a traffic bureau for the A. W. A., railroad terminal and pier storage, warehousing and distribution of cereals, taxation of warehoused goods, Central Bureau activities, cost finding, broadening of cold storage service, uniform methods, the household goods warehouse in connection with city planning, consolidating household goods shipments.

At the banquet to be held on the night of Dec. 8 the speakers will include Herbert Corey, newspaper correspondent, nationally known, who was with the armies in Europe during the war. Speakers on various parts of the convention program include Thomas B. Paton, general counsel for the American Bankers' Association, who will discuss "The Warehouse Receipt and Its Negotiability"; C. Francis, chairman of the cereal division of the American Specialty Manufacturers' Association, who will talk on "Warehousing and Distribution of Cereals," and C. G. Yates, traffic manager of the Vick Chemical Co., Greensboro, N. C., and chairman of the legislative committee of the Shippers' Warehousing and Distributing Association, who will discuss "Taxation of Warehoused Goods." The week's tentative schedule follows:

Dec. 5—American Chain of Warehouses. Dec. 6—Business meeting of C. W. C. "Get-together" meeting of Missouri Warehousemen's Association in the evening. Dec. 7—Business meeting of

A. W. A. Organization of Missouri association, including election of officers, in the evening. Dec. 8—Separate meetings of merchandise, household goods and cold storage sections of A. W. A. and C. W. C. Banquet in the evening. Dec. 9—Continuation of separate meetings of three branches. Theater party in the evening with St. Louis warehousemen as hosts. Dec. 10—Joint meetings of merchandise, household goods and cold storage subdivisions.

Canadian Exhibit at Chicago

WINNIPEG, CAN., Nov. 14—I. M. Winslow, president and managing director of the Security Storage & Warehouse Co., and widely known in the industry in the United States as well as Canada, will exhibit his horses and vehicles at the International Live Stock Exposition at Chicago from Nov. 26 to Dec. 3.

The exhibit is being financed entirely by the Manitoba Government as a business proposition, Mr. Winslow having previously been successful in conducting similar exhibits in the United States.

Associati-mortis expedited by use of the following lethal doses

1. Don't come to the Convention.
2. But if you do come, come late to the meetings.
3. If the weather doesn't suit you, don't think of coming.
4. If you do attend a meeting, find fault with the work of the officers and other members.
5. Never accept an office, as it is easier to criticize than to do things.
6. Nevertheless, get sore if you are not appointed on a committee: but if you are, do not attend committee meetings.
7. Knock the program. Show as little interest as possible in what is being discussed and do not take part in the discussion.
8. If asked by the chairman to give your opinion regarding some important matter, tell him you have nothing to say. After the meeting tell the world how things ought to be done.
9. Do nothing more than is absolutely necessary; but when other members roll up their sleeves and willingly, unselfishly use their ability to help matters along, howl that the association is run by a clique.
10. Hold back your dues as long as possible or don't pay at all.
11. Don't bother about getting new members. Let the Secretary do it or when the membership committee appeals to you for aid, don't answer their letters but throw them in the waste basket.
12. When a banquet is given, tell the world money is being wasted on blowouts which make a big noise and accomplish nothing.
13. When no banquets are given, say the association is dead and needs a can tied to it.
14. Don't ask for a banquet ticket until all are sold.
15. Then swear you've been cheated out of yours.
16. If you do get a ticket, don't pay for it.
17. If asked to sit at the speaker's table, modestly refuse.
18. If you are not asked, resign from the association.
19. If you don't receive a bill for your dues, don't pay.
20. If you receive a bill after you've paid, resign from the association.
21. Don't tell the association how it can help you; but if it doesn't help you, resign.
22. If you receive a service without joining, don't think of joining.
23. If the association doesn't correct abuses in your neighbor's business, howl that nothing is done.
24. If it calls attention to abuses in your own, resign from the association.
25. Keep your eyes open for something wrong and when you find it, resign.
26. At every opportunity threaten to resign and then get your friends to resign.
27. When you attend a meeting, vote to do something and then go home and do the opposite.
28. Agree to everything said at the meeting and disagree with it outside.
29. When asked for information, don't give it.
30. Knock the association for the incompleteness of its information.
31. Get all the association gives you but don't give it anything.
32. Talk co-operation for the other fellow with you; but never co-operate with him.
33. When everything else fails, cuss the Secretary.

TRUCK COMPETITION IS REDUCING RAIL RATES

Recent I. C. C. Decisions Show That Carriers Are Being Forced to Quote Lower Tariffs

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 1—Competition by automobile trucks has forced railroads to lower freight rates in cases where every other argument has failed. A study of recent decisions by the Interstate Commerce Commission by a representative of Distribution & Warehousing showed that the cost of hauling by truck has decreased, while the rail carriers are finding it difficult to bring about economies essential to rate reductions. The fact that several short line railroads have suspended operations owing to truck competition is a disturbing factor in the present agitation for cuts in freight rates. There has been some talk of regulation of motor trucks by the Federal Government but there are few who anticipate such action. It is believed Federal regulation would find little favor in Congress at this time. Some traffic experts insist that laws regulating rail carriers would not be applicable to trucks.

As to the effects of truck competition, the records show that there have been numerous instances where rates on commodities have been reduced on the request of rail carriers. Lincoln Green, vice-president of the Southern Railroad, very frankly admits that competition of trucks forces the lines to reduce their freight rates. He said:

"Our purpose in making these reductions in short-haul rates on cotton was primarily to meet truck and wagon competition not merely within the short radius of the consuming center, but for longer distances to which truck service has been extended, not merely taking cotton away from us at actual railway shipping points, but engaging in the transportation of other commodities in both directions.

"The matter has been under consideration for more than twelve months and our action is now taken in the belief that it is in the interest of the conservation of our revenues. Whether the proposed rates will actually enable us to meet the competition and continue to control a share of the traffic is a matter of experiment."

Hauling Costs Lower

Just how it is possible for trucks to quote lower rates for the transportation of commodities has been illustrated by R. A. Brand, vice-president of the Atlantic Coast Line. He declared that the cost of hauling by truck is naturally on the decrease since wages, gasoline, trucks and parts thereof, are declining in price. In discussing conditions in a territory surveyed by the Charleston & Western North Carolina Railway of the Southern System, Mr. Brand said:

"It fairly may be assumed that the trucks are going to handle a certain amount of cotton in the Carolinas regardless of railroad freight rates, just as they are now doing as to freight traffic of all kinds as well as passenger traffic in sections along our lines traversed by improved highways. Trucks make warehouse delivery, which is of value, particularly as to small lots of cotton, since drayage is avoided. A reduction in their rates may turn to the railroads some cotton now hauled by trucks, but the revenue derived from this additional cotton will not, as demonstrated by actual tests, already made for our line, affect the loss of revenue on cotton to interior mills alone.

"I do not believe that the interests of southern cotton mills are adversely affected by the existing adjustment, nor that the producers of cotton will be benefited one iota by the reduction. A reduction in cotton rates will be an incentive to State Commissions to bring about reductions in rates on other commodities, and will also be an invitation to shippers of other commodities to press for a general reduction in their rates."

The Atlantic Coast Line recently filed a petition pointing out that owing to competition, reduction in rates on cotton and cotton linters in the Carolina territory will have to be made in Georgia, Florida and Alabama, with the probability of the reductions extended clear into Texas. These statements indicate that the extension of highway systems throughout the South is the one great factor in motor truck transportation. The railroads knowing that competition by motor trucks lessened on long hauls proposed to reduce the short haul and increase the long haul rates but the South Carolina Commission would not permit this action.

It is interesting to note that the railroads, especially the Atlantic Coast Line, believe believe truck competition can be successfully maintained only in cases in which the haul is not more than fifty miles, and then only in territories in which there are good roads.

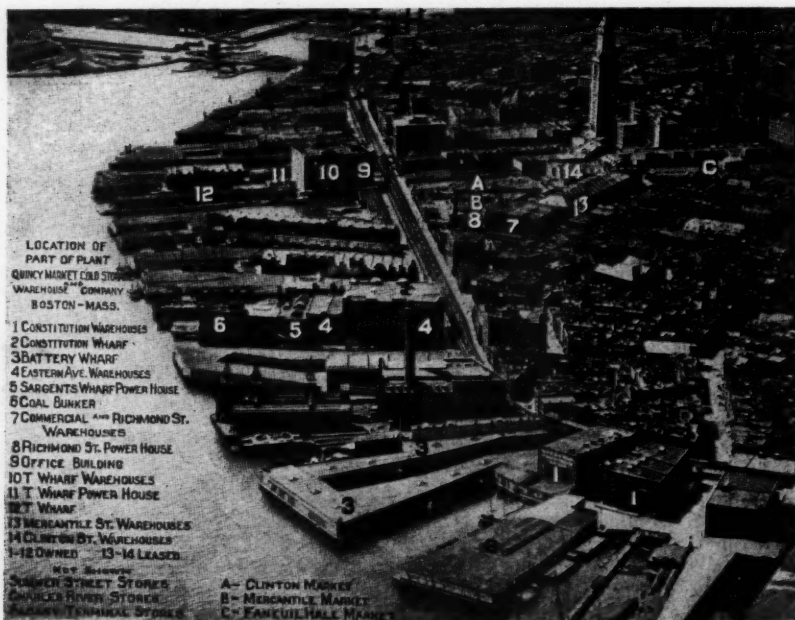

Trucks Regulate Rates

There are many other commodities affected by motor truck transportation. Refineries have saved large sums by having their products hauled by motor trucks. This fact is made clear by the application of the San Antonio Southern Railroads and the Texas & Pacific Railways asking permission of the Interstate Commerce Commission to reduce rates. The San Antonio Southern represented to the Commission that a refinery at Somerset, Texas, contemplated hauling their gasoline products to San Antonio at an estimated cost of nine-tenths of a cent per gallon. There are several other cases pending in which the truck is the rate-making factor.

BATON ROUGE, LA., Nov. 1—A graduated license tax on tonnage, plus a flat rate of 68 cents per horsepower on trucks has been agreed upon by a committee of the Louisiana Legislature. The license tax has been graduated as follows.

	Per Thousand

ADVERTISING THROUGH INDUSTRIAL EXHIBIT

David Co.'s Unique Booth at Chicago Exposition Proves Successful as a Publicity Medium

WITH the thought that very few persons had ever seen the inside of a modern household goods plant, the David Fireproof Storage Warehouses, Chicago, recently installed an exhibit at the Uptown exposition, conducted in the interest of the merchants of what is known as "Uptown Chicago," comprising a large portion of that city's North Side district. An illustration of this unique and interesting publicity display is shown herewith.

"It occurred to us," according to S. S. Davis, treasurer of the company, "that comparatively few persons had seen the inside of a storage warehouse or had any idea as to how goods were piled, particularly the compactness of a storage lot and the small space required.

"This suggested the idea of showing a complete storage lot in the booth, and the entire exhibit was thereupon built upon this idea. The booth proved quite a success, attracting great attention from the visitors, and also succeeded in being among the few exhibitions specifically mentioned in the newspaper articles on the exposition.

"The little signs shown in the booth are all illuminated. They were collected for this purpose from our four warehouses, we having two such in each warehouse. The sign at the top is composed of movable letters, rented for the occasion from a local company.

"The arrangement of the booth entailed no great cost upon us, and we considered that the advertising value which we obtained was very high in proportion to the outlay. It was a good 'boost' also for storage generally, as the exposition was visited by more than 125,000 people during the five-day run.

"We heard so much comment about our exhibition of a complete storage lot that we are intending to show this lot upon the first floor of each of our warehouses in turn, where it can be viewed through the front windows, and we believe this display will be highly advantageous to us."

Honolulu Company to Expand Under New Ownership

HONOLULU, Oct. 15—Honolulu's oldest storage concern, the City Transfer Co., has passed into new ownership, H. J. Ancill and D. M. Moncrief having purchased warehouses and office and general equipment for $12,500. Mr. Ancill was formerly with the company for five years, later becoming superintendent of the Honolulu Construction and Draying Co. Under the new ownership the warehouse and service will be expanded. The business has grown from a one horse and wagon company into an organization which operates a fleet of motor trucks since its founding by the late James H. Love.

Thousands of persons who attended Chicago Exposition learned how a household goods warehouse stores goods

HOOVER OUTLINES PLANS TO BUSINESS EDITORS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28—Plans of the Department of Commerce to increase its usefulness to American business were outlined to-day by Secretary of Commerce Hoover and Dr. Klein, head of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, at a conference of these officials with members of the National Conference of Business Paper Editors, of which Distribution & Warehousing is a member.

Forty-six business paper men, including a number of publishers, spent several hours in conference with Mr. Hoover and his commercial assistant and also with Fred M. Feiker, assistant to the secretary. Discussion centered on two publications of the department, Commerce Reports and Survey of Current Business.

Commerce Reports, which formerly contained reports from United States consuls and commercial attachés in various parts of the world, is being steadily improved in its usefulness to American business by getting better field reports from the department representatives abroad and by technically editing these reports when they are received.

Survey of Current Business, which has been coming out monthly with indexed tables of conditions in various business and industrial lines, is to be given more of an editorial than a statistical character from now on except that each third issue will carry for a quarterly period the statistical information previously carried every month.

The editors made a number of suggestions for improving both Commerce Reports and Survey of Current Business and Mr. Hoover and his assistants agreed to carry them out.

Secretary Hoover gave some interesting information about the activities of the commodity chiefs of the department appointed under the new Administration to study American industrial and commercial conditions and co-operate with industrial and commercial leaders in improving them. These commodity chiefs are spending fully half their time in the field conferring with and assisting industrial and commercial leaders.

As an evidence of the demand for assistance from the Government in directing individual business affairs, Mr. Hoover said that trade inquiries are now averaging 1000 a day.

Outside of departmental matters, Secretary Hoover discussed with the editors the Conference on Limitation of Armaments and general economic conditions in this country and abroad. The discussion, which was participated in by many of those present, developed an encouraging outlook on the immediate future.

Boston Companies Trustees

BOSTON, Nov. 10—The Market Warehouse Co. and the Quincy Market Cold Storage Warehouse Co. are named as trustees in the case where a suit for $350,000 has been brought by Cecil Q. Adams of Wellesley against a firm in Australia for shipments of leather made by a Boston leather company, which has assigned its claim to the plaintiff.

Transportation Convention

GRAND RAPIDS, MICH., Nov. 14—The Michigan Highway Transportation Association will hold a convention here on Dec. 13 and 14. The principal address will be made by F. D. Campau, general counsel for both the Shippers' Warehousing and Distributing Association and the Furniture Manufacturers Association of Grand Rapids.

NATIONAL TRANSPORT SCHOOL IN INDIANA

Warehousing and Automotive Associations Join in Organizing Training Institution

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 3—At a meeting of the ways and means committee of Allied Motor Commerce of Indiana to-day a considerable amount of expansion was planned for the activity of this organization, which embraces nineteen State-wide organized industries which employ the motor truck in great numbers.

First it was decided to draw up plans for the founding at Indianapolis of a national motor transport school for the education and training of executives for highway transport organizations. This school, with the great new motor truck terminal which is to be erected in Indianapolis by the Indiana Highway Transport and Terminal Association, aided by substantial industries vitally interested in motor transport, will give facilities for the study and advancement of motorized freight hauling second to none. Because of the seven years of organized effort in Indianapolis and vicinity in the broad use of the motor truck for urban and highway traffic, it is recognized by transportation and automotive authorities who have been consulted that this is the ideal location for such a school. The fact that the truck has made such organized headway in Indiana, which was the first great center of interurban electric systems, and still continues one of the most important in the country, also points to the location as one of the ideal places in the country for intensive study that will give results.

Part of the educational work the ways and means committee will do consists of the collection of all manner of data and dissemination through an information bureau.

The secretary of the committee, Tom Snyder, who is secretary-manager of the Indiana Highway Transport and Terminal Association, has just returned from a trip to the East, where he had been summoned to lay before the highway and automotive leaders the plans which the Allied Motor Commerce have drawn up for use in the event of a transportation crisis. He reported that the leaders of the East, including important Government departments, had been outspoken in praise of the plans agreed upon by Allied Motor Commerce and Governor Warren T. McGray of Indiana; and that it was recognized that Indiana through its seven years of organized experience was in exceptional shape to handle any transportation crisis. The hope was expressed that when Allied Motor Commerce was ready for the step it might be persuaded to father similar organizations in other States.

The ways and means committee includes Joseph P. Hayes of the Heating and Plumbers' Contracting Association, chairman; Tom Snyder, secretary of the Indiana Highway Transport and Terminal Association; W. S. Frye, Indiana Transfer and Warehousemen's Association; Dan S. Moran, Indianapolis Transfer Association and Lynn M. Shaw, secretary-manager of the Indiana Automotive Trade Association. The entire membership of the organization comprises the nineteen industrial organizations of the State which operate fully half the 40,000 trucks of Indiana. Many of the transport, transfer and warehousemen's associations have been in existence for a considerable time, and together they have available for the school and the information bureau an immense amount of important data, statistics and records that assure its being highly practical. Funds for the motor transport terminal have already been pledged by leading shippers and other Indiana industries vitally interested in the advancement of highway transport in all its phases.

TRUCKS ADVANTAGEOUS IN L. C. L. MOVEMENT

Mobility as Compared with Railroads is Pointed Out in Statement by A. J. Brosseau

NEW YORK, Nov. 15—A. J. Brosseau, president of the International Motor Co., has made the following statement in reference to the competition of motor trucks with railroads for less than carload lot shipments:

"The advantage of the motor truck over the railroads in handling short-haul traffic lies in the elimination of the multiple handlings en route, making for considerable saving in both time and cost of shipment. It is the expensive handling at terminals that makes short-haul traffic an extremely unprofitable business for the railroads. It has been said on authority, and most railroad operators will agree, that a freight car does not begin to make money until it has hauled its goods at least forty miles. This figure by the way has been applied to conditions of several years past and obviously, in this day of high operating costs, the chances are it will come nearer to eighty miles.

"Short-haul traffic will always be a burden upon the railroads, and the encouragement of any transport medium that will take over the bulk of this traffic and thereby enable the railroads to better handle the long-haul traffic to which they are economically adapted, will be a decided step in advancement as far as both industrial progress and railway finance in New England are concerned.

"It might be well to consider a few concrete comparisons of motor truck vs. railroad on a basis of time required and cost involved. Let me quote from a table compiled a few months ago by Francis W. Dayis, a transportation authority, which has been carefully investigated and endorsed by the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce. The total cost by rail per 100 pounds, includes teaming charges at both ends (30c), cost of extra boxing (24c) and the extra freight charge on increased weight of boxing (17% of freight rate):

Total cost by rail per 100 lbs.	Time by frt. hours	Truck rate 100 lbs.	Time by truck hours
$1.03	24	$0.25	3
1.10	24	0.60	4 1/2
1.20	48	0.75	7
1.23	120	0.80	12
1.28	48	1.10	8 1/2
1.36	120	1.30	14
1.28	168	1.50	16
1.41	96	1.90	20
1.51	168	2.00	21

"It is interesting to note from this table that in every case the motor truck affords a substantial time saving, often of extreme importance, especially in the case of perishable goods. The table also indicates that up to a certain point, in this case 127 miles, the motor truck is more economical.

"On the shorter distances it can be seen that the motor truck is especially economical."

NEED NOT TAKE BACK ANY INFECTED CEREALS

Warehousemen Will Benefit by Action of Specialty Manufacturers at Atlantic City.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Nov. 18—Action favorable to the public warehouse industry was taken by the American Specialty Manufacturers' Association at its convention here this week when a resolution, adopted by the cereal division, was approved, to the effect that hereafter the warehouses be not required to take back any cereals which have become infected with vermin or have deteriorated from old age.

The importance, to warehousing, of this development may be realized when it is stated that the specialty manufacturers include companies which distribute annually many hundreds of thousands of dollars' worth of goods through public storage plants.

At the meeting of the cereal division, and later at the general meeting of the association, warehousing was represented by speakers—Alton H. Greeley, president of the General Cartage & Storage Co., Cleveland, and a member of the public relations committee of the American Warehousemen's Association, and Mrs. Helen Smith Bonine, secretary of the L. T. Crutcher Warehouse Co., Kansas City, as the representative of the Central Warehousemen's Club.

The resolution that public warehouses, together with jobbers and wholesale jobbers, not take back infected and aged cereals in the future was offered by Robert Clark, of the Aunt Jemima Mills Co., St. Joseph, Mo. It was estimated by C. Francis, of the Ralston Farina Co., St. Louis, that a $26,000,000 loss had been suffered by cereal manufacturers during the past year due to infected cereals.

By various speakers representing the cereal manufacturers, stress was laid on the importance of clean warehouses and of moving old stock out in advance of new. It was conceded that the estimated loss was not sustained in public warehouses alone; jobbers' plants and wholesale and retail groceries were held to be responsible to a large extent. As Mr. Francis told the convention:

"The old point that is of interest to everybody in this room is the fact that old goods are not being turned out first. That applies to all of the channels, every part, every unit, in the channel of distribution, from the merchandise warehouse down to the consumer. It has naturally come to our attention because unfortunately cereals become contaminated and unsalable, with the result that we have to buy these goods back, our guaranty or by the protection of our brand."

With the co-operation of the warehousing associations and of grocers' trade organizations, the specialty manufacturers will carry on a campaign to have old stocks of cereals moved first and to have cleanliness effected in all classes of buildings in which cereals are kept.

Mr. Greeley in his talk told the manufacturers what warehousing is. He outlined the possibilities of service at the disposal of the shippers and emphasized that public storage plants are prepared to handle cereals at all seasons at nominal cost, with better service than the manufacturer can obtain by storing in his own private warehouse.

Questioned regarding rates, Mr. Greeley said warehousemen were not prepared to offer reductions at this time—that reductions could not be made and at the same time the shippers received the high grade service they demand.

Mrs. Bonine told the manufacturers that the warehouse industry would be glad to hear of the resolution adopted, as it would take a great responsibility from the industry's shoulders, and assured them that the storage industry would co-operate in keeping plants clean and in moving old stock first.

Alluding to earlier discussion regarding a proposed standard carton, Mrs. Bonine said the warehouse industry would like to have one made which would be serviceable under all conditions. She pointed out that a marking such as "This Side Up" on a carton would mean a great deal of time consumed by warehousemen unless cars were properly packed at point of origin. Mrs. Bonine emphasized that the manufacturers, in their consideration of the cereal situation, should be careful to distinguish, in mentioning "warehouses," between the commercial warehouse and the private storehouse of shipper or jobber. In other words, the warehouse industry should be held responsible only for its own sins and omissions, if any, and should not be saddled with the responsibilities of others.

Mr. Francis will discuss the cereal situation at the December convention of the American Warehousemen's Association at St. Louis.

Metric Bill before Senate

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1—A bill of interest to shipper and warehouseman has been introduced in the Senate by United States Senator Ladd designed "to fix the metric system of weights and measures as the single standard of weights and measures for certain uses. Section 3 provides:

"That from and after ten years after the date of passage and approval of this Act no person shall do or offer or attempt to do any of the following acts, by weights or measures, in or according to any other system than the metric system of weights and measures, namely: (1) Sell any goods, wares or merchandise except for export as provided in Section 8; (2) Charge or collect for the carriage or transportation of any goods; wares or merchandise."

POOL CAR DISTRIBUTION EXPANDING IN CANADA

Cold Storage Business is Suffering from Fluctuating Market, but General Conditions Improve

VANCOUVER, B. C., Nov. 1—Warehousing conditions in Canada are described in a letter sent to all members of the Canadian Storage and Transfermen's Association by Fred Crone, president, who is president of the Independent Van & Storage Co., Ltd., of Vancouver. Briefly, conditions are as follows:

Vancouver—business not as good as usual, with uneasiness due to price-cutting by so-called outlaw concerns. Calgary—business not up to last year's standpoint. Edmonton—conditions more healthy than four months ago, with need of stronger organization work among warehousemen. Regina—merchandise and cartage conditions good, but cold storage business suffering "from the same conditions that exist throughout the whole of Canada, that is, that nearly all these cold storage houses depend on frozen meats and perishable goods for a good volume of their business during the Winter months, but owing to the fluctuating market packers and importers are not buying in large quantities." Winnipeg—cold storage business more seriously affected than elsewhere in western Canada; storage and cartage conditions improving, particularly for merchandise and household goods members. London—business good but not up to standard of past few years. Windsor—cartage and long distant hauling good. Toronto—storage is filling up, although this class of business is not up to last year's business. Montreal—business good in all lines, particularly in household goods moving, packing and storage.

Generally speaking, distribution in pool cars "is reported good everywhere as the retailer who formerly bought in carload lots is buying in smaller quantities that are being pooled and shipped to distributors for distribution." Mr. Crone concludes:

"We have seen our worst days in the storage and cartage industry in this Dominion of ours. Through local and national association work the industry is being recognized as a large reliable business institution that has the good will and respect of larger and older institutions. The day of the storage and cartage man with a brass tag in his hat is over. You are now recognized as a substantial business man with a business that is rendering real service to your community and country. Get behind your association and make it bigger and better still."

Mr. Crone informed the members of the death of Joseph Heany, Heany Cartage, Victoria, B. C., on Sept. 4.

NORFOLK WOULD BUILD MUNICIPAL WAREHOUSES

Plan is Opposed by Local Storage Interests if City Expects to Operate in Competition

NORFOLK, VA., Nov. 17—Considerable opposition has been raised against the proposal of the Norfolk City Council, on recommendation of the City Port Commission, to issue $5,000,000 worth of city bonds to build warehouses, wharves and a grain elevator on municipal waterfront property at Sewall's Point. Arthur P. Jones, president of Jones & Co. and the Virginia Wharf & Warehouse Corporation, has placed his opposition before the Council.

The Port Commission for two years has operated the warehouses and piers at the Army Supply Base on a lease from the War Department. It is now proposed to build for the city approximately $5,000,000 worth of additional waterfront facilities, of which warehouses will be one of the central features. An ordinance calling for a bond issue election has been adopted by the City Council, and the election will be held in January, at a date to be fixed by the Court. This ordinance provides for the issuance of bonds at 5½ per cent, and for a sinking fund to retire them.

Mr. Jones through his attorney appeared before the City Council when this ordinance was under discussion, and asked to be informed if the city proposes to go into the storage business at its proposed new warehouses. After a verbal tilt between his attorney and Barton Myers, chairman of the Port Commission, Mr. Jones's attorney was assured the city of Norfolk is not preparing to compete with private interests, but is preparing for competition with other ports on the Atlantic Coast.

Mr. Jones gave his opinion to the Council that the city can perform two services in this regard. One is that of assembling cargoes for export. The other is operation of storage warehouses in conjunction with local facilities. He expressed himself as believing it impossible, if the city undertakes to perform both services, to provide the necessary facilities for the development of the port. He contended that the city should go into the matter with a definite idea, clearly stated, so that all interests might know what to expect. He said, further, that in his opinion the present facilities at this port are adequate for the port's needs under normal conditions.

The consideration of the proposed bond issue constitutes the main topic under discussion among business men in this city at this time. The City Council is assured of strong opposition to the bond issue, and is preparing to combat its opponents. A broad campaign of education is being carried on by the Port Commission, in an effort to give to the voters full information with regard to the project.

Warehouses proposed to be built under this development plan would cost approximately $1,500,000. The Port Commission contends that the business to be handled there will not be in competition with private warehouses, but will, rather, tend to increase the business of the latter by increasing general commerce through the port. These warehouses would not be designed to handle storage business but to accommodate through shipments.

The Army Base warehouses, now being operated by the Port Commission for

THEY SOMETIMES COME BACK

THE warehouse industry again has a representative in the Mayor's chair of Indianapolis. On Nov. 8, Samuel L. Shank, president of the Shank Furniture & Storage Co. and a member of the National Furniture Warehousemen's Association, was swept into office as the head of the Republican ticket. According to an Associated Press despatch, the unofficial returns indicated that Mr. Shank's plurality was the largest ever given a candidate for Mayor in Indianapolis.

Handling mayoralty reins is nothing new for Mr. Shank. He has done it before in Indianapolis—and that he performed ably is indicated by the action of the people in asking him to do it again.

through freight, have proven unexpectedly successful. They have been in operation for 22 months, and in that time the Port Commission has paid to the Government $400,000 in rent, has paid all salaries and operating expenses, and has turned into the city treasury profits amounting to slightly more than $100,000. The Commission feels that this showing, made in a period of comparative dullness in shipping, is justification for its belief that the proposed new terminals can be so successfully operated that the bond issue will not entail on the taxpayers any increase in taxes, but on the contrary will have a tendency to lower taxes by providing additional revenue from this source for the city's needs.

Indiana Convention Dec. 2-3

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 25—The annual convention of the Indiana Transfer and Warehousemen's Association will be held here Dec. 2 and 3. Representatives of similar bodies from Michigan, Illinois, Wisconsin, Ohio and Kentucky will meet with the Indiana members with a view toward uniform and co-operative action on transportation matters having an inter-State significance. Tom Snyder, executive secretary, says that committees from the convention will meet with State highway department officials and with other State officials who have relations with motor transport.

ILLINOIS WAREHOUSEMEN WANT BOND REVISIONS

Merchandise Association to Suggest Changes to Benefit Industry and State

CHICAGO, Nov. 8—The new bonding situation affecting merchandise and household goods warehousemen in Illinois was the principal subject of discussion at the monthly meeting of the Illinois Association of Warehousemen (merchandise) at the University Club here to-night. This association is co-operating with the State Public Utilities Commission in plans to put the new bonding machinery into operation, under House Bill No. 776 recently enacted, in a way which will be satisfactory to State authorities and warehousemen alike.

As explained in the November Distribution & Warehousing, the law sets forth that warehouse companies (cold storage plants and grain elevators excepted, inasmuch as their status has already been defined) shall obtain licenses to do business and shall be required to give bonds. The amounts of the bonds have been set on a scale ranging from $5,000 to $100,000, depending on the square foot area. The license fee has been set at $25.

Speakers at to-night's meeting were of the opinion that the scale of bonds and the license fee could be arranged in a manner both to bring more money to the State's treasury and to be more satisfactory to the warehouse industry generally, and representations to that effect will be brought to the attention of the Commission.

As in all big cities, there are in Chicago so-called fly-by-night warehousemen who do not conduct business along ethical warehousing lines. The Illinois Association is of the opinion that, instead of a nominal $25 license fee covering one year, the commission should provide possibly a higher fee and certainly a fee which must be paid in advance for perhaps as long as five years. It was held that this would tend to bar from doing business such storage plants as planned to take in goods for brief periods only—"warehousemen" of the type who grab off flush trade at low rates in unfair competition with recognized warehousemen and at other times engage in other lines of business which have nothing to do with warehousing. It was contended that by increasing the license fees and reducing the amounts of the bonds required, more money would go to the State and less to bonding companies and thus both State and recognized warehousemen would benefit.

The association regarded as important to warehousing a decision handed down by United States Judge Carpenter relating to activities of trade associations. The decision was read in full.

[Judge Carpenter's decision is reproduced in full elsewhere on these pages.]

A resolution was adopted that all members of the association should close their warehouses on Nov. 11, Armistice Day, out of respect for the Unknown Soldier.

COMMENDS SERVICES OF BUSINESS PAPERS

Secretary of Commerce in Message Discusses Responsibility of Editors

CHICAGO, Nov. 1.—The service of the business paper editors of the country in co-operating with the Department of Commerce to speed the return of improved business conditions was recognized in a telegram from Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover to the National Conference of Business Paper Editors, of which Distribution & Warehousing is a member. The conference here heard also Fred M. Feiker, assistant to Mr. Hoover, in an address discussing the business and industrial situation.

In his telegram Secretary Hoover commented on the monthly conferences held since early spring with business paper editors and said that "the business press has shown a fine spirit of service" in its treatment of prevailing conditions and their causes.

"We have indeed great problems yet to solve," Mr. Hoover telegraphed in part. "I cannot but feel that if these problems are considered as human and not as material questions, we can find their solution. We are dealing with questions of railways, of farms, of shops and of instruments of commerce and industry, but in the background of every person's mind there is the fact that we are dealing not with mechanical things but that we are concerned with the problems of men, women and children.

"There must be in our discussions of these matters the dominating thought that the better control of economic forces is in fact simply the better comfort of the country. Those several organizations within the Department of Commerce which we have developed and set at work within the past few months are conceived in this spirit, and it is a fine augury of our industrial future to know that the programs and purposes of these various departmental activities have come from our manufacturers, merchants and engineers themselves.

"The editors of the business press have shown a fine spirit of service. Your opportunity for leadership is unique and unchallenged. Upon you rests in large measure the responsibility of the control of industrial thought and opinion in the detail of the industrial, economic and technical problems which confront us. I wish your conference every success in carrying forward your high and constructive purposes."

Mr. Feiker in his talk spoke first of the recent unemployment conference in Washington, which he said was remarkable for the fact that it was the first meeting of capital and labor at which both parties had sat through to the end.

Resulting from the conference, the department had undertaken two measures, one of immediate relief and one of permanent relief, the former being a board in charge of Arthur Woods, former police commissioner of New York, to help responsible officials of States, counties and cities and towns to combat unemployment conditions, and the other being a study of long time economic problems.

Mr. Feiker regarded the elimination of industrial waste one of the big domestic problems, and a more thorough knowledge of foreign conditions as the chief problem of foreign trade. He said that a report submitted to Secretary Hoover by the business paper editors on standardization of products was one of the finest things ever done in this line and the department hoped to find the money soon to have it printed and circularized.

Regarding foreign trade, he said, the department had created a specialties division which would concentrate on developments of two things in which American manufacturers have little competition, that is, inventive genius and mass production.

A résumé of conditions in the basic industries, made to the conference by editors of papers representing those industries, showed the trend as follows:

Iron and Steel—Production is 40 to 45 per cent of the peak of the post-war period, as compared with 22 per cent in July, when the industry turned toward better times.

Railroads—Future uncertain owing to unsettlement of the rate and wage questions.

Marine—Production 10 per cent of war time peak but 25 per cent above pre-war standard. Four-fifths of the world's shipping is idle, but only one-half the tonnage of the United States Shipping Board is idle.

Automotive—Reported by David Beecroft, directing editor of the Class Journal Co. Passenger car production 66 per cent of war time peak; truck production 35 per cent; exports, automotive equipment, 60 per cent of the high level, completed vehicles, low.

Textiles—Industries recovering steadily; conservative improvement predicted.

Electrical—Use of public service current every month this year ahead of 1919. Wholesale distribution of electrical devices 50 per cent of last year up to date, but latter part of 1921 is running ahead of early part.

Construction Industries—Contracts awarded, 83 per cent of the 1913 total; prices 34 per cent under the war time peak.

Mining—Conditions improved over six months ago.

Leather—Tanning industry at low ebb, manufacturing slowly gaining.

Agricultural—No strikes, no unemployment, bumper crop in 1921, farmers going ahead with plans for big acreages in 1922. Farmers handicapped by low prices which are only 22 per cent above the 1913 average, while general commodity prices are 52 per cent above, but farm prices have increased 9 per cent since the low period.

by fire shutters. Fire hose will be installed on each floor.

An electric elevator, nine feet by twenty feet in size, and having a lifting capacity of 15,000 pounds, will be installed.

The plans and specifications were prepared by Nathan C. Wyeth, architect, and Thomas W. Marshall, civil engineer. The contract for the construction work has been awarded to Wm. P. Lipscomb Co.

SEVEN COMPANIES JOIN NATIONAL ASSOCIATION

CHICAGO, Nov. 1.—The following companies have been elected to membership in the National Furniture Warehousemen's Association:

Cook Transfer & Storage, Tampa, Fla.; El Paso Fireproof Storage Co., El Paso; Herrin Transfer & Warehouse Co., Shreveport, La.; International Warehouse Co., El Paso; Lansing Warehouse Co., Lansing, Mich.; Lee Bros. Van & Storage Co., Santa Rosa, Cal.; William Herbert & Son, Youngstown, Ohio.

The resignation of C. A. Ward, Ltd., Toronto, has been accepted.

The National's membership now totals 519 companies.

Ohio Conditions Improve

COLUMBUS, OHIO, Nov. 14.—There is a slight improvement in the transfer and storage business in Columbus and Ohio as shown over the records of the previous month. The improvement is not marked, however, and some lines of the industry are still rather quiet. But the tone has changed for the better, and transfer men believe the worst of the slump is over and that there will be gradual expansion during the fall and winter months.

There is a fair volume of merchandise business both in transferring and storage. This consists mostly of foodstuffs and medicines and drugs. Agricultural implements are not moving as freely as usual for the time of the year, as farmers are slow in buying and dealers are not taking on large stocks.

Household goods storage shows a slight improvement. There is also considerable transferring of household goods from storage houses to freight houses.

Tooker Installs Sprinkler

CHICAGO, Oct. 8.—The Tooker Storage & Forwarding Co. has installed a sprinkler system in its Chicago warehouse. It will be completed about Jan. 1 and, reducing the insurance rate by about $20 per thousand, will give the company the minimum rate affecting all classes of merchandise.

Wales Expansion

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Nov. 22.—The Wales Storage Warehouse has increased its facilities by adding a six-story fireproof building, fully sprinklered, with more than 130,000 square feet. The structure is located on the Raritan River and is equipped with private docks from which a daily steamship service is maintained by the Wales company between New Brunswick and New York City, enabling through shipments to New York on twenty-four hours' notice. The Raritan is considered a logical inland water route into central New Jersey and plans are before the Deep Waterways Commission for deepening the channel to permit entrance by coastwise vessels.

The Wales company has increased also its trucking facilities.

Gasoline Trucks?

—can you afford to use them on frequent-stop city routes?

During the heyday of big volume and big profits, business executives let the delivery problem get away from them. In 1919 and 1920 they permitted the purchase of 635,000 gasoline trucks—twice as many trucks as were bought in the whole twenty years before.

Were these trucks bought for long-haul routes of 75 to 150 miles or more where the ability to cover ground, with stops few and far between, makes the gas truck the logical one?

No. Most of them were bought for city routes—you assumed that the truck which served you well on long routes would also serve you well on short-haul or frequent-stop routes.

Why were you wrong?

First, because traffic conditions and frequent stopping and starting make it practically impossible to use gas-truck speed in the city. In an actual test, a gas truck rated over 25 miles an hour started at the same time over the same city delivery route with an electric truck rated at 10 to 12 miles an hour. At the end of the day the gas truck finished less than 15 minutes ahead of the electric.

But suppose you could operate your gas trucks at high speed in city traffic. Then the question is: Can you afford speed? For instance, tire costs are nearly four times as much at 20 miles an hour as at 10 miles an hour. Wear-and-tear on many vital parts of the mechanism is between three and four times as great at 20 miles as at 10 miles in city service.

If your business can afford this extravagance, wouldn't you rather have the money in extra dividends or profits?

"Well," you may say, "suppose that gas trucks were operated at the controlled speed of the electric. Then what?"

The answer is another test you can make for yourself. A light gas delivery car that might do 20 miles to a single gallon without stops will average less than 8 miles to a gallon in frequent-stop service. It makes little difference whether you stop and start the engine at each delivery (which loses time), or whether you let the engine run—consuming gasoline and wearing out parts. Either way you pay too much. The complicated engine, the cooling system, the transmission of the gas car are not built for frequent starting and stopping. They will not stand it except at high cost.

The gas truck used on city routes is out of service 30 to 40 days or more a year for repairs, overhauling and tire changes. The case against the light gas truck is still worse. Can you afford trucks that are out of service so often?

You can get a quick perspective on this whole matter by life statistics, namely, the average life of all gas trucks is less than 5 years in city delivery service. The lighter types are frequently traded in every two years.

In contrast with this, Ward Electrics last more than 10 years and it is unusual for a Ward Electric to be out of service even half as many days a year as a gas car.

Look into Ward Electrics for your city routes. They cut delivery costs 20% to 35% or more on city routes. They cost less for tires than it costs to shoe a horse for equivalent work and far less than tires for a gas car. They cost less for current than feed for a single horse for the same work, and ever so much less than gasoline for a gas car. And when Ward Electrics stop, all expense stops—there is no engine to be left running.

Another economy! Some users do away with garages and stables entirely, charging and storing their Ward Electrics right at the loading platforms—no odor, no dirt, no fire risk.

Send for our free book, "Facing the Facts," containing cost records and statistics that will interest any man who wants to cut his delivery costs. Tell us how many city routes you operate, the approximate mileage per day, number of stops, etc. We'll do the rest.

KINGSLEY DESIGNED

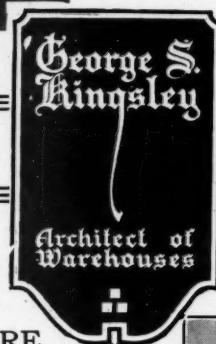

This is the new warehouse W. C. Reebie & Bro. are erecting in Chicago at present. It is designed in the Egyptian style of architecture, wholly in keeping with its location in a high class residential district.

It is another addition to the already large number of Kingsley designed warehouses in Chicago, and as the others, is distinct in its appearance and arrangement.

Below is one of eight Kingsley designed warehouses owned by one company—Werner Bros., Chicago—an indication of successful service to warehouse operators, born of intimate knowledge and association with warehouse men and their methods, for twenty-eight years.

109 N. DEARBORN ST.

CHICAGO, ILLINOIS

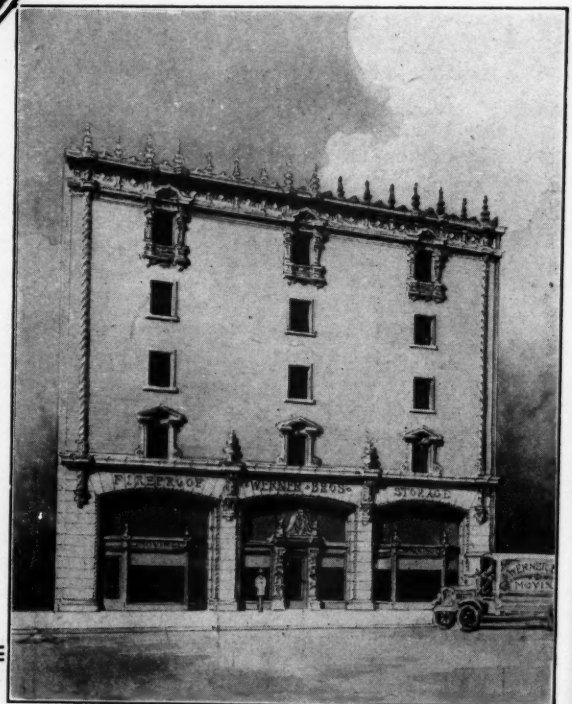

GOOD ARCHITECTURE A PERPETUAL ADVERTISEMENT

The Reebie warehouse will demand attention from the public; both the style of architecture and the color scheme will prove a valuable advertising asset, because the first impression will be a good one—and it will be remembered.

By the employment of good design, this impression is clinched to a point where a dozen others will be passed by in order to further experience the satisfaction created at first sight.

Kingsley service is complete in every detail. Every assistance is rendered from conception to completion. If you contemplate additions or new buildings, inspection of Kingsley accomplishments in Chicago alone will be time spent to your greatest advantage.

The Resiliency is Built in the Wheel

Does not the fact that Sewell wheels are saving from $1.50 to $2.00 per day or 2 to 2½¢ per mile, as well as safeguarding the load carried on over 3700 Warehouse and Storage trucks, mean that they are the best and most practical type of resiliency for your motor trucks?

There is built into each Sewell wheel the result of over fourteen years' experience in building and manufacturing Cushion wheels, which experience has proven that the standard and quality built in Sewell Cushion Wheels cannot be reduced for the sake of price.

Two of the fleet of Sewell Equipped Trucks owned by The Hebard Express & Van Co., Chicago.

The above are two of over 3700 trucks equipped in the Warehousing and Storage industry.

Sewell Cushion Wheel

Following is a statement from the Hebard Express & Van Co.:

We have used Sewell wheels since 1913 on our fleet of motor trucks and find they are a decided saving on the trucks in the way of repair expense as well as protecting the load carried.

We also find they prolong the life of the truck and tires. Our satisfaction is shown by the fact that our last truck purchased in August, 1921, was Sewell equipped.

Yours very truly,

HEBARD EXPRESS & VAN CO.
F. H. HEBARD.

Sewells may be applied to your present trucks without changing the design or construction.

We will gladly give you full information about Sewells for your trucks if you will write us, giving the makes and sizes of trucks you operate.

Moores & Dunford's Preliminary Advice

THIS ADVICE IS GIVEN WITHOUT FEE

THE warehouse you plan to build soon can be shown to you in a way that will surely save you money in building, and pay you greater profits in operation.

A member of the firm of Moores & Dunford will come to you and look carefully into every condition affecting your business. He will apply to your circumstances the experience gained by building more than fifty profitable warehouses. You may safely take his word as final on any point.

He will point out the best location, and the type of construction best suited to it. He will tell you the best way to erect the building, and show you how to take advantage of its shape, size, and placing. He will advise a plan for financing it, and smooth the way to the banker.

All this will be put in such a way that all concerned will know what is possible, and what is impractical.

When this knowledge may be had for the writing of a note, to omit writing is to penalize yourself. Write it now, and make certain the successful, profitable expansion of your business.

1922 WAREHOUSE DIRECTORY

in Which Is Included the SHIPPER'S INDEX

(A Guide to Representative Merchandise, Cold Storage and Household Goods Warehouses, Forwarders, Terminals and Transfer Companies, Arranged Alphabetically by States and Towns)

THIS revised edition of the Directory of the public warehouse industry has two major purposes. One is to give the shippers of the country a reference list of warehouses equipped to store and distribute their raw and manufactured products. The other is to provide for the industry itself a record of the companies engaged in all branches of the commercial storage business—merchandise, household goods and cold storage.

In this year-round reference work is to be found information regarding warehouse companies that will be consulted by the shipper, the storage executive and the public. This information relates to names, addresses, officers, year of establishment, investment, storage and distribution and pool car facilities, space statistics, motor truck and team service, railroad private sidings and association memberships. In consulting listings, the following points should be kept in mind:

Where a bold face star appears after a company's name, it means that the information in the listing is up to date—that the facts and figures were obtained from Information Sheets distributed in connection with this revised Directory. Where no bold face star appears, the information is at least one year old.

Where the investment figure given is small, this may mean that it covers fixtures and equipment only—not taking into account real estate, etc.

Where the statement is made that a company is bonded, it should not be construed that the company's entire available space necessarily is bonded; for example, USCB may mean that only part of the space is United States Customs bonded. Under legislation enacted in Illinois late in 1921 all merchandise and household goods warehouse companies are required to be bonded, and all cold storage warehouse companies in Illinois were already required by State law to be bonded.

Toward the close of each listing, one or more commodities may appear in bold face type. This means that the company specializes in storage of this commodity or commodities.

In mentioning memberships, only national and sectional and State associations have been considered. Companies may have membership in local warehousing and transport organizations also.

In order to avoid confusion, dashes have been used to separate railroads mentioned in listings.

In addresses, company is located on a street unless otherwise indicated.

The 1922 Warehouse Directory and the Responsibility of those Listed in it

By W. LEE COTTER,
President Cotter Warehouse Interests

THE real idea of warehouse service is vastly different from merely getting by. Every warehouseman should feel the keen personal responsibility that is carried with his listing in this Directory. The business derived through the medium of the Directory will depend in a large measure upon how the inquiry or order is handled. Big business has always been built on the anticipated needs, or the desires of the public.

The public did not demand the various brands of fine products now put out under trademark, but when the convenience of the service was demonstrated, the people showed their approval by heavy purchases. The warehouseman must prepare his services in convenient and efficient packages ready for consumption.

CARE OF HOUSEHOLD GOOD AND VALUABLES

The fine household goods storage buildings and their splendid equipment have aroused the interest of the public to the extent of a generous patronage. The household goods storage industry, however, has just started on an era of service that will result in many developments and improvements.

COLD STORAGE

The very nature of the cold storage industry has caused a deeper technical study of its problems than that made by any other branch.

Cold storage warehouses perform a service to the public next in importance to that of the producer of food products. The cold storage warehouseman by virtue of his responsibility must be ever on the look-out for opportunities of greater public service. The people should know more of the value of cold storage through proper publicity.

GENERAL MERCHANDISE WAREHOUSING

Over a long period of years the general merchandise warehouses have fully demonstrated their function in public welfare, but not until the merchandise warehouse ceased to be merely four walls and some floors was it recognized as an important part of our great distribution system.

Distribution through warehouses requires a keener attention to details than any other branch of the industry. An intimate knowledge of many lines of trade is necessary to proper service in general merchandise distribution and warehousing. Sales and traffic knowledge are necessary in the proper co-operation with customers. Promptness and accuracy are essentials in satisfactory distribution service. Economy is necessary in the handling of large quantities of raw and manufactured products. Engineering ability is required to install the best possible lay-out and handling machinery.

Warehousemen in all branches of the industry should analyze their service to see if they are measuring up to standard. When a standard is reached, every effort should be exerted through research and otherwise to aid in developing the warehouse industry to the highest point of efficiency.

CONGESTION

in our railroad yards, freight houses, streets, alleys and buildings greatly menace the free and rapid transaction of business. Various solutions are offered daily, such as sub-basements, double-decked streets, subways, widening of streets, etc., yet these suggestions entail vast expenditures and time before they are actually accomplished.

We did not wait for the revolutionizing of our congested district but chose a location away from this congestion, on the Belt Railway of Chicago, adjoining the great Clearing Interchange Freight Yards, in the progressive Clearing Industrial District where we enjoy spacious quarters, light, pure air, and numerous other advantages not obtainable around the loop, such as 42-Car Private Switch Track.

Modern Buildings of 1,000 Carload Capacity, occupying about six acres of ground.

Insurance Rates as low as 14 cents.

T. J. Walsh Will Send His Check When Your
B/L Arrives

Prompt remittance became one of our basic policies when we went into business. It has remained, and will remain, the invariable rule.

We count that the secret of our considerable success. The other three contributing factors are named below.

Courtesy Efficiency Service

In recommending your patrons to us, you can rest assured that they will receive the same courteous treatment at Chicago which you have given them at your end.

An expert traffic department traces all shipments, each article is carefully inspected for damage, claims for damage or shortage are filed and followed to a just settlement without charge. All deliveries are executed by careful, reliable, experienced men. Padded motor vans used exclusively.

Service, that's where we predominate. Attention to small items as well as large—the same personal attention to a package or a carload—to us one is as important as the other. The personal attention is what gives "Drexel Service" that distinctiveness not found elsewhere. That is why "Drexel Service" means "Ideal Service."

KEEP IT UP!

One step won't take you very far, you've got to keep on walking;

One word won't tell them what you are, you've got to keep on talking;

One inch won't make you tall, you've got to keep on growing;

One little "ad" won't do it all, you've got to keep 'em going.

"No Delay"

Is the Motto of Edward Lasham Co.

Merchandise Storage

Here's Why

WE load and unload cars direct from the tracks of four railroads. All other roads spot cars on our siding without charge. We have handled as high as 28 cars in one day. That is only one factor conducive to speedy handling.

We own seventy-five trucks, fifteen motor-driven, with which we cover the entire city daily. As we are only a few minutes from the wholesale and retail district, truck time and costs are very small. We can take care of twelve trucks at once at our loading platform.

With this speed goes the accuracy of a well-drilled crew of handlers superintended by men of long experience.

Safety is assured your goods by a frostproof, sprinkled building, guarded by the A. D. T. watch system.

Turn your traffic difficulties over to our Mr. H. E. MacNiven. His many years in transportation service, and as industrial and warehouse Traffic Manager, equip him to give you sound advice and accurate information.

You worked hard to get the orders—see that the delivery completes the deal in a style that cements the customer's friendship forever. Just consign to

Where
Dollars and Time
Both Are Saved

For Chicago Shippers

In through Consolidated Carload shipment of Household Goods—that is, where dollars and time both are saved for Chicago shippers.

But to be more specific—the exact spot for your customers to secure that specific for the high cost of forwarding Household Goods, is at our loading station, Fifteenth and Jefferson Streets, on the C. & N. W. RR., which, by the way, is also the spot for the Export Shipper to save dollars and time.

On the other hand, if it is an automobile your customer has to ship, tip him off to our Loading Station at Twenty-third Street Station as the place for him to get his saving of both time and dollars, while the machinery shipper will find what he has looked for at our Loading Station, Thirteenth and Canal Streets, on the C., B. & Q. RR.

Remember—Phone Harrison 3465—that's the tip for the customer of yours who is looking for the place where dollars and time both are saved on Household Goods shipping.

Service and Saving, Speed and Satisfaction, all are also at the call of shippers of machinery and automobiles who call Harrison 3465.

Keep that phone number in mind, and remember if it's Export service on anything, anywhere in any quantity, it's at the call of the person who calls that number.

"Adequate Facilities Wherever Goods Go"

Here in Uncle Joe Cannon's Town

How did our beloved Uncle Joe stay in Congress so long? By knowing what his constituents wanted, and getting it for them. He's been called a standpatter and reactionary by a lot of people, but the 1920 election showed that the things Uncle Joe represents are just about what most of us want.

That's the line the Danville Transfer & Storage Company follows. You'll get what you want when we represent you here in Danville. We've got a fireproof warehouse with a mighty low insurance rate. We'll issue receipts, distribute and reforward your goods by pool car—cheaply. We'll deliver quickly anywhere in the city. We are only one to six blocks from your customers.

Our equipment is five modern warehouses, to which another will be added next Spring. For local distribution we have fifteen motor trucks. We have a system for checking pool cars that permits a smaller percentage of errors than Volstead does alcohol. Direct trackage with free switching is another help. But it's the tend-to-business spirit here that really holds to us such accounts as

Merchandise Distribution and Warehousing

It is a matter of pride with us that by close co-operation and a whole-hearted interest in the handling of the business of National Merchandisers we have been highly successful in furnishing the same efficient service in the distribution of their goods that they would be able to secure were they maintaining a branch house of their own right here in South Bend.

Even the standard routine services which are naturally expected of a progressive warehouse of the best class you will find touched with that difference which distinguishes our "Branch House Service."

SOUTH BEND is a natural distributing center for National Merchandisers and is served by seven steam roads and three interurban lines. We are located on the tracks of the New York Central and have free switching from all railroads entering the city.

Special attention given to the prompt and efficient handling of Pool Cars.

Negotiable Warehouse Receipts issued.

LOW FREIGHT RATES To Us—From Us

The Mississippi marks the line between expensive shipments and economical redistribution. Carloads rehandled in Burlington take a low rate this far, and another low rate beyond. It is at this point that the C. B. & Q. break bulk on their westbound shipments. Through cars are made up daily for practically all points within a radius of 200 miles and all points of any consequence west.

Davenport, Iowa, is a strategic point in the distribution of commodities in its location on the Mississippi River, which is a great medium in its regulation of freight rates.

Davenport, Iowa, is a great trade center; with the several adjoining states it is in the center of a distribution district reaching twenty million people.

We help "deliver the goods" at a minimum of expense, as a branch house, your distributing agent, or in entire detail, with fireproof storage and trackage.

We have figures to prove the economy of using our organization. Send for our circular showing comparative costs. The great saving of freight car loads to Davenport and local freight rates, in Iowa, Minnesota, Nebraska, Kansas, Missouri, etc., is of vital importance. We are anxious to help traffic managers. Where
Dollars and Time
Both Are Saved

For Boston Shippers

"Time is money"—true, and true it also is that the shipper who takes the time to call on us for the solution of his Household Goods shipping problem, finds—thanks to the saving in forwarding expense our service assures—it is money in his pocket.

That is a fact you Warehousemen of Boston should keep in mind the next time a customer of yours has Household Goods to ship West, and don't forget to call his attention to our Loading Station, 27 Farnsworth Street, on the New Haven R. R. and within switching territory for traffic from the B. & A. and B. & M. Railroads.

Tell him to call at our office in the Old South Building, or to tell Central to give him Harrison 3465, and we will give him better service at lower cost—a Consolidated Carload Service, which today stretches the World over, because, as thousands of shippers know, it contracts forwarding costs.

Right there is a tip to Boston Warehousemen—Posting customers how to contract their forwarding costs, is mighty apt to expand your business.

is the only word to describe the facilities of our new building. Of course it is fireproof. We took particular pains with the architect to provide for the quick, safe, cheap handling of goods through the house. The elevators will handle nearly anything short of a locomotive. The type of construction, helped by a hair-trigger sprinkling system, keeps the insurance rate down to negligible. The building's right in the heart of the wholesale and jobbing district of the town. Best of all, it's

Then there are offices for jobbers and brokers so they can be in the very closest connection with their stocks and market. Four cars can be loaded and unloaded at once at the platform, the total capacity being twelve cars per day.

As to the staff, they have had many years' experience in distributing and storing merchandise. Men like that, working with the most modern, efficient equipment, are in a position to give you service of a quality you thought hardly possible.

When your busy season is at its height in 1922, you will appreciate the wisdom of following this advice:

Pick Your Distribution Points Early and Carefully

You cannot mistake in appointing the Minneapolis Terminal Warehouses to handle your merchandise in the north middle-west.

All roads come to our platform. Our local distribution is least expensive of any in the Twin Cities. Our warehouse is new, sprinkled, clean, commodious. We know all traffic difficulties in our territory, and by knowing them, avoid them. That all means that your shipments arrive on time, in good order, with just as little expense as rail conditions permit.

As this is written, many improvements in rail conditions are promised. The instant they materialize, we will turn them to your favor.

Our Integrity is Your Security

THE storage business, in its essential activities, is of a definite service in the promotion of human welfare, or, it fails as a business. SERVICE is not a sentiment or an emotion. It is an act or a series of acts; it is not spectacular; it is usually connected with commonplace things; with the day's expenditures and the day's work. To understand SERVICE in our present social order is to use that common sense in which we Americans have always endeavored to specialize.

All who are engaged in warehousing operations strive to maintain the best warehouses, and with that end in view, each of us conducts his business with the highest standard of SERVICE as his goal. Such a standard of operation costs a little more, but we are confident that this line of business conduct is the only one that pays in the long run. If we cannot operate as a first class warehouse, and if we find that we are forced, by existing circumstances, to cut any of the various branches of our SERVICE to such an extent that our reputation for SERVICE is impaired, it would then be our decided preference to close the doors of our warehouses and withdraw our efforts and our finances from the warehousing industry.

THE HUMAN ELEMENT IN WAREHOUSING

The individual man does not always actively realize why his family has a good name. He rarely ever stops to consider why his business enjoys the confidence of the trade, nor does he analyze the motives governing dealer confidence; yet, this very item of good will is the most valuable asset in either business or social life. Good will is built upon public opinion. The son of a great man is given wide recognition because of the deeds of his father; the business policy of the father built, as it is, upon the foundation of SERVICE has inculcated permanent good will in the minds of the public. The son, in turn, comes into a full possession of the rich heritage of good will left by the father—an asset incomparable in value, and which, once established and carefully preserved, forms the cornerstone on which all legitimate business is built and promoted.

UNDERSTANDING OF SERVICE

The time has come when steps must be taken to create a public opinion that means an understanding of the fundamental principles of warehousing operations and a sympathy that means an adequate comprehension of our aims and standards of SERVICE. The days are past when any business can say, "The Public be damned." The slogan from now on must be, "The Public be informed," and all public operations must get out into the open and define their policies of SERVICE. The secret of harmonious and satisfactory relations with our consumers—the distributors—lies in understanding and that understanding can come only through clear cut and well directed information. In the light of present conditions, and there is no other safe basis upon which we would be justified in reaching a decision as to the needs of our industry—it is an irrefutable fact, that one of the functions of the warehousing business, in the years just ahead, is to explain the essential facts of its operations.

YOUR PROBLEM OUR SOLUTION

How to distribute goods in distant territory economically, is one of the serious problems confronting the inter-state shipper. To meet competition, to insure prompt deliveries and short railroad hauls, some manufacturers maintain plants in various parts of the United States. Some producers have built private warehouses at large distributing points, enabling them to maintain stock for prompt shipment from these points. This necessitates gigantic combinations of capital. It is eminently IMPOSSIBLE for all shippers to maintain facilities of this kind, but IT IS POSSIBLE for the average shipper to have the best facilities available at any point by utilizing the well developed warehouse and distributing facilities already in operation.

THE WAREHOUSE YOUR SOLUTION

Warehouses in Kansas City are your solution. They offer you splendid storage and distribution facilities. You have only to avail yourself of these SERVICES and place a branch house in Kansas City. This will place you on an equal footing with the largest shippers who are maintaining expensive warehouses. The warehouses in Kansas City refuse to enter into any sort of selling agreement, for they wish to concentrate their entire attention upon receiving stock for storage and shipping to points beyond, on your mail or telegraph orders. The warehouses are so equipped that they can undertake and execute every duty required and expected of the branch house.

AN ECONOMIC NECESSITY

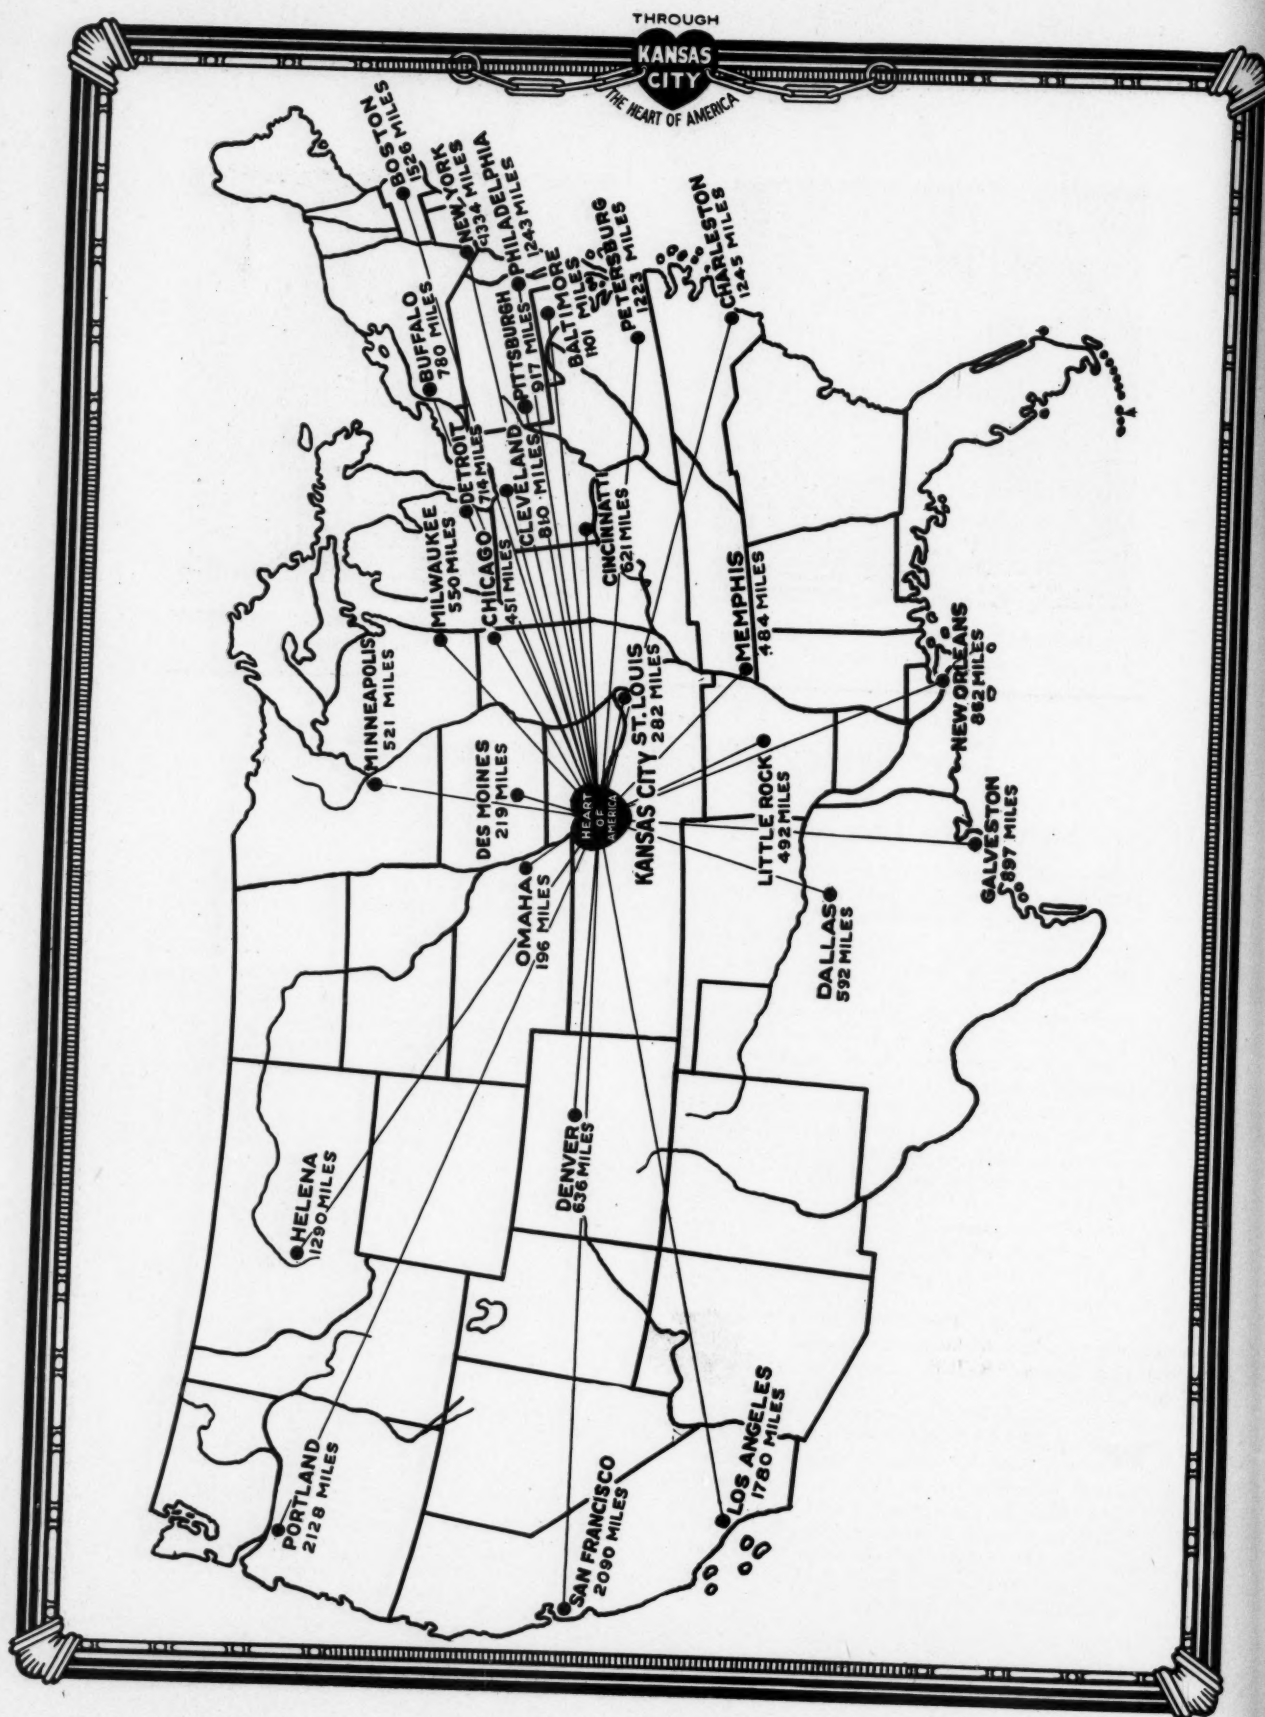

It is one of the signs of an advanced community, one of the evidences of industrial progress, to have secure and substantial provision of a public character for the care of all commodities in any part of the land—fruits, grains, foodstuffs, cotton, wool and the whole list of staple commodities, in a prudent, efficacious and economical way. In the first place, it is important that there shall be protection from the weather, and, in the second place, that there shall be protection from fire and lastly, that there shall be responsible custody, so that money may be safely loaned on the commodity at any time, and that there shall be economical means of handling whenever necessary. It is a recognized fact that there is no other class of security so desirable for bank loans as receipts for this class of merchandise, provided it is stored in first class, reliable, public warehouses.

Mr. Bernard M. Baruch, nationally known financier of New York, was recently quoted as saying:

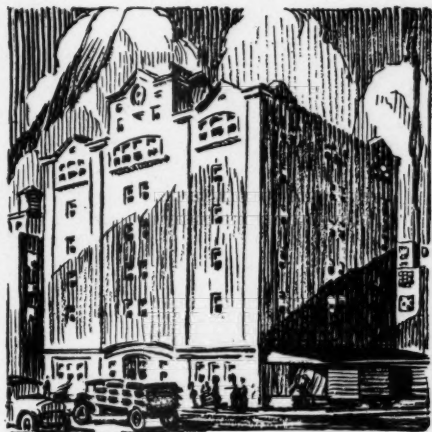

"There is nothing more secure than warehouse products. Warehouse certificates are solid, substantial and therefore the best kind of security."

In a recent meeting of the Domestic Distribution Department of the National Chamber of Commerce, Mr. Theo. F. Whitmarsh, President of Francis H. Leggett and Company, wholesale grocers and jobbers in New York City, and chairman of the Domestic Distribution Department, said:

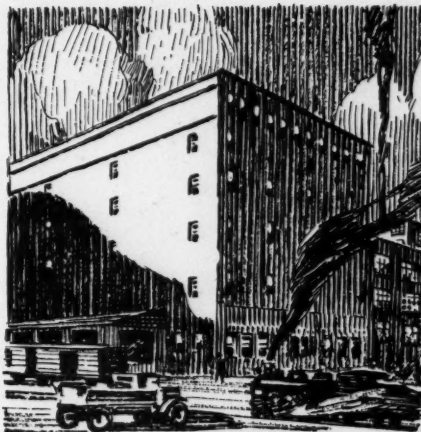

"More efficient use should be made of the present facilities in the great warehousing system now in existence."

EVOLUTION OF THE INDUSTRY

It is not so many years ago that shippers had only a vague idea of the warehousing industry and its possibilities. It would seem that this unfortunate condition has had a tendency to place the storehousemen on somewhat the same basis as that of the man around the corner, who conducts a transfer and storage business from the driver's seat of a one-horse wagon.

In those days, it was quite the thing to consign dilapidated old buildings to the warehousing industry for their remaining days. The manufacturer was content, or at least he was obligated, to have his goods placed in an old building, with little or no shipping facilities. In fact, it is only within the past ten or fifteen years that the great warehouse business has been put on a basis of its own and is now becoming more and more recognized by shippers as a strong link in the mighty distribution system of our nation today. The shipper has begun to realize that cost reducing methods and efficiency can now be had through this extensive system of storage and transportation SERVICE.

QUICK ACTION WINS!

Make the warehouse organizations of Kansas City a part of your organization and use the facilities, which they stand ready to offer you, as blocks in the structure which you are building in the great Southwestern territory. These organizations can be of most material and beneficent help to you, for their specialty is to furnish quick action, and their well-balanced, well-trained organizations assure intelligent handling of your business. The charge for this service will leave you with a profit and will enable you to concentrate your sales as well as expand your territory.

The best way to encourage a salesman's efforts is to DELIVER the thing he sells!

Your salesman sells, according to your standard of SERVICE and his line of talk to your customers, the best piece of merchandise manufactured—best from the standpoint of quality, quantity for price, endurance and larger amount of profit over other competitive brands of merchandise of the same class—and guarantees quickest delivery SERVICE.

In the back ground of these points looms big and important the salesman's House! If the House fails to deliver these points—and goods—the salesman, no matter what his ability and personality, fails because his faith in his House is endangered and laid open to criticism, because of a lack on the part of his House to provide for prompt delivery to follow up his sales.

Even one slip from the House—and that slip is usually a shipping delay—may bring failure to the efforts of the salesman. So every house that spends big money to procure big salesmen must look to the Product and its Distribution first.

You are making arrangements to place in this territory your best men. Now consider, as of the most primary importance, your Distributing House. It is essential that you maintain a reserve storage stock in Kansas City. This stock will not only enable you to meet competition but will clinch your salesman's guarantee to be the first to DELIVER THE GOODS. The warehouse organizations in Kansas City specialize in furnishing QUICK ACTION and their well balanced organizations insure intelligent handling of your business.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J.

At the Gateway of New York Harbor

BY REFERRING to the map you will see what we mean when we say "At the Gateway of New York Harbor." New Brunswick is a tidewater city, located on the Raritan River, and the plans of the Port of New York Authority include the deepening of the channel to make it possible for coastwise vessels to dock at the City docks.

Right now we have our own private docks and steamers making daily trips to New York City.

Note these two facts: We can give you storage at very reasonable rates because we do not have the heavy overhead of a congested business center to contend with. We can make deliveries at any designated pier in New York Harbor, for either domestic or foreign shipment, at prices that compare most favorably with the usual trucking charges from warehouse to pier.

That is some service, gentlemen. It's up to you to investigate.

SERVICE

Built on the Experience Gained in Thirty-one
Years of Specializing in the Warehousing Field

The ideal of a responsible warehousing service to all preceded the founding, in 1890, of the business now grown to the proportions of HARRAGAN'S STORAGE WAREHOUSES, INC. The ideal of HARRAGAN SERVICE so well fathered the beginning that today, thirty-one years later, three large storage warehouses in Brooklyn are available to any class of business in this territory.

Storing, packing, moving, shipping, distribution of pool cars—in fact, any transaction known to the warehousing industry—can be ordered on short notice. The result is HARRAGAN SERVICE adapted to your own needs.

HARRAGAN SERVICE

We offer you the aid of an organization which recognizes as its sole sales factor, service.

An organization which, in every act, seeks to give a more perfect and a more satisfying service.

An organization the personnel of which is careful, courteous, experienced, and trained to uphold the company's high ideal of service.

It is our hope that in the coming year we may include you among those availing themselves of HARRAGAN SERVICE. Call on us at any time to handle any transaction.

For Buffalo Shippers

Saving money with some people is a difficult thing. Not so for Buffalo Shippers of Household Goods. For them it is simplicity itself—just call Seneca 4150, that's all.

That is a fact, and a good one for Buffalo Warehousemen to pass on to their customers who have goods to ship. Tell them that by calling that number they are not only sure of saving money and their goods from damage, but of prompt shipment.

Why? Because Buffalo Shippers and Warehousemen, knowing the above facts are true, have supplied that fundamental of prompt consolidation—great volume of traffic.

Exactly—Consolidation and Co-operation, Speed and Saving are mighty good reasons for you to advise your customers to call up Seneca 4150.

When shipping valuable household effects or art property to New York, consider us, as we offer exceptional service.

Fellow Warehousemen:-

Our organization is the result of 26 years of honest and conscientious service in the handling of high grade household effects and art collections, which has gained us a reputation second to none in this City.

The consequences are, we ship from New York, perhaps more property of the higher grade for responsible people, than any other concern in New York.

We solicit shipments of a similar character, wherein, recommendation will act as a credit and in return offer ours, which should be handled in a like manner.

We are members of The National Furniture Warehousemen's Association, The New York Furniture Warehousemen's Association and the Van Owners Association of New York.

Where
Dollars and Time
Both Are Saved

For New York Shippers

At the Office of the Trans-Continental Freight Company, Woolworth Building—Phone Barclay 3940—that is where New York Shippers of Household Goods, Automobiles and Machinery save both dollars and time.

That, too, is where the shipper of goods for export anywhere finds the service, saving and co-operation which he desires.

And where the manufacturer who seeks lower freight costs on his goods to the New York market, finds what he wants in Trans-Continental Freight Company Merchandise Distribution Service.

Why is this true? The reason is plain.

First—Transportation bought at wholesale rates.

Second—A comprehensive organization of Experts with nearly a quarter century's experience in saving money for shippers through consolidated carload shipments.

Third—Eleven offices and loading stations located in different cities from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

Fourth—(And this is the big fact for New York Shippers.) Three big conveniently located Loading Stations on the N.Y.C.R.R. at New York—622-626 West 35th Street, for merchandise distribution, 648-654 West 36th Street, for Household Goods and Automobile consolidations, and 521-527 West 30th Street, devoted to consolidation of East Bound Freight.

Remember these facts, you progressive Warehousemen of New York, and the further fact that the saving and satisfaction secured by that customer of yours who you send to us, help build Good Will for you.

Where
Dollars and Time
Both Are Saved

For Cincinnati Shippers

When a customer of a Cincinnati Warehouseman has Household Goods to ship our Loading Station at West Front Street is where dollars and time both are saved. Don't forget that, and remember to tell him to call up Main 55 for prompt service and low cost.

And here is why the Cincinnati Shippers of such goods save both dollars and time by Trans-Continental Freight Company Consolidated Service.

First: Large volume of traffic, and we put that first because it is the fundamental factor of prompt shipment. And now that you know why prompt service is assured, here are the other points which have made this service known as—the service which is different.

Expert handling, right loading, through cars—all of which means damages minimized—and an organization of experts in this class of shipping which covers both the entire country, and every point which makes for satisfaction.

Keep those facts in mind and remember that like saving, speed and service are assured to Cincinnati Shippers of Automobiles and Machinery by calling Main 55.

Where
Dollars and Time
Both Are Saved

For Cleveland Shippers

When you buy anything at wholesale you always save money, and when you secure the service you need without unnecessary delay, you always save time. Two reasons why our Loading Station at the Old New York Central Pier Station is where dollars and time both are saved for Cleveland Shippers of Household Goods.

Get that? Then remember that the shipper will get this—through cars, right loading, expert handling and a service embodying twenty-three years of practical experience in that class of work.

Don't forget that when a customer of yours wants to ship his goods West to the Coast, and also remember that we effect decided savings on Westbound shipments of Automobiles and Machinery, as well as on anything for Export from a case to a carload. For giving a tip to customers which means less expense, and more saving of his time, is a mighty effective way of building Good Will.

We can trust you to post your customers on what is to their advantage, but they need not trust to the Post if they are in a hurry—just phone Ontario 848.

"Ship to Toledo and Consign to Depenthal"

That's the slogan of the a direct route and distributing center.

"Same day service."

We are specialists in furniture packing, local and long distance furniture hauling.

Connections with all railroads entering the city.

Private siding on the B. & O.

Member of National Furniture Warehousemen's Association.

Depenthal Truck & Storage
Co.

The history and growth of any business is interesting to those outside its own organization only as it relates to their ability to render exceptional service, as a result of such expansion.

Few lines of business have been obliged to undergo such revolutionary changes as has the truck and storage business during recent years.

Few have needed such a solid background of experience and organization, which money alone cannot buy.

Since 1855 the Depenthal Truck and Storage Co. has been building and learning and earning good-will.

To-day it is one of the largest institutions of its kind in Toledo, the country's third largest transportation center.

So it's

Toledo for Transportation

and Depenthal for Service.

ATLANTIC-PACIFIC HIGHWAYS and ELECTRICAL EXPOSITION*A Message to Traffic Managers and National Distributors

One of the most important reasons for Portland's present greatness and future promise is the trade territory which Portland serves—an area unequalled in either present production or future possibilities by the trade area of any other Pacific Coast City.

Portland Trade territory serves an area of 154,807 square miles, with a population of nearly 2,000,000.

Portland has thirty regular steamship lines.

Portland has five transcontinental railroads.

Portland has as many inter- and intra-state lines.

When you need DISTRIBUTION AND WAREHOUSING SERVICE in the Portland Trade territory we are the firm that can serve you best, being the pioneer in the Distribution and Warehouse field, and operate the largest Public Warehousing Unit in the Pacific Northwest.

Our four merchandise warehouses with 255,000 square feet of floor space are located within a short haul of all local freight depots and docks, the wholesale and retail district, and being on terminal tracks eliminates switching charge where cars are consigned to us.

Sprinkler equipped, with insurance rate as low as twenty-three cents per $100.00 per year.

Stocks carried for local and out-of-town concerns, prompt shipment of your orders from spot stocks same day order is received and all services usually performed by an up-to-date warehouse are the services we render our clients.

To insure prompt delivery for our customers we own and operate a large complete fleet of motor and horse-drawn trucks.

Consign your goods to us and assure yourself the best possible service.

Miller North Broad Storage Co.

Main Office—Broad and Lehigh Ave.
Philadelphia, Pennsylvania

Miller's five warehouses are so located in metropolitan Philadelphia that no matter where your customer locates we have a plant near at hand to serve you.

All we ask is a line or a wire stating the address to which goods are to be delivered, or if to be stored, the section of the city into which the customer desires locating, and we will promptly advise the freight station to which goods should be consigned.

Our West Philadelphia Branch has a private siding into warehouse, goods for the Main Line or West Philadelphia should be shipped: c/o Miller North Broad Storage Company, Angora Station, Philadelphia, Pa.

Our twenty-two motor vehicles, large and small, make us the largest operators of moving vans in our city and enable us to give splendid service to our patrons.

Secure our rates for storage of merchandise, automobiles and distribution of pool cars before going elsewhere.

Where
Dollars and Time
Both Are Saved

For Philadelphia Shippers

The next time that you Warehousemen of Philadelphia have a customer who has Household Goods to ship West, remember our loading station—31st Street Station, Philadelphia & Reading R.R.

For it is there that dollars and time both are saved by a Consolidated Carload Shipping Service which combines the greatest safety of goods with the greatest saving of dollars—a combination which is responsible for that great volume of traffic which is a fundamental of prompt shipment.

Explain to that customer of yours the advantages of our service, tell him the location of our office—Drexel Building, and point out to him that it is there that Philadelphia Shippers secure low rates and high grade service on their Household Goods shipments.

For our service assures true Economy and by assuring that for your customers you insure the building of good will for yourself.

Distribute From Providence At Minimum Expense

Service Warehouses, Inc., enable manufacturers to obtain sales and distribution in the rich Providence and Southern New England territory at minimum expense.

With modern, fireproof warehouses, we offer safe storage and efficient distribution for merchandise only. Located on the main line of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railway, with eight car capacity siding. Complete watchman service and sprinklered buildings result in a low insurance rate. Experts, trained in the handling of traffic and distribution, give their entire attention to the moving of your products without delay.

City and suburban deliveries are promptly handled in our own trucks and at reasonable cost. Daily house cars are loaded, eliminating cartage on out-of-town shipments. Costs are reduced through specialized equipment, which also insures prompt and accurate handling. Congestion and delay is avoided.

Many manufacturers find it profitable to use us as Manufacturer's Representative, securing branch office service without expensive overhead. This service includes direct invoicing and making collections, and providing headquarters for salesmen in this territory. Our clients are free to call on us at any time for any service such an office can render.

We will be glad to tell you what we can do for YOU.

With eleven trunk line railroads and seventeen outlets, Fort Worth is the railroad center and consequently the logical distribution point for the great Empire of the Southwest. All merchandise consumed in this territory must pass through the Fort Worth Gateway—why not keep a reserve stock with Binyon-O'Keefe.

Your consignment to Binyon-O'Keefe will receive prompt and intelligent attention. Established in 1876, a business record of almost half a century is eloquent evidence of the promptness, the thoroughness and the efficiency of Binyon-O'Keefe service.

In modern methods and equipment, Binyon-O'Keefe dominates the entire Southwest. Our three thoroughly modern fireproof warehouses—embodying a total of 250,000 square feet of floor space—are located at convenient points in the city of Fort Worth.

A private siding on the Rock Island Railroad connects with all lines—and the switching is free.

The largest fleet of motor trucks in the Southwest is constantly at your service.

And last, but not least—the personnel of the Binyon-O'Keefe organization. Men who have grown with Binyon-O'Keefe handle your consignments with a sureness and a "know-how-ness" that comes only with years of experience.

We have nothing to sell but our service, and we offer it on the basis that it's the best obtainable.

Heart to Heart Chats with the Traffic Manager—

No. 3. WHY—WHY—WHY?

Why is Galveston your logical distribution point? Distances between cities in the Southwest are great; transportation costs money—and, therein lies a tale.

L. C. L. Freight rates from Galveston to points in Oklahoma, Louisiana, New Mexico, and beyond, are almost identical with rates from interior Texas cities. Since your goods would of necessity pass through Galveston when shipping via the cheaper, coastwise steamer route, from the East, you would thus lose the freight money required to move your cars between Galveston and any other possible Texas break bulk point, on all goods ultimately leaving the state, by not stopping your car at Galveston.

Office of Eastern Freight Agent—Foot of Conover
Street, Brooklyn, N. Y.
Telephone: Henry 3385

And this holds true in almost every instance where your goods are ultimately destined for Texas points. We can state conservatively that 80% of your goods destined for Texas points will find a cheaper rate combination by breaking your cars for storage at Galveston.

Won't you let us submit a comparison of rates on your commodity? Cold figures, prefixed by the dollar sign, speak volumes more than we can, in our space here.

Drop us a line at Galveston, or if more convenient, to our Eastern Freight Agent, who will bring our service to your door.

KEEP IT UP!

One step won't take you very far, you've got to keep on walking;

One word won't tell them what you are, you've got to keep on talking;

One inch won't make you tall, you've got to keep on growing;

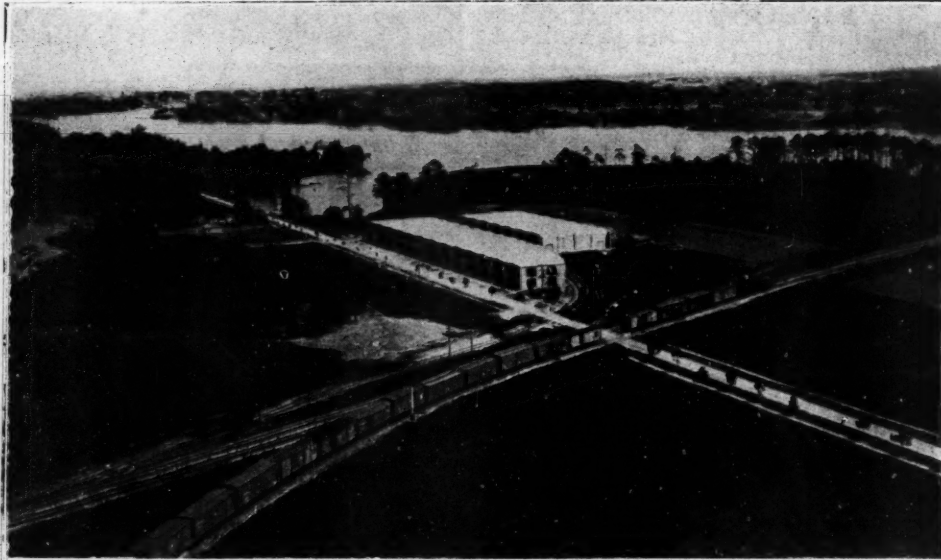

One little "ad" won't do it all, you've got to keep 'em going.

Where
Dollars and Time
Both Are Saved

For Seattle Shippers

Where dollars and time both are saved on Household Goods Shipments—that's the place Seattle Shippers are looking for, and more—that is exactly what they have found at our office in the Alaska Building. Which is why shippers are assured of that big volume of traffic which insures prompt consolidation.

So when a customer of yours has Household Goods to ship the wise plan is to tell him to start Central calling up Elliott 4665, and when he gets that number he will also get prompt co-operation, speed, saving, dexterous handling and decreased shipping troubles on his Household Goods, as well as on Automobiles and Machinery. Loading Station, 4th Avenue South and Holgate Street.

Domestic or Export—Elliott 4665, that is where dollars and time both are saved.

CUTS Distribution Costs

Money and labor are being wasted to-day by the many manufacturers and producers who have not learned of the economic advantage of utilizing the public warehouse in getting their goods to market; those manufacturers are operating their own storage plants at a cost of which they are ignorant in comparison with using public warehouses.

It is possible many times, by shipping in carload lots, to have the saving in freight rates pay the storage and terminal charges and still have commodities on hand for spot delivery when sale has been consummated. A spot stock is often the controlling factor in concluding a sale, making prompt delivery possible.

Shipment of goods in less than carload lots from factory and field to retailer is costing the producer many hundreds of dollars yearly, which might be saved if products were sent forward in carload lots to warehouses and thence distributed L. C. L. to retailers and consumers.

The Great Canadian Warehousing Companies listed on this page, already known to thousands of shippers for their superior service, and business probity, are equally well qualified to hold membership in this body of select and responsible concerns.

The Association was organized that still greater efficiency might be accomplished in the distribution of our internal commerce, a large part of which is handled at one time or another by these Warehousing Companies.

By this collective effort uniform service and reasonable rates are established in all parts of Central Canada; a joint office in large commercial centers is established; cost of advertising and production are reduced. Our customers receive the benefit.

Our facilities are at your disposal, either collectively or separately, as you wish. Establish us as your branch houses. We do everything your own representatives could do, and more, without the expense.

Make inquiries direct to companies shown on this page, or to nearest representative. It is a pleasure to answer inquiries.

That grip the road surface firmly, preventing wheel-spinning and side-skidding;

That enable the truck to negotiate road difficulties which would stop the truck equipped with ordinary tires;

That above all are economical, costing far less than big pneumatics and wearing far longer than solids—

This is a brief description of Kelly Caterpillar truck tires, made in sizes suitable for trucks of every type and weight.

Lapeer Trailers

THE Columbia Terminals Company of St. Louis handles upwards of six million pounds of LCL freight in a normal day. Therefore, their decision in freight handling matters is authoritative.

For more than five years they have kept close account of vehicle costs. They know to a mill the expense of carrying a pound a mile.

In 1917 they changed in part from horse to truck hauling, merely to handle the "expedite" matter. With the trucks they saved time, but their unit cost increased. They clung to their 624 horses for the bulk of the work.

Nothing in their experience had been cheaper. Then they experimented with Lapeer Trailers. Now they are disposing of all their other equipment as fast as Lapeer Trailers can be shipped to replace it.

The Economy of Quality

Truck buyers seeking lower cost transportation realize that there can be no substitute for quality. As soon as they discover the sterling qualities they demand and get in GMC Trucks, they determine that there is no substitute for GMC.

This accounts for the fact that the more true economy is sought, the more GMC Trucks are sold, which is just as significant as it is true. They are made in all capacities from $\frac{3}{4}$ to 5 ton. GMC Trucks have the stuff in them which results in their ability not only to do more work more satisfactorily, but to keep on doing it. They represent economy in its most desirable form—the economy of quality and more—

The recent reduction of $500 makes the Model K-16 one ton truck at its price of $1495 one of the most attractive purchases in the field today.

—and the GMC Truck today is a better truck than it ever was—built of truck units strictly for truck duty—including in its regular equipment electric lights, starter and cord tires.

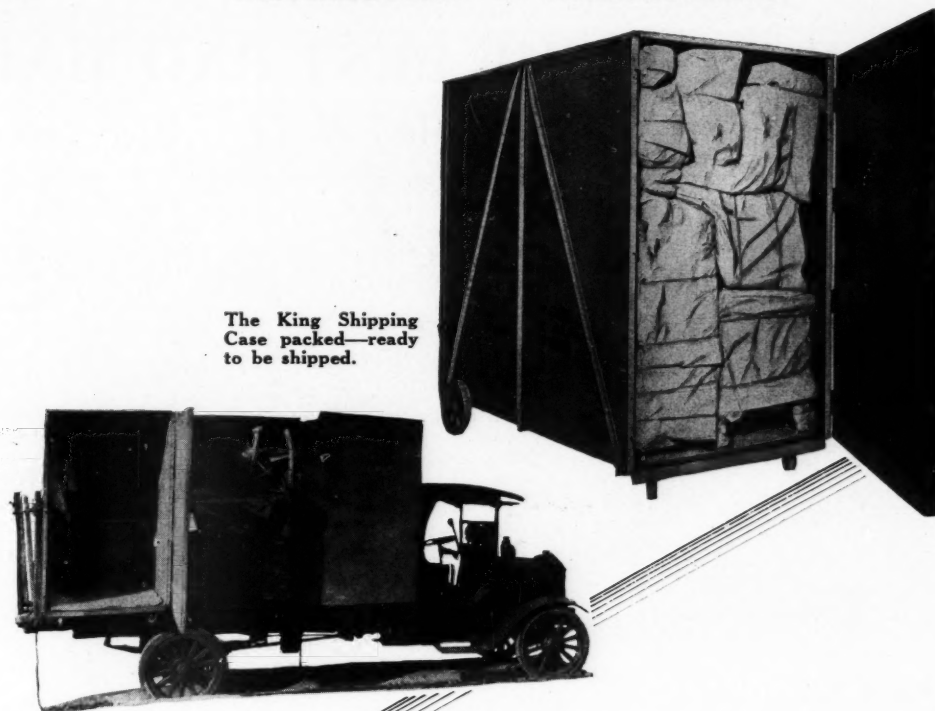

In addition it has all those exclusive GMC features, such as removable Cylinder Walls, removable Valve Lifter assemblies, Dual Cooling and many more.

Take advantage of this popular truck at its popular price and share in the benefits all GMC owners enjoy. See your dealer today.

The King Shipping Case packed—ready to be shipped.

Truck showing three shipping cases—the one on right with door closed.

Rough Treatment By Freight Handlers Has No Terrors For the King

And there is no such thing as a warehouseman being sued for thievery, damage, etc.—when King equipped.

The King Shipping Case provides a simple—yet strong and absolutely safe—means of forwarding household goods from one point to another. It is designed to cut the high cost of crating and eliminate the many discomforting accidents—common to crated shipments.

And consider your customer. Once his goods are packed in a King Case, he knows there is no chance of anybody handling, stealing or misplacing his valuable property. For it is sealed securely and the seal is not broken until his goods arrive at destination.

The merits and various uses of the King Case aroused quite a bit of discussion at the annual convention of the American Warehousemen's Association last December. Many test shipments were made by the Committee of Economics in Packing and Shipping and in every instance the transaction terminated with perfect satisfaction to the customer—with greatly decreased trouble and increased profits to the warehousemen.

The Investigators have yet to report a single case of discontentment.

The King Case is made of stout 22 gauge steel, reinforced throughout by sturdy angle iron supports. It is 7 feet high, 7 feet long and 4 feet wide. Mounted on heavy wheels and casters—the loaded King can conveniently be handled by two men.

Let us acquaint you with the many other advantages of this remarkable shipping case—why most of the leading Warehousemen are adapting the King method of Safe Shipping.

They are made of extra heavy drill denim—soft and smooth and very long wearing. They are filled with a one-piece layer of cotton (extra thick).

And they are stitched in square blocks so that the cotton will not bunch, and the pad will remain a pad, all over.

THERE are good and abundant reasons to explain the frequency with which International Motor Trucks are found in service among distributors and warehousemen. Uniformly, the Internationals in the business build popularity and provide the incentive for re-orders. The owners of the good-looking outfit shown here, as an example, will testify to the power and thorough dependability of International haulage.

In the motor transportation world International trucks are among the few leaders in distribution, price, service rendered, long life and popularity. Substantial price reductions have recently been announced. The eleven sizes range from the 1500-lb. Speed Truck to the heavy-duty 10,000-lb. truck, and special equipment in bodies are available for storage and warehouse requirements.

We are bringing to your notice our Whip Hoists on the grounds of their large saving in the expense of labor in handling any merchandise in and out of warehouses as Cotton, Wool, Hay, Boxes, Crates, Barrels, Bags, Packages, etc.

As Compared with Elevators

There is a saving in operating as compared with elevators in labor, power cost, cost of upkeep, besides handling a much larger volume and giving better distribution of the freight.

Their use compared with elevators SAVES VALUABLE STORAGE SPACE ON EVERY FLOOR of the building, equal to at least twice or three times the elevator hatchways.

Mason's Whip Hoists can be operated by any man on the job, from any floor, and are a fool proof machine. They take no floor space. Installation is usually on an overhead platform or in a penthouse on the roof.

Initial cost is less than elevators. Their use eliminates expensive breakdowns, costly renewals, and the need for expert men to keep them in repair.

They can be seen at almost any time at numbers of places, as the Terminal Wharf & Railroad Warehouse Company, East Boston, Mass., or the New York Dock Company, Brooklyn, N. Y., or the New York Central Hay Depot at 33rd St., and 11th Ave., New York City. Many of these Whips have operated continuously for years with hardly one dollar being spent for upkeep or repairs.

The first installation was in 1888 of 61 Whip hoists at the New York Central R. R. Hay Depot, 33d Street and 11th Avenue, New York City. These machines are still running and giving efficient service. Their performance and saving of time and labor was immediately appreciated, so much so that at this time (1921) there are several thousand of them in use at terminals, docks, warehouses, mills, etc., and hundreds of private and small concerns.

We will bank our reputation on it. We will save you money.

VARIETY FIRE DOORS

The Three Factors of Good Business

1 Minimized Maintenance

ONCE in a while Variety Fire Doors need paint. That's all. Say a dollar a year on the average installation, that dollar divided equally among all the doors. It comes to a small fraction of a cent. Negligible. Consider the saving over other types of door.

2 Infinite Life

AS long as that tiny maintenance charge is paid, Variety Fire Doors are as good as the day they were hung. Depreciation is nil. Long after they have been written off the books they are as valuable as when bought. They may even be transferred to the new house when the present one becomes obsolete. Their design is far in advance of present custom. They will be up-to-date in 2022.

3 Customer Confidence

THERE'S nothing like a row of formidable Variety Steel Fire Doors to convince a prospect that he wants to store in your house. What he sees in his furniture is years of saving and selection by himself, his wife, and their parents. Safety comes first with him. Variety Fire Doors assure him safety.

SO, with decreased cost you make a better profit, with infinite life that profit is continued indefinitely, and customers have the confidence in you that brings them to you, and makes them send their friends. IT PAYS to install Variety Steel Fire Doors.

Moths work every day of every month. Right now the eggs which were laid in the goods you stored may be hatching into worms and doing thousands of dollars worth of damage. If you sprayed the goods you received thoroughly with ENOZ when you packed them away, and if you sprayed the walls and floors of storage rooms, you are safe. If not, better spray them now. Enoz is the original, guaranteed moth killer. It is used by leading warehousemen everywhere.

RAT FINIS FINISHES RATS

RAT FINIS is all that the name implies. It is a thoroughly efficient poison in paste form, and contains unusually enticing bait. Compounded to eliminate odor if the animal expires in locations difficult to reach. However, invariably after eating Rat Finis they die in the open.

Mr. Warehouseman: Consider the Economy of the King Whip Hoist Before Deciding on Your Elevator Equipment

The steady increase of King Standard Whip Hoist Installations in the warehousing field is due to one outstanding fact—greater efficiency at minimum cost. The whip hoist outclasses the elevator on barrel, box, bag and similar package shipments because the hoist itself is operated cheaper and more quickly, because the intermediate steps—unloading to dock, loading to truck, trucking to elevator, and then lifting to stowage room—are eliminated.

With the King Whip Hoist, you simply unload from vehicle at dock direct to hoist cable and lift at once to stowage. The operations thus eliminated cut warehousing cost immensely.

Write us for full details. We can show you the saving. We will give you full information on the most efficient hoist we know of—the King Standard Whip Hoist.

Handling 75% More at 44% of Former Cost

When four men do the work of eight and are able to handle 75% more material at 44% of the former cost, an attractive saving is made.

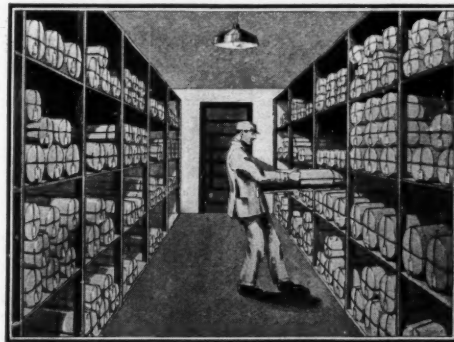

This is what actually happened in the Appalachian Corporation warehouse at New Orleans when they installed one Lakewood Tier-Lift Truck.

It can happen again—in any warehouse where loads are hauled and hoisted by hand. We will be glad to show you how.

LAKEWOOD METHODS AND MACHINES

Each bin holds approximately nine ordinary 9 x 12 rugs. Each is accessible—an easy pull removes it. No great weight matts the nap. Identification by tag or painted mark is instant and accurate.

Here it is unnecessary to move half the trunks in the room to reach any certain one. Each bin takes two to four trunks or half a dozen bags. Each piece can be reached easily. No dents, scratches, or scuffs. Instant identification.

Steel Rug & Trunk Racks

Service Is Your Only Sales-Argument

Since you can't cut prices to get business, improve your methods and get it by the improvement. Make a better profit at the same time. Do so without heavy first expense. Buy only enough Service Steel Racks to handle present business, and the immediate increase that comes with bettered service. Add units as business expands. A screwdriver is the only tool needed. Your own men can do it.

Protection—Sanitation

Packing rugs, handbags and trunks in Service Steel Racks gives 20% to 60% more storage space. No moths or vermin can lodge in Service Steel Racks. Shelves in rug and trunk racks adjustable up and down every three inches. They are fireproof.

BIG, heavy loads glide over the floor with little effort on this easy-running truck. The large, wide, flat face wheels, and the oil-bearing castors account for the slight push it requires to keep going.

That name on a truck stands for unquestioned reented corner irons, the substantial hardwood platform what you get in a Nutting. In no other truck can you buy Nutting Quality at so low a price.

Uncle Sam needs your figures Once a Year

But if you wait until he calls for your tax return before you start looking up the figures you know what happens.

Many a man wished last March that he'd had some system in operation in 1920 that would have saved hours of extra work and worry and fret.

Perhaps you thought then that it was too late to change your bookkeeping—but now is just the time to plan to start 1922 on the right basis.

You need them Every Day

The records that give thousands complete daily knowledge of their business transactions are the same records that make an income tax return merely a copy of totals already on their books.

It does not increase expense to keep accounts that way. It means less expense and more profits to have daily knowledge of charges, costs, accounts receivable, net profits and earnings of departments.

Daily Knowledge Costs Nothing

Now is the time to start. Let us explain how.

Sharon "BLUENOSE" Hand Truck

HERE'S a hand truck built for a lifetime of service—a truck you can depend upon to carry more over a longer period than any you've had experience with. The frame, including wheel lugs, is pressed from one piece of $\frac{1}{8}$ -inch hot rolled open hearth steel—the "Bluenose" is pressed from $\frac{1}{4}$ -inch stock of the same material. Note how each wheel is enclosed and supported with two lugs with stiffening heads—no weakness here. You can have the "Bluenose" in two sizes—54 inches, 65 lbs., and 64½ inches, 120 lbs.; with straight or curved wood handles; with straight or depressed cross-bars; with square or round nose; with plain wheels with either plain or roller bearings, or with cushion wheels. Measure truck values in terms of ten-hour-mileage. Send for specifications of the Sharon "Bluenose" Truck and the Sharon "Brute" Trailer.

HERE'S A GOOD ONE

Jack Dionne, Editor of the Gulf Coast Lumberman, finds some of the best stuff put into print. Here is one of his:

Two executives were discussing the business of their concern. The pessimist said: "Sales are off, profits nothing, and this business has gone to the dogs." Said the optimist: "George, how far can a dog run into the woods?" "Oh, as far as he dam-pleases, I reckon." "No, you're wrong, George. When he has run half way in, he's coming out on the other side."

Jack sees, and so do we, that the dog of Business is coming out on the far side of the woods of Depression.

More business means more men in your employ, more pay-roll, more compensation insurance premium. Take on one of our profit-sharing policies and get Service at a Saving.

Yours truly,

Woody

Compute the Dollars Actually Saved by Peelle Doors

IN buildings equipped with Peelle Freight Elevator Doors, the actual savings can easily be estimated in dollars.

Whether Regulation Type or Pass-Type, Peelle Doors are approved and labelled by the Underwriters' Laboratories, resulting in lower insurance costs on buildings equipped with these doors.

Peelle Doors assure constant operation of your freight elevators, and eliminate costly tie-ups that occur in elevator shafts equipped with inferior doors. Their ease of operation makes Peelle Doors time and labor savers. And the patented truckable feature solidly bridges the gap between elevator car and sill, and reduces upkeep cost to a minimum.

The sturdy construction of Peelle Freight Elevator Doors enables them to withstand rough handling as long as the building itself remains intact.

Write us today to have our representative call and discuss your elevator door problems.

The Suspended Rim of the DAYTON STEEL WHEEL

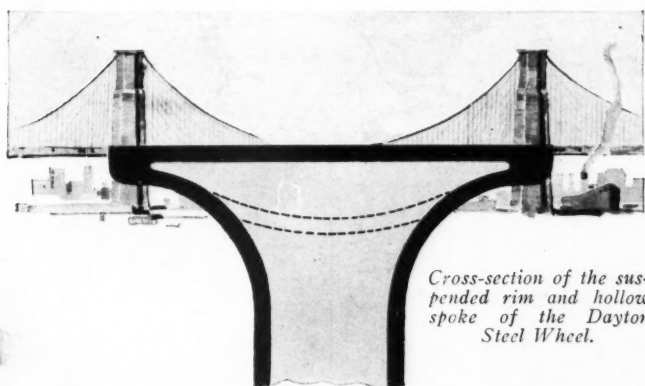

IT IS the suspension principle that gives resiliency to the Dayton Steel Wheel.

To secure resiliency there must be provision for elasticity—there must be no absolute rigidity. If anything is to give and return to position without damage, it must have space in which to give.

The construction of the rim section of the Dayton Steel Wheel is such that it readily assists in dissipation of shocks. But shocks are not taken up in the rim alone—the wheel is so designed, with its uneven number of hollow spokes, that any shock is distributed throughout the entire wheel and the strain is not concentrated at any one point.

The wheel is correct scientifically, built of the very best electric furnace steel, and the hollow spokes blend into and form the hollow rim in wide, sweeping curves—a construction that the test of time has proved solves beyond any question the problem of resiliency.

Lakewood Fireproof Storage Company Standardizes on White Trucks

THE Lakewood Fireproof Storage Company, of Cleveland, purchased three White Trucks in 1920 and two more during the early part of 1921. These trucks are giving such excellent service that the company has decided to standardize on Whites.

"We feel that we owe our success almost wholly to White Trucks," says Mr. J. J. Gund, President. "They operate at less than one-half the cost of any other make with which we have had any experience. Above all they are dependable. We think nothing of sending them on trips of several hundred miles, and a truck frequently will cover more than 2000 miles in a single month; but in spite of this severe service they never fail us. We are convinced beyond a doubt that the White is the most dependable, the most durable, and the most economical truck on the market."
